New Buildings, New Faces Will Appear At Lawrence

The SIZE of the freshman class at Lawrence has been reduced by about 80 from last year's 405 because of a lack of dormitory space resulting from a higher than normal upperclass retention. More than 1500 applications were received for the incoming class.

Francis L. Ruderick, who came to Lawrence in March as dean of Lawrence and Downer colleges and Gordon B. Clapp, professor of history, will begin their first fall year in offices.

MEMBERS of the faculty on leaves of absence for scholarly work, the majority of them in European, are William A. Choney, associate professor of history; James W. Ming, professor of music; Bertrand A. Gogolcek, associate professor of English; Margery Invin, associate professor of music; Leonard G. Pinsky, associate professor of philosophy; and Robert A. Porecly, associate professor of government; Harold K. Schneider, associate professor of anthropology; Arthur A. Thrall, associate professor of art; Julius N. LaFoeque, assistant professor of economics; David Mayer III, assistant professor of theatre and drama; and Richard W. Zanshile, assistant professor of chemistry.

Retirements that took effect in June were those of Gladys S. Cohick, professor of psychology; Stephen F. Darling, professor of chemistry; W. C. Wilsch, instructor in physical education; and Olga A. Smith, associate professor of biology.

Other departures from the faculty included: Dorothy Hart, professor of French; Margaret S. Gilbert, professor of biology; Robert K. Herman, assistant to the dean of men and coordinator of financial aids program; Earl D. Hoffman, assistant professor of economics; and N. Muller, assistant professor of French; Roger W. Spizer, assistant professor of psychology; and Young Hae Lee, instructor in chemistry. The Rev. Leo Lobus, instructor in mathematics; and Ursula Saunders, dietician, have also retired.

Also Leonard L. Thompson, instructor in religious studies; David A. Vooorder, instructor in German; Craig Harris, instructor in English; the Rev. Claud A. Thompson, instructor in religious studies; Paul A. Fritzell, director of university development; John W. Bannister, director of admissions; William B. Speich, assistant to the registrar; and Charles G. Tervey, assistant professor of aeronautical sciences.

While the new students were welcomed to four years of change and transition, the majority of them in European, was chosen in order to preserve the Greenwich corner along East College avenue.

New on the academic scene in a "pass-fail" plan in which juniors and seniors may elect a maximum of four courses in which a grade of pass or fail will be posted for the usual letter grade. The purpose of the plan, according to university officials, is to encourage the hesitant student and to emphasize curricular experience rather than "grade getting."

The LAWRENTIAN
Sept. 23, 1966

The National Science Foundation has made a grant of $7,000 to Lawrence to support an in-service institute in mathematical methods for secondary school teachers of science to be held on the campus from September 23, 1966 to May 31, 1967.

From the Editor's Desk...

You have spent much of the last few days being welcomed, urged, advised, counseled, tested and tired. We also welcome you to Lawrence.

As you become acquainted with the academic and social complexities of this school you will find inequities, unbalances, prejudices and systems by which things work. You will then look for and fail to find things you would like.

Many of these things will of course be personal. With those we cannot help you. Yet many will or at least should welcome you to Lawrence.

Tarr Names Wall to Position
As New Admissions Director

EDWARD R. WALL, former assistant director of admissions at Cornell University, has been appointed assistant director of admissions at Lawrence. W. Tarr, Wall replaces Edward J. Roberts, director of admissions at Lawrence for the past ten years, who has been named to a similar position at Elmira College in Elmira, N.Y.

Roberts resigned from the Lawrence staff as of June 15. A native of White Plains, N.Y., Wall graduated from the Phili pines Country Academy in 1951, and received a bachelor of arts degree in English from Yale in 1954. At Yale he was a member of the freshman track team, a varsity basketball team, and affiliated with Delta Kappa Epsilon. He is now attending to Wall’s Head Society, a senior honor group.

He said he hoped the students would learn to enjoy the "lighter" side of life, but warned them not to be afraid of onerous changes that might take place. They would change in four years to become the present students of Lawrence and even the institution itself would change during that period.

HABER ALSO pointed out several times that the students might feel insecure among the student body and hoped the new students would bring with them a sense of social and political concern for the operation of the varsity admissions office. Roberts will develop an expanded admissions program utilizing faculty, staff and alumnus representatives throughout the nation, as the college grows in an expected enrollment of 1,400 by 1969.

