Unionized Lettuce?

While the plight of migrant workers two thousand miles from Lawrence is seemingly distant, the Lawrentian feels that the conditions of the workers in California. We feel that the actions here on the Lawrence campus have a direct effect on the lettuce. University investigate, more closely, the kind of lettuce they are purchasing from the distributors; for there appears to be a connection between the California workers and the lettuce. We concede that it may be difficult, in Wisconsin, to find distributors who sell only U.W. lettuce, but we feel that it is important that an institution like Lawrence take on such a commitment.

Nobody's Perfect

The Lawrentian has discovered that several fact errors appeared in last week's issue, breaking our five-year streak of perfection. We would like to correct the following:

1. The AAA did not take the loss for the Voices concert; the Special Events committee did. (It was a good concert anyway.)

2. Mr., not Mrs. Schwartz is working on the election night program.

3. In the story on student jobs, the cost of installing bells in half the dorm rooms is $461, not $861. The story should have been inserted in the statement that "Last year, students holding jobs did not have an aid package."

Response to Rebuttal by J.R.

To the Editor:

I find little point in raising the ad hominem section of Mr. Grimes' letter, but I must point out that it is rather unhealthy for a student of the church to refer to an organization that is dedicated to the growth of the church without being a member of the church ever to make a statement about the church. If I may be permitted to be a bit harsh, a professor of theology should not refer to the church as a place where religious institutions are not recognized. If religion is not recognized, it is not a church. We need to recognize the church as the body of Christ, the community of believers, the body of the Lord. The community of believers is the body of Christ, the church.

"Fraat" Rat Responds

Letter to the Editor:

There appeared in a recent Lawrence article an announcement that the Alpha Chi Omega society in Lawrence is to be dissolved. This is a remarkable example of the power of the "fraat," a society which I would like to see a little more often in the Lawrence community. I think it is a little unfortunate that this society has been dissolved, but I think it is a little unfortunate that this society has been dissolved in the past.

Mr. De Souza apparently base his argument on the idea that the "fraat" is a way of life. I don't think that he is on the right track. I think that the "fraat" is not the way of life, but that it is a way of life. It is not the way of life, but it is a way of life.

The reason that the "fraat" is not the way of life is that there are certain things that are done in the "fraat" that are not done in the way of life. The reason that the "fraat" is not the way of life is that there are certain things that are done in the "fraat" that are not done in the way of life. The reason that the "fraat" is not the way of life is that there are certain things that are done in the "fraat" that are not done in the way of life.

A Modest Proposal

To the Editor:

In a recent letter, Mr. Grimes, being mindful of the University's current financial crisis, wrote that he did not believe the University was being covered with the necessary for the making of a budget. I hereby recommend the closing of the Appleton campus. We estimate annual savings in excess of $3 million.

Appleton is the best capital of all our campuses in "bringing faculty and students together" and, as President Smith indicated the other day, "if that doesn't happen there's no purpose in the University." The Appleton campus has been bailed out by enrollment and financial aid; it and others have been a liability, of course.

Sexual Roles

Lawrenceians concerned about Lawrence's sexual roles (and those who wonder why people confuse Lawrence with the George's on the University campus) should, perhaps, be moved by the recent ruckus in the Union. Two days ago, 1 p.m. - 3 p.m. to converse with faculty women, students, and other interested people. This Tuesday, someone will be available to discuss the movement in general and the agenda for Wednesday is abortion information and referral, and male and female contraceptive devices. The music room, in the Smiley Center, is available.

Le Beau Prince

Phi Kappa Tau fraternity and Alpha Chi Omega sorority will sponsor the forty-fifth annual Le Beau Prince on Saturday, Oct. 31, at 8:30 p.m. in the Phi Kappa Tau House. Admission is $1.00 for freshman and $2.00 for upperclassmen with $1.00 discount for freshmen in attendance. No one will be denied admission. All proceeds will benefit the Eningen Center. To receive information and reservations, contact Miss Elizabeth Longley, asst., professor of English, in Room D on the second floor of the Hauck Center. When you are interested in participating in the event, you will be informed of the location of the Eningen Center and the University is required to pay the closing of the Appleton campus.

Lawrence Majors

All government majors are invited to meet with the faculty of the government department in the Smiley Center at 4 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 31. Comprehensives, the departmental program, and "the subject of discussion will be the subject of discussion."

Varied Talents Unify for Show

by Mary Jo Hilbert

"Some are born great, some achieve greatness, and some have greatness thrust upon them." It students, including Dr. Frankel, will have the opportunity to achieve greatness when the Lawrence University Theatre Company's presentation of William Shakespeare's Twelfth Night opens November 14 in the Experimental Theatre of the Music-Drama Center.

The major task of any actor in any production is to create in themselves another person, conceived by the playwright and interpreted by the director. Some of the Laurens of playing major roles in the LUTC production include seniors Peter Webster, David Haugland, and Mike Magnuson, juniors Paul Doepke and Dennis McFadden, sophomores Steve Hunter, and freshmen Eric Borbe, D'Anne Goodsmith, and Susan Medak. Of Assistant Professor of Theatre Drama Mark Malinauskas, and his associate director Valerie Palmquist explained. There will be reserved seats, but space is limited in the Experimental Theatre, so it is advised students get tickets early to be insured good seats.

Geo Revolution to be Explored

A new theory on the movement of the earth's crust will be examined in Science Colloquium Tuesday, Oct. 31, at 4:30 p.m. in 110 Youngchild.

"Plate Tectonics and the Early Evolution of the Crust" is the topic of speaker John Palmquist, associate professor of geology at Lawrence University. Plate tectonics refers to the new "mobilist" view of the behavior of the earth's outer surface.

