Aims to Determ ine Student Opinion alike in Stansbury at last Tuesday's voluntary convocation. Vaughn stressed the vardious opportunities and experiences that await a Peace Corps volunteer.

A community meeting has been scheduled for 8:30 to 10 p.m. on March 24. The real purpose of the meeting, according to Boardman, is to discourage whether the stude­nts still regard LUCC as a good idea.

Admissions to Concentrate
On Diversity and Wisconsin

In a report dated February 23, the Committee on Admissions published its policy statement for the recruitment of the Class of '72. The report was in response to a request by President Curtis W. Tarr that the committee con­sider its proposal in its meeting in prop­osal in its meeting in December 1961.

According to the report, recruitment will be concentrated along two lines, the Mid-Western student and students from diverse backgrounds. Wisconsin, the home state from which Lawrence
students who want to get in involved
in a mass meeting."

The report emphasized that a rise in the cost of education at Lawrence might hinder the development of the presidential veto into the Community. The President has the power under the himself in order to obtain a law degree.

Admissions to Concentrate
On Diversity and Wisconsin

In a report dated February 23, the Committee on Admissions published its policy statement for the recruitment of the Class of '72. The report was in response to a request by President Curtis W. Tarr that the committee con­sider its proposal in its meeting in prop­osal in its meeting in December 1961.

According to the report, recruitment will be concentrated along two lines, the Mid-Western student and students from diverse backgrounds. Wisconsin, the home state from which Lawrence
students who want to get in involved
in a mass meeting."

The report emphasized that a rise in the cost of education at Lawrence might hinder the development of the presidential veto into the Community. The President has the power under the himself in order to obtain a law
degree.

Admissions to Concentrate
On Diversity and Wisconsin

In a report dated February 23, the Committee on Admissions published its policy statement for the recruitment of the Class of '72. The report was in response to a request by President Curtis W. Tarr that the committee con­sider its proposal in its meeting in prop­osal in its meeting in December 1961.

According to the report, recruitment will be concentrated along two lines, the Mid-Western student and students from diverse backgrounds. Wisconsin, the home state from which Lawrence
students who want to get in involved
in a mass meeting."

The report emphasized that a rise in the cost of education at Lawrence might hinder the development of the presidential veto into the Community. The President has the power under the himself in order to obtain a law
degree.
Peace Corps Director Describes Attitudes, Activities of Volunteers

Jack Vaughn, the new Peace Corps director, spoke at his inauguration last Tuesday at a convocation in Ramsey, and later the same day at a press conference held in the home of Francis L. Brodhead, dean of Lawrence and Dever colleges.

Vaughn, who has been a regional Peace Corps director and the U. S. Ambassador to Panama, noted at the convocation that the Corps has a twin specialization: "ugly men and beautiful women." He maintained that although in past years he has visited 15,000 volunteers, he has never seen two that are alike.

The wide cross of volunteers "is part of the magic of this opportunity..." What a strange group they are," Vaughn stated in reference to the 17,000 former volunteers. "When they get back they don't hang together; they had a personal experience that no one else had, and it's theirs alone. A former volunteer's reactions to the Corps differs from that of his roommate in his junior year. However, Vaughn said, we use these former volunteers as recruiters because "they know the trick.

The Peace Corps now operates in 40 countries. Vaughn noted that 40 percent of the corpsmen are college men, 99 percent of the corpswomen are college women, 70 percent of the corpsmen are Negroes. In the U.S. at the present, it is not unusual for Negroes to receive $200 a month for room and board vs. $150 for a white man. Vaughn said that those who are Negroes are "spies or experts in the Peace Corps is the best thing the Peace Corps is the best thing for them while studying the native language, that he sang "You Are My Sunshine" in Eng-

He cited an anecdote about the Peace Corps differs from the time of his homecoming to a year later. Vaughn recalled his greatest personal experience in the Corps. Once in Jamaica he came to a village where a "Harvard lawyer" volunteer had established a fishing cooperative. An old Jamaican drunk a taunt to that volunteer saying that "those men from the Peace Corps" had brought poverty and unity to their village. Vaughn concluded with an excerpt from Carl Sandburg which he felt summarized the Corps: "... brother may yet line up with brother."