Former Viking Star
Named Frosh Coach

Peter Thomas, former Lawrence football, wrestling and basketball star, has been named assistant freshman football coach at Lawrence, according to Athletic Director Berrie Heseltine.

Thomas, 25, was a 1962 graduate of Lawrence and is a native of Northbrook, Ill. He also held the new students that racial and religious discrimination was practiced among some of the fraternity and sorority groups. He asked that the students look for this discrimination and fight to eliminate it.

where he was a house advisor to 11 students.

While at Dexter he was a member of the national executive committee of the Secondary School Admissions Test Board.

For the last year, Wall has been assistant director of admissions at Cornell. He is married to the former Mary Frances Jameison of White Plains, an alumnna of Mount Holyoke College. The Walls live at 910 East Atlantic St. At Elmira, Roberts was director of admissions.

Richard P. Lesiter, who has joined the admission staff of Charles Teachers' College, Char leston, S.C., Roberts, a graduate of Columbia College, has studied Oriental languages at Oklahoma A and M and Columbia, and served as a translator-interpreter in occupied Japan for the U.S. War Department.

LAWRENCE's head football coach Ronald D. Roberts strikes a familiar pose as he watches his team in scrimmage. Lawrence opens the season Saturday at home.

Entertainment Added To Football Contests

A varied series of half-time entertainment at Lawrence football games has been announced by Bernard H. Heseltine, athletic di rector.

An exhibition of marching by the Americans, a drum and bugle unit made up of 45 Appleton youths, will be seen at half-time of the Lawrence-Carleton game Sept. 16. Bill Schulta is the director.

Two grade-school teams, the HalalHollows, in Green Bay, and the Wrightstown Rockets, will play as a part of the Lawrence-Cornell game Oct. 5. Arranging the exhibition is Bob Wolsinger of Kau kaskota.

The traditional homecoming activities, including the crowning of the homecoming king and queen, will highlight the Lawrence-Ripon game on Oct. 22, while the entertainment for the Boynton game on Nov. 12 is yet to be announced.

The Americans have made about 30 public appearances so far this year, both in and out of the state. They have taken first places in parades at the state fairs in Fremont in Green Bay, the state fair at Stockton, Ill., and in recent competition in LaRue.

Benefactor Boynton Dies This Summer

Donald S. Boynton of Highland Park, Ill., and Balities Harbor, Fla., an internationally known sculptor, died Aug. 24. Boynton, 79, had been an active business man and banker in Chicago, and was retired as an art dealer. He was a partner of the famous art gallery of the property.

The Boyntons gave their estate to Lawrence in 1962, they reserved lifetime use of the property. The pair was given honorary degrees at the Lawrence commencement of 1964.

Vike Football Team Ready To Open Season Saturday

Lawrence Team Pick As Possible Title Contender

THE LAWRENCE football team, tabbed as one of the pre-season favorites in the Midwest Conference race, began tapering off drills today in preparation for the 1966 season opener against Carleton college Saturday. If you ask me, I don't believe the home opener as Carleton is picked as a "darkhorse" contender for the league title. The Carla finished with a 3-4 record last season and have a wealth of experience with it returning letters.

Head coach Ron D. Roberts, in his second year as head coach at Lawrence, ran his charges through a full-scale scrimmage session last Saturday to get a final look at the squad.

"We should be ready," the Lawrence mentor said. "We know we've picked out as one of the favorites and that's the way it should be. There's no reason our lineup shouldn't be able to win all the way."

"WE TALKED about many things during the scrimmage," Roberts said, "as we were trying to find the right spot for some players. Our halfbacks were able to break loose for some nice gains, but overall, the defense was the bright spot."

Roberts has his entire defensive unit back from last season with the exception of two men. This unit ranked second in the Midwest Conference last season and allowed less than an average of only 311 yards per game. Overall.

"Part of the problem with our offense and mainly the passing game, was the fact that we were running against our first string defense and they do not give up yardage easily," the Lawrence mentor offered.

ROBERTS has 35 lettermen back from the 1965 team which placed second in the conference on total offense. Three yards per game behind Ripon, and third in overall, behind St. Olaf and Ripon.

The chief losers, via graduation, were center Jack Robertson and halfback Bob Schneiwert, named to the second all-conference offensive unit and Tom Edstrom and Mike Anger, picked on the offensive unit; and Tom Edstrom, John Biolo, Jr., Rod Clark, Steve Figi, Gary Hietpas, Ken Koskelin, Mike Andrews, Dave Crowell is returning to the team in the conference with 179 points in the eight games.
