Getting Ready, Down There

The current dedicatory ceremonies for Lawrence university’s new athletic bowl have induced speculation among some students as to the usefulness, timeliness and extravagance of the structure. We feel this is an opportune time to comment on the addition of the bowl to our campus and its relative value to the student body.

The students’ primary objection is that the $280,000 could have been put to better use elsewhere. The usual suspect for the solution of this problem is the incessant slippery stacks and financing the tentative Lawrence foreign study proposals.

It is imperative to remember that the money was donated, anonymously, expressly for the construction of an athletic bowl; no alternative was given. With this in mind, it is interesting to consider the alternative: the lawn area of the bowl.

The present lighting system makes the stadium suitable for practices; while the bowl can be reserved for competitions. The former because it is smooth “like a carpet” to fall on. The basic new comforts are extended to visiting teams, and the spectators also have better accommodations. The former was also pointed out that the new grass is an improvement to the lawns.

In National Award

The Lawrence university Beta Theta chapter of Alpha Chi Omega is publishing the society’s national award for most improved chapter. The group was presented the Lawrence university Beta Theta chapter with a silver tray at a tea Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Pet-erson also served as director of the Alpha Chi Omegas, and the Beta Theta chapter.

Twenty Students Active in MW Conference Studies

A RECORD-SIZED group of Lawrence university students have taken part in off-campus, enrichment programs, according to the Associated Colleges of the Midwest, in their annual conference. The programs are coordinated by the American Association of Colleges of the Midwest. The programs are coordinated by the American Association of Colleges of the Midwest.

The program recognizes that institutions preparing significant numbers of members of the profession increased attention to the programs. The newly created ACM program in Chaos Ricas is drawing two Lawrenceans this fall, while three of them took part in the second half of last year. Present-ly in Costa Rica are Kim Damp-ley, assistant professor of history and Jennifer. The program last year took four teams, who were Bruce Dickson, assistant professor of history and Jennifer. THE REGULAR Film Classics series starts this Sunday with "Purple Noon," a 1960 French film directed by Rene Clement from the novel "The Talented Mr. Ripley." Clement, best known for his film "Forbidden Games," has here fashioned a highly entertaining murder thriller, beautifully photographed in color, about a rich American playboy vacationing in Europe who is accompanied by a friend sent by the boy’s father to cure his son of decadent idling.

THE friend, played by Alain Delon, soon realizes it is a futile cause and murders his companion to assume his identity and wealth.

The methods by which this plan is carried out are a marvel of intricate detail, all chronicled in a fast-paced expose that even in its eludes a good lesson in successful forgery.

The murder sequence is extremely well done, and if the ending is not entirely plausible, it is nevertheless a shocker.

BOSELEY Crowther of the New York Times found it “literally shocking and eerie, with the wickedness so plainly in view,” and Delon is certainly a villain one almost hopes “will get away with it.”

The following week, Film Classics will present "The Five-Day Lover," a comedy starring Jean Seberg and Jean-Pierre Cassel.

A brochure describing the entire series will be distributed in about a week.

Show times for "Purple Noon" are Sunday at 1:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. in Randbury Hall.

PEOPLE-TO-PEOPLE

People-to-people’s first meeting of the year will be held 10:45 - 11:30 a.m. tomorrow. Tougaloo projects and travel abroad will be discussion topics and members will meet Lawrence foreign students.

Boston Building Plan Currently Exhibited
A competition plan for the Boston, Mass. City Hall created by Progressive Design Associates Inc., at St. Paul, is the current exhibit in the Worcester Art center. The building plan received a cash award in the competition sponsored by the Government Paper Research institute of Canada.
The architects envisioned an oval building of precast concrete with the upper office floors opening on a center well and the lower floors opening on an enclosed ro­ fice. The architects' rendering of plans, cross sections, photographs, and graphs of the model of the building.

Representing the firm at the competition was Thomas Van Busbee, one of the firm's partners and an alumnus of Lawrence. Van Busbee appeared on the university campus last spring as a guest speaker in a community planning symposium. He has provided a study for St. Paul's central business district, the master site plan for Notre Dame un­

Carleton Clobbers Vikings

In First Away Meet, 15-50

The Lawrence university cross country team had the temerity to invade the lair of the harriers from Carleton college last Saturday and their Carls took advantage of this generous act to hand the Viking runners a 15-50 whitewash.

LEADING the Carleton assault on the new four mile course were Brian Anderson and Steve Smith, who came across the finish line together to establish a record time of 22 minutes and 7 seconds for that distance.

Carleton also swept the next five places, and it appears that the Carls, who have made it a habit of winning the Midwest conference cross country meet are in a strong position to repeat as champions this year.

The top Lawrence performance was turned in by junior Steve Sedgwick, who finished eighth with a 23.57 clocking.

CAPTAIN Henry Kaiser, hampered by a cold, was ninth in 26:42. Kaiser was followed by sophomores Wayne Draeger and Mike Barrash, capturing the tenth and 11th places. The Viking effort was finished out by juniors John Howe and Art Van Deusen, and sophomore Jim Freim.

These seven men constitute the entire cross country team for coach R. Eugene Davis this year.

The Carls are the defending conference champions. The Vikes hope to be in condition and ready to meet the invasion of the St. Olaf team this Saturday.

The Carls have a strong contingent returning from last year's squad, star Kim Dammers, who is studying in Nicaragua, and Chuck Porter, who is unable to compete due to injury.

Injuries have also sidelined Wayne Bass, a promising hopeful from last year's freshman squad. In their weakened condition the Viking harriers with only a few weeks of practice had a difficult assignment facing the defending conference champions. The Vikes hope to be in condition and ready to meet the invasion of the St. Olaf team this Saturday.

The Carls have a strong contingent returning from last year's squad which placed second in the conference to Carleton.
Roberts Opens New Season
Defeating Carleton, 35 to 7

Campus Hopes High After Fourth Quarter Runaway

Led by the surging sophomore quarterback Chuck McEwen, the Lawrence Vikings launched Ronald D. Roberts' head coaching career at Lawrence with an impressive 35-7 win over Carleton. The Midwest conference opener was the season opener for both teams.

Lawrence's key interception was by Chip Trestante as he stopped a Carleton scoring drive with the score 13-7. McEwen, who played at Ohio State where he quarterbacked the 1960 team to a 10-0 record, also earned three letters in both football and baseball. He was selected as a star athlete at Ohio State and also earned three letters in his two years as head wrestling coach at Lawrence.

Sport Shots

A new era in Lawrence football began this past weekend as head coach Ronald D. Roberts launched his collegiate coaching career with an impressive 35-7 season opener over Carleton. After two years as varsity line coach, Roberts stepped in to fill the shoes of Bernard J. Hesselton, who retired last December after 27 years at the Viking helm.

Not only was this Roberts' first game as head coach, but it also marked the first game at Lawrence for two of his assistants, Roger Merb and Bob Mueller. For Mueller it is a return to his alma mater, Lawrence, where he was a star athlete in both football and baseball. Merb was also a star athlete at Ohio State where he quarterbacked the 1960 team to a 10-0 record. He also earned three letters in baseball, batting .412 in his best year.

With these new assistants and freshman coach Clyde Rehse there is no doubt in anybody's mind that Ron Roberts is leading Lawrence into a great gridiron era. The excellent sophomore class along with a big and up-and-coming freshman football team make the Viking gridiron future appear bright indeed.

Lawrence has already seen the fine job Roberts has done with the wrestling team in his two years as head coach. He is anxious with a new stadium, new assistants and the drive, desire and ability of Roberts, there is no reason the same success cannot be had by his football teams.