At the press conference, Vaughn was questioned on the reasons for the lack of a social, economically, and racially mixed Corps. It has been Vaughn himself that most of the volunteers "come from highly rated colleges and universities, but that they were "that they would be the first in minority groups. At present, how- ever, only 2 1/2% of the volunteers are Negro..." Vaughn stated what the Corps looks for in volunteers: dynamism, the respect of others and the ability to get along with men of different cultures. What he said that the Corps is looking particularly for "teachers, teachers, teachers."

When asked about the training program, Vaughn emphasized the on-the-job situation wherein vol-

Povolny Discusses Honors Projects; To Propose Possible Improvements

Eight out of 42 seniors working on independent studies this year have already declared that they will submit their project to the Honors Committee. Vaughn will submit his proposal to the Honors Committee for the lack of a socially, economically, and racially mixed Corps. It is the Corps director's "keynote" of the effective volunteer. He quoted Carl Sandburg which he felt summarized the Corps: "... brother may yet line up with brother."

At the press conference, Vaughn was questioned on the reasons for the lack of a social, economically, and racially mixed Corps. It has been Vaughn himself that most of the volunteers "come from highly rated colleges and universities, but that they were "that they would be the first in minority groups. At present, how- ever, only 2 1/2% of the volunteers are Negro..." Vaughn stated what the Corps looks for in volunteers: dynamism, the respect of others and the ability to get along with men of different cultures. What he said that the Corps is looking particularly for "teachers, teachers, teachers."

When asked about the training program, Vaughn emphasized the on-the-job situation wherein vol-

French Company Performs 'Goddot'

Le Trianon de Paris will present Samuel Beckett's "En Allemacht Godot" at 8 p.m. Saturday, April 6, in Stanley theater under the auspices of Lawrence, Ripon, and St. Norbert colleges. This will be the seventh visit of the French theater company to the Fox Valley.

"Godot" is the second production of the company's 1967-68 series of American and Canadian university tours and is being staged as a co-production with Le Comedie des Alpes from Grenoble, France.

The annual Sig Ep - DG Auction will be held at 9 p.m. Friday, March 1, in the Union basement. Items to be auctioned include blind dates, waiters, maids, gig Ep house, DG room, articles from downtown merchants, luggage, furniture, and pie is to be placed on selected faces including one from the dean's office. Proceeds will go to the American Heart Association and the Wisconsin Indian Reservation Fund.
Gwen Stanfield and Dennis Watson rehearse in the Experimental Theatre for Sean O'Casey's "Redemption," directed by Mary Gilbertson. The play will be presented with two other student-directed productions tonight and tomorrow evening at 7 p.m. in the Experimental Theatre.

31 Years At Lawrence

University Painter Lillge Retires At Eighty-Three

If eighty-three-year old Walter Lillge fell up to it, he probably would keep his job as chief painter for Lawrence University. "I enjoy my work, and it has always been pleasant," explained the painter. "When asked why he did not retire at a younger age, Lillge replied, "I just don't like to!"

Perhaps Lillge knows more about the history and changes taking place at Lawrence than anyone else on campus. He has worked here steadily since 1935, serving under five presidents plus some part-time summer work under President Samuel Plasko. He has seen the tearing down of old buildings, the construction of new ones, and the rejuvenation of several others, especially Main Hall.

"I first came here a week before about 1935," Lillge informed. "They had just finished the staircases and floors were in bad shape, and classes were still being held on fourth floor." He explained that much work has been done to preserve Main Hall, and that it would never be torn down because it is a landmark.

The Lawrence asked Lillge if he approved of the color green in almost all the rooms in Main Hall. Lillge, who used to be a body, just like when a girl buys a new green dress, "just going to like it," he said, "and I haven't heard any complaints." Main Hall and all the rooms used to be painted ivory. The green color was started during Robins Pease's presidency, and was successful because it showed less dirt.

Lillge's favorite color, but he prefers the pastel shades. Rooms should be made to look as cheerful as possible, the painter says. He agrees with the decorating plans of Mrs. Myrtle Webb, director of decorations. In fact, he thinks Mrs. Webb could be an interior decorator. In his many years of employment at Lawrence, Lillge has got to know many of the people from administrators and deans to faculty and students. Lillge says, "I never had any trouble with anybody." He adds that "of course the students look less like a little different from what they look now, and always get along fine with them." Lillge is not too much in favor of all the new styles today, and thinks the girls' hair should be long enough to braid, not the boys.