"Formerly, most scientists considered the earth as rigid and the continents as fixed," Palmquist explained. "But now the crust is seen as slowly deformable and the continents as 'rafts' floating on a 'sea' of denser rock. The continents have repeatedly collided and joined, repeatedly broken and separated in different patterns, and very likely they have grown larger in the process." According to Palmquist, this idea is a scientific revolution comparable to the change in the belief that the earth was the center of the universe to the Copernican astronomy. The reversal of opinion from fixed to moving is a most significant because in a world of anything I've ever done," Hunter's theatrical Lawrence. Plays have included roles in Shadow of the Good Man, Mary, St. Olave and Maria Planning a major in either biology or theatre, freshmen Susan Medak wants to be a "businesswoman. She's a business woman and she's right!"" Maria plays Maria, fun-loving servant to D'Anne Goodsmith's Olivia. A voice major, D'Anne has acted before in high school, where her favorite role was Katharine in Show's Arms and the Man.

L.U. Dancers Seek Sure Footing

"Where does our niche lie?"
The Lawrence dance instructor, Mrs. John Harmon, and Lawrence dance students ask this question. Since there is no independently existing dance department at Lawrence, Mrs. Harmon and her dancers are confused as to where they belong.

Money and course credit are two important problems facing the dancers. The 32 dance students now enrolled must pay an extra fee of $25 dollars per term for four or fewer classes a week. Credit can be given only in the physical education department and not in the theater department.

Up until this week, location was also a problem. Dance classes have been held on the Stansbury Theater stage and downstairs in the dressing room. The stage is currently set up, leaving little room to dance. The dressing room is too small and non-dance students wander in and out, distracting the class. The cement floor is harmful to the dancers' leg muscles. Obviously a private room with a wooden floor had to be found soon.

This week Mrs. Harmon and her dance students were elated to learn that Thomas Headrick, vice-president of academic affairs, has arranged for them to use the fencing room in the gym. Although the room is small, the wooden floor is practically faultless, and the dancers have a place of their own while the dance department is still in the transition stage.

Mrs. Harmon is not considered a member of the Lawrence faculty in the departments of physical education or theater, nor is she on the conservatory faculty. She feels that it would not be appropriate to employ a dance instructor at this time. Her position is similar to that of private music instructors in the conservatory. The students must pay an extra fee and many dancers are not taking classes for this reason.

The theater department has shown interest in dance and has offered the use of the stage and dressing room when not already in use. However, the department has not been able to offer course credit to their majors, although it suggests their taking the dance classes.

The conservatory offers no credit for dance and the physical education department will give physical education credit for three terms for this year only. Next year the department will not give credit for three terms because it believes freshmen should become acquainted with the gymnasium's facilities. The decision to give physical education credit for first term this year was made at the last minute. The course schedule does not list dance classes first term because no credit was to be given. Students wishing to take classes but not for credit were not sure if dance was being offered first term. It was only because of a few students' publicity efforts through posters and word of mouth that Mrs. Harmon has dance students at all this term.

Ripon Sinks Vikes Ship

The Homecoming Day, 1972, dawned bleak and dreary for Ripon's 21-34 defeat of the Redmen on the Whiting Field course, thus evening their dual meet record at 1-1. Despite soggy conditions, Day Lawlor, Ripon's 1-4, was able to hol a winning time of 2:28. Twelve seconds was the closest Ripon came to besting the home team, and the Redmen were up 7-0. An early, with 7:41 left in the opening stanza on a 13 yard pass play to Kelly O'Brien. Werk Cook kicked the extra point, a trek he was to perform flawlessly for the day, and the Redmen were up 7-0.

The first Ripon score was on a 3 yard run by La Jone in 4th place (22:41) and a personal best on the 4-mile scoring, were Nate Mc-

Soccer Ties Ripon 2-2

Soccer scores rarely reflect the amount of activity that goes on during the forty minutes of game time and Lawrence's 2-2 tie with Ripon was no exception. The four chances that managed to find the net were no indication of the 30 total attempts (22 for Lawrence and 18 for Ripon) nor did they reflect the great efforts put forth by the Lawrence and Ripon netminders.

by Curt Cohen

The fact that the first goal was scored after sixteen minutes had passed was a good indication of the field conditions, slippery when wet. Lawrence applied tremendous pressure from the beginning shooting 17 times in the first half to the Redmen's five. Bergmann pass to Petrenchik was a good indication of the Ripon defense.

Ripon penalty. It was quite a shot from fifth to third in pass defense while Coe jumped from fifth to third in pass defense. Coe was able to continue in and earned the Vikes a well deserved tie. Goalie Taylor's save on a hard shot by the Ripon goalie. The ball curved in and handily avoided the Ripon goalie. With the first half nearly over the Vikings in keeping the ball in territory and let go with a long kick. Goalie Taylor was able to stop the ball but couldn't hold on to the slippery pellet. As it trickled out in front of the net Swain was able to continue in and placed his rebound square into the goal.

Lawrence battled in an effort to the game and was rewarded when Peter Bergmann scored on an indirect (free) kick from thirty yards out, scene of the Ripon penalty. It was a quite a shot as the ball curled in and hardly avoided the Ripon goalie.

The only remaining excitement in the game came when Ripon lineman Brad Seaman beat the Viking defense and approached the goal, which was unattended after goalie Taylor had been removed from the play earlier. In a last ditch effort fullback Bill Dennis used his hands, a well known tactic in the game of soccer, with the exception of the goal, and deflected the ball. Goalie Taylor's save on a hard penalty save shaved the game and earned the Vikings a well deserved tie.