There were times when he thought he would be driven out of dormitories when he brought in a sanding machine, but after the students saw what a good job was done, they all wanted their rooms done. When the painting was done during the year, students were allowed to pick out the colors themselves.

Working in a girl's dorm could be slightly adventurously, "but I never saw a girl not fit to be seen," Lillge commented. "Occasionally there were a few scissors, especially early in the morning, but we always yelled "MAN ON FLOOR!" He never saw the girls in any way that they were ashamed of themselves. It never got worse than seeing a girl in a bathing suit, and he adds, "I was never THAT fortunate."

Lillge also thinks that it is unfair for students to be blamed for some of the damage in their rooms. In fact, in instances the plastering job is terrible, and his staff has experimented to make it better.

The painter is not retiring completely. He intends to work here part-time over the summer and work when he wishes. Lillge says that "in way, I can come and go as I please."

Brain Drain Revisited

Some faculty reactions to the Lawrence story and editorial on the "brain drain" or faculty disillusionment has suggested that the faculty turnover is little different than in previous years. However, the interviews do suggest that there is more grumbling this year than ever before.

"The great difference this year," congratulated John Dehner, assistant professor of philosophy, "is that more people are talking about leaving." Dreher does not name the reason why more people are discussing this.

Dreher explained that people always move back and forth for professional advancement, or to work with a specialist in his field. He believes that many people were demoralized when William Boardman, also of the philosophy department, was fired without any apparent reason given. This week Boardman received a letter from President Curtis Tarle and his contract was renewed for three more years.

Dreher, who saw the letter, said it was very gracious and understanding. "Tarry did a very nice job," he commented.

Dreher thinks that the retiring of Boardman marks a turning point at Lawrence, and many members of the faculty are very happy that Boardman received a new contract.

According to Kenneth R. Venderbush, dean of men, faculty disillusionment "is clearly a problem, but the Lawrence editorial was overstated."

Third best Venderbush expected statements in the editorial to the effect that the community of professors atmosphere is little more than a fading cliché. He felt that the recommendation of the Committee on Interdisciplinary Education is passed by the faculty at its meeting last week, "was the most exciting thing to happen here in some time."

The "interdisciplinary study plan takes the idea of the "free university" and brings it into the curriculum of the college," Venderbush said.

Bertrand A. Goldfarb, associate professor of English, feels that the proposals on the topic of the brain drain could not be made. According to Goldfarb, the turn-over of professors does not necessarily signify a faculty dissatisfaction of Lawrence or its students.

The reasons that several faculty members are leaving, according to Goldfarb, are based on personal reasons rather than general discontent with the school. He does not feel that the administration discourages its faculty to publish, but thinks on the contrary, that encouragement promotes faculty members to publish.

Finally, Goldfarb believes that the faculty members who are leaving should be questioned individually and their individual reasons explored rather than trying to establish a general trend of dissatisfaction in the Lawrence faculty.

710 Boswell

Judy N. Laloop, assistant professor of economics, believes that the so-called exodus of faculty members from Lawrence is not a result of faculty discontent with the university or of the Lawrence student body. On the contrary, he explains the reason for faculty members leaving is based on the basis of what he calls the "new competition for the "institutions" for experienced faculty members."

In the past, Lawrence has been successful in recruiting "newly arrived Ph. D.'s" to serve on the Lawrence faculty. The competition for these new fellows has been great. But today, there is an understandable need for more experienced faculty members, and because Lawrence has this type of professor, larger universities are attempting to pull him away by increased salary.

Top Seeder

These larger public institutions seem to be talking about the "old type" of the best professors and the fact that Lawrence is not able to compete with the best professors and the fact that Lawrence is not able to compete. Dreher thinks that the reason for the faculty members is leaving is not based as much on faculty discontent as in the attractive offers made by other universities. "Only a good faculty would experience this," he said. The fact that other universities are recruiting Lawrence personnel reflects one thing, "There is a pool of desirable talent at Lawrence held in high regard."

"The Lawrence overreacted to the decision of several professors to leave Lawrence next year," commented Eugene Davis, assistant professor of mathematics.

"You cannot talk about the Brain Drain without examining the motivations of the people who are leaving."

8-11 Record

Davis explained that most of the people are leaving because of purely personal reasons, for instance they may be unsatisfied by a life at a small liberal arts college. In some cases, however, Davis thought some faculty members may be dissatisfied with policy.

"The real question," Davis re- acted, "is how large was the turnover in previous years?"

This is your life line.

If you're not doing something new with your life, it doesn't matter how long it is.

The Peace Corps.

Conkey's Book Store

For the best buys in school supplies, art materials and drafting materials.

SYLVESTER & NIelsen, Inc.

200 E. College Ave.

Appleton, Wisconsin

APPLETON HI-FI CENTRE

Catalog Discount Prices on Popular Names. FISCHER — DUAL — KENWOOD — SONY

323 College Ave., (across from Sears)

Phone 724-2722

For the best buys in school supplies, art materials and drafting materials.

SYLVESTER & NIelsen, Inc.

200 E. College Ave.

Appleton, Wisconsin

APPLETON HI-FI CENTRE

Catalog Discount Prices on Popular Names. FISCHER — DUAL — KENWOOD — SONY

323 College Ave., (across from Sears)

Phone 724-2722

RENEITA ART CENTRE

The center for all your art supplies, picture framing and gifts of art.

Phone 724-2722

For the best buys in school supplies, art materials and drafting materials.

SYLVESTER & NIelsen, Inc.

200 E. College Ave.

Appleton, Wisconsin

APPLETON HI-FI CENTRE

Catalog Discount Prices on Popular Names. FISCHER — DUAL — KENWOOD — SONY

323 College Ave., (across from Sears)

Phone 724-2722

RENEITA ART CENTRE

The center for all your art supplies, picture framing and gifts of art.

Phone 724-2722

A FEW NEW PAPERBOUND'S JUST RECEIVED

RELIGION and PERSONALITY — Adrian van Kaam

RELIGIONS OF THE WORLD — John Hardon, Vol. 1, 2

OUR TIMES — India — C. R. B. Cowell

EROS AND CIVILIZATION — Herbert Marcuse

THE LIBERAL MIND — Kenneth Minogue

LOVE'S BODY — Norman F. Brown

THE FROUD POSSESSORS — Fred Friendly and Saarinen

HELL IN A VERY SMALL PLACE — Bernard B. Fall

CRIME AND PUBLICITY — Friendly and Goldfarb

Biddor Motors

(Buy 6) Fred du Lac, Neenah

CONKEY'S BOOK STORE
Letters to the Editor...

Letters to the Editor must be typed double-spaced, kept short as possible and submitted to the Lawrence News office no later than 5 p.m. Wednesday. All letters that admitted will be published, and no other form of publication exists. Letters must be signed but names may be withheld from publication for sufficient cause.

TO THE EDITOR:

Tom Bohie is appealing for contributions toward the purchase of a garbage truck to teach us very much. Endowment is a small gift. Having just seen my first garbage truck in ten days in New York, I want to know what an uplifiting experience it can be. Good luck.

MARY R. BRYANT

TO THE EDITOR:

I want these years to be as exciting and fruitful as I can make them. Disillusion with

Lawrence will be explicit. If things don't change, I know I won't be the only freshman who thinks out loud about the "guts, drive and determination" by going somewhere else. In this letter I am trying to explain some of the reasons why I vote.

I hope it will not be considered debauchery.

Here in Lawrence, students and faculty alike, often mounded by "accepted ideas," content with banal discussions, feel there is a debate? Don't we "vote, resolutions, referenda," whether from students, faculty or administration, disappear here? I dread to think the depth of a dark and committedту­

nial world, to the desire of the four million Americans, to do something.

Don't most students come here and leave here completely marketed in their early and more mature than we and more

able to think in terms of "long­ term good" and "continuity." We have but one chance

formative, important ones of our lives. We have but one chance to dinner? And don't they study,

for the uninitiated and every Encamp­

mer of the Lawrence com­

community and

the Lawrence Old Form at had disappeared,

what I have seen of this education supposed to

and leave here complaining mild­

I want these years to be as exciting and fruitful as I can make them. Disillusion with

Lawrence will be explicit. If things don't change, I know I won't be the only freshman who thinks out loud about the "guts, drive and determination" by going somewhere else. In this letter I am trying to explain some of the reasons why I vote.

I hope it will not be considered debauchery.

Here in Lawrence, students and faculty alike, often mounded by "accepted ideas," content with banal discussions, feel there is a debate? Don't we "vote, resolutions, referenda," whether from students, faculty or administration, disappear here? I dread to think the depth of a dark and committed ту­

nial world, to the desire of the four million Americans, to do something.

Don't most students come here and leave here completely marketed in their early and more mature than we and more

able to think in terms of "long­

term good" and "continuity." We have but one chance

formative, important ones of our lives. We have but one chance to dinner? And don't they study,

for the uninitiated and every Encamp­

mer of the Lawrence com­

community and

the Lawrence Old Form at had disappeared,

what I have seen of this

education supposed to

and leave here complaining mild­

I want these years to be as exciting and fruitful as I can make them. Disillusion with

Lawrence will be explicit. If things don't change, I know I won't be the only freshman who thinks out loud about the "guts, drive and determination" by going somewhere else. In this letter I am trying to explain some of the reasons why I vote.

I hope it will not be considered debauchery.

Here in Lawrence, students and faculty alike, often mounded by "accepted ideas," content with banal discussions, feel there is a debate? Don't we "vote, resolutions, referenda," whether from students, faculty or administration, disappear here? I dread to think the depth of a dark and committed ту­

nial world, to the desire of the four million Americans, to do something.

Don't most students come here and leave here completely marketed in their early and more mature than we and more

able to think in terms of "long­

term good" and "continuity." We have but one chance

formative, important ones of our lives. We have but one chance to dinner? And don't they study,

for the uninitiated and every Encamp­

mer of the Lawrence com­

community and

the Lawrence Old Form at had disappeared,

what I have seen of this

education supposed to

and leave here complaining mild­

I want these years to be as exciting and fruitful as I can make them. Disillusion with

Lawrence will be explicit. If things don't change, I know I won't be the only freshman who thinks out loud about the "guts, drive and determination" by going somewhere else. In this letter I am trying to explain some of the reasons why I vote.

I hope it will not be considered debauchery.

Here in Lawrence, students and faculty alike, often mounded by "accepted ideas," content with banal discussions, feel there is a debate? Don't we "vote, resolutions, referenda," whether from students, faculty or administration, disappear here? I dread to think the depth of a dark and committed ту­

nial world, to the desire of the four million Americans, to do something.

Don't most students come here and leave here completely marketed in their early and more mature than we and more

able to think in terms of "long­

term good" and "continuity." We have but one chance

formative, important ones of our lives. We have but one chance to dinner? And don't they study,

for the uninitiated and every Encamp­

mer of the Lawrence com­

community and

the Lawrence Old Form at had disappeared,

what I have seen of this

education supposed to

and leave here complaining mild­

I want these years to be as exciting and fruitful as I can make them. Disillusion with

Lawrence will be explicit. If things don't change, I know I won't be the only freshman who thinks out loud about the "guts, drive and determination" by going somewhere else. In this letter I am trying to explain some of the reasons why I vote.

I hope it will not be considered debauchery.

Here in Lawrence, students and faculty alike, often mounded by "accepted ideas," content with banal discussions, feel there is a debate? Don't we "vote, resolutions, referenda," whether from students, faculty or administration, disappear here? I dread to think the depth of a dark and committed ту­

nial world, to the desire of the four million Americans, to do something.

Don't most students come here and leave here completely marketed in their early and more mature than we and more

able to think in terms of "long­

term good" and "continuity." We have but one chance

formative, important ones of our lives. We have but one chance to dinner? And don't they study,

for the uninitiated and every Encamp­

mer of the Lawrence com­

community and

the Lawrence Old Form at had disappeared,

what I have seen of this

education supposed to

and leave here complaining mild­

I want these years to be as exciting and fruitful as I can make them. Disillusion with

Lawrence will be explicit. If things don't change, I know I won't be the only freshman who thinks out loud about the "guts, drive and determination" by going somewhere else. In this letter I am trying to explain some of the reasons why I vote.

I hope it will not be considered debauchery.

Here in Lawrence, students and faculty alike, often mounded by "accepted ideas," content with banal discussions, feel there is a debate? Don't we "vote, resolutions, referenda," whether from students, faculty or administration, disappear here? I dread to think the depth of a dark and committed ту­

nial world, to the desire of the four million Americans, to do something.

Don't most students come here and leave here completely marketed in their early and more mature than we and more

able to think in terms of "long­

term good" and "continuity." We have but one chance

formative, important ones of our lives. We have but one chance

}
THE LAWRENTIAN this week takes you on a culinary tour of the Appleton area. Among the many foreign restaurants listed in the page, Koepke’s Famous Restaurant is a must for comfortable dining in a relaxed atmosphere with reasonable prices and good lighting. Koepke’s is well known in the Riverside town for after hours gastronomical reinforcement since it is open round-the-clock.

-CALENDAR-

Friday, March 1
Basketball, freshmen and varsity, Beloit, 5:30 and 7:30 p.m.
Three one-act plays—Sean O’Casey’s “Believe Me,” Megan Terry’s “Calm Down Mother,” G. E. Shaw’s “Dark Lady of the Somme,” Experimental Theatre, 7 p.m.
Film Classics: “Dracula,” Young Hall 101, 8 p.m.
Delta Gamma-Sigma Phi Epsilon Auction, Viking Room in Union, 9 p.m.
Saturday, March 2
Basketball, 1:30 p.m.
East House Poetry Readings, Union Lounge, 6 p.m.
Three one-act plays, Experimental Theatre, 7 p.m.
Film Classics: “Dracula” and “Pahlow’s,” Sanborn, 7 p.m.
Phi Delta Theta-Kappa Alpha Theda Beda Formal open, Oweny, 8:00 p.m.-11:30 p.m.
Sunday, March 3
Freshmen Class Spaghetti Supper, Phi Delt house, 5-8 p.m.
Faculty recital, John Koopman, bass, Harper, 8 p.m.
Film Classics: “Frankenstein,” Sanborn, 8 p.m.
Tuesday, March 5
Freshmen class lecture: Prof. Douglas B. Davis on “Godot’s Proof,” 9:50 and 11:10 a.m.
Junior recital: Roberta Wells, violin, Harper, 5 p.m.
Science Colloquium: Prof. Harry E. Earhart (Univ. of Wis.), on “Effects of Early Experience on Late Behavior in Monkeys,” Young Hall 101, 8 p.m.
Wednesday, March 6
Lawrence Christian Fellowship, Young Hall 101, 7 p.m.
Thursday, March 7
Student Chamber Music recital, Harper, 3 p.m.
Faculty recital: Lucy B. Heiberg, violin, Januaries, piano; Don C. Sparks, clarinet, Harper, 8 p.m.

GUIDED MISCELLANY

Eating Out in Appleton

BY BONNIE BRYANT AND NANCY KAPLAN

Fine Lawrence students have ever taken full advantage of the cultural opportunities afforded by the city of Appleton. Among the avenues of culture with which Appleton is so festively filled is a plethora of foreign restaurants.

In an effort to broaden the culinary horizons of the students, the Lawrentian has made a selection of the finest ones in the hope that students will partake of these cultural opportunities.

It must be noted that we have conscientiously ignored foreign restaurants which we consider to be pretentious in their international flavor. Instead, we have concentrated on those handy downtown from far and near over generations.

The cuisine most widely represented on the Appleton scene is the French, notably Francesco at Patrician’s Pizza Palace, 130 W. College Ave., Here’s Hamburger, 422 W. Wisconsin Ave., and Le Cote Claire Jacques, 131 W. Wisconsin Ave. Each has its own specialité de la maison. Here’s, for example, boats outstanding pavémes de terre frites a la mode, while Chris Jacques must be noted for its complementary beverage, significant among them is terre daves on cards. The adventurous gourmet must not miss Francesco at Patrician’s sandwich bar.

Contrary to public belief, Irish food has contributed greatly to the Fox Valley killer. For your enjoyment, we recommend Milner’s, an College Avenue, and Mary’s A&W, 1321 N. Riverhead. Lovers of Murphy’s are a credit to Irish ingenuity, and the proprietors have done admirably with that which was left him follow the potato famine.

Alas, Mary’s is a member of the national chain of restaurants. Appleton’s Mary’s has a flavor all its own: unmistakable.

F-A-S-T film processing

- Large selection of Portable Tape Recorders
- Kodafilm and Kodakolor Two Day Service
- Black and White, brought in by 9 a.m. ready same day.
- Largest selection of quality cameras in the area.

ideal photo

Lawrence Feature Section

Editorials  Columns  Letters to the Editor  Features

March 1, 1968 Page Five

ANOTHER WINTER COLD? VISIT

"PILLS 'N THINGS"

College Avenue

We carry a complete line of COMETICS and TOILETRIES

Look Sharp

Take Your CLEANING TO

PEERLESS - UNEEDA

WATCH FOR SPECIAL SAVINGS THIS WEEK!!

HALF-BLOCK OFF COLLEGE AVENUE
Senate Rejects Motion
For Speaker Controls

At Monday night's Student Senate meeting the senators heard James Streeter of the Speakers Forum report on the financial success of the Fugs-Ginsberg concert and rejected a motion to establish a board of control over Speaker's Forum.

Streeter stated that the Fugs-Ginsberg concert and visit was one of the most interesting and satisfying things he had done as chairman of Speakers Forum. He reported that the concert had earned an effective profit of about $375. In addition to their financial success, he felt that the Fugs' visit had been beneficial in other areas, such as student involved and student-faculty contact.

He read a transcript of the esoteric ritual performed by the Fugs and Ginsberg at the grave of Speaker Joseph McCarthy and said of nationwide interest in the ceremony.

Under new business, Ben Stott's motion to establish a board of control over Speakers Forum was rejected. In reply to Streeter's criticism that the motion was too tangible to be meaningful, Boll defined the control board as a body to intervene in the contracting of a speaker in whom the student body was not interested or could not legitimately afford. In view of the board's functions, the matter would be put to Student Senate for a final decision.

Streeter and Jake Stotzanger objected that Speakers Forum sought to please all students in hiring speakers, that it required latitude to find speaker's interest to all different groups. But Ben Stott argued that the board would not unilaterally restrict the chairman's control of the forum. Streeter and Craig Harris pointed to the example of Speakers Forum in the past as evidence that a board of control can be useful. The motion was defeated 33 to 18.

Earlier in the meeting, President Steve Porto announced that President Tarr has agreed to meet informally with students in the Union next week.

Four Musicians
To Give Recital

These Lawrence Conservatory junior- and a 1966 conservatory graduate will offer a program of instrumental music at 3 p.m.
Tuesday, Nov. 6, at the Vail Hall.

They are violinist Roberta Whitell, flutist Linda Neon, and pianists Lora Kollath and Eileen Neen. The latter was graduated years ago as a piano pedagogy student.

Miss Whitell and Miss Kollath will perform a Sonata for Vi-lon and Piano, by Gall Kuhl; and Final Shen. Three Pictures of Chassidic Life, by Ernst Bloch.

Purdo Creates
Lawrence Mace

Considered to be the cli mace of 1968 will feature a new symbol of authority at governmental, ecclesiastical, and scholastic occasions for the past five centuries.

E. Dane Purdo, associate professor of art, was commissioned by President Tarr to design and create the renewed and silver mace with the hope that it would add tone to the university's academic processions. The mace will be carried by the faculty marshal at the head of future processions.

Purdo created a simplified, three-dimensional concept of the official Lawrence mace to comiment the revived mace. The crest was granted by the London College of Arms to William Lawrence of St. Ives County, Hunting-The arms described in the Boston branch of the Lawrence family which founded the university, and which gave permission for its use as an institutional symbol.

The mace is marked with four symbols: the first, EDP, are Purdo's initials and his official hallmark registered in the London Goldsmith's Hall since 1966.
where he was a Fulbright scholar in England; the second mark, a walking list, indicates that the metal conforms to the specification for sterling—835 parts silver, 72 parts copper; the third mark, a leopard's head, tells that the object was made in London; and the fourth, the letter M, identifies the year 1967.

E. DANE PURDO, associate professor of art, is pictured here with the mace he created for Lawrence Commencement. President Curtis W. Tarr commissioned Purdo to design the mace to add formality and pomp to the annual ceremony.
VIKES SWIMMING CAPTAIN Pete House, who has never lost in individual competition, practices the backstroke in Alexander Gym's pool in preparation for the Midwest Conference meet.

For Distinctive Merchandise
Treasure Box Gift Shop
We welcome you to come in, 313 E. College Ave.

VIKES SWIMMING
Prepare for Scots
The Lawrence team took an easy win over the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh Owls with a final score of 157-35. The Owls were led by an individual victory in the 400-yard medley relay, while the Vikings swept the remaining events.

Coach Davis' squad was bolstered by the return of two strong performers from the previous meet: Fred Meyer and Van Caster. Meyer added a win in the 200-yard backstroke, while Caster claimed first place in the 50-yard freestyle. The team's strong showing was particularly impressive given the Owls' recent victory over Menasha.

The meet served as a tune-up for the upcoming conference meet at St. Olaf. The Vikings are ranked second in the conference, just behind Carleton College. The meet will be held this Friday at 5:30 p.m. at the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh pool.

Organ Group Gives Recital
Seven members of a Lawrence University music group will present a program of organ literature at 3 p.m. on Saturday, March 3, in the Lawrence Chapel. The recital will feature works by a variety of composers, including Bach, Handel, and Brahms.

The program will include works of C.P.E. and J.S. Bach; Olivier Messiaen; Jehan Alain; Jean Langiavas; and Saint-Saëns. The recital is free and open to the public.

Vikes to Meet Beloit, Coe in Double Feature
While the Vikings may be out of the running for the Midwest Conference basketball title, they still can play a prominent role in the final outcome of the 1967-68 championship race.

Lawrence will close out the season with a pair of home games this weekend, the feature attraction being the invasion by Concordia College at 7:30 p.m. Friday. The Vikings then play the final game at 1:30 p.m. Saturday against Carleton College.

Beloit will assure the points the Vikings seek. In the first conference meeting between the two teams, Lawrence scored an 86-51 victory in a double-over- time thriller on the Buckeye court.

Beloit is in second place with a 10-4 record while Monmouth heads the MEAC with a 12-2 slate. Also playing a share of the MEAC title position is Benedict College with a 10-4 mark.

Gary Schlei and Sarkis Halajian

WMC Results
Not including Co-Carroll game of Feb. 27

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>Ave.</th>
<th>W</th>
<th>L</th>
<th>Pct</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Monmouth</td>
<td>77.3</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>0.70</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Beloit</td>
<td>71.7</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>0.70</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Co-Carroll</td>
<td>71.7</td>
<td>9</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>0.57</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>St. Olaf</td>
<td>71.7</td>
<td>9</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>0.57</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Carleton</td>
<td>70.4</td>
<td>10</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>0.77</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kness</td>
<td>69.6</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>10</td>
<td>0.40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Coe</td>
<td>67.3</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>10</td>
<td>0.35</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ripon</td>
<td>65.5</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>12</td>
<td>0.25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lawrence</td>
<td>62.6</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>13</td>
<td>0.19</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Grinnell</td>
<td>62.3</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>13</td>
<td>0.19</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

FINAL GAMES

Games Friday (today)
Beloit at Lawrence
Coe at Ripon
Grinnell at Carleton

Carroll at St. Olaf

Games Saturday (tomorrow)
Monmouth at Kness
Beloit at Ripon
Coe at Lawrence

With Monmouth, Beloit and Carroll tied in the less column and with St. Olaf still making a charge for a tie share, the Midwest Conference basketball championship cannot be determined until the final games Saturday (March 21). All the leaders except Carroll wind up against each other on foreign courts.

Kness, Lawrence and Ripon, which will be playing the league leaders in the final action, are among the top clubs in team offensive and defense, according to official league figures released Tuesday (Feb. 27).

WMC Coach — leading Monmouth, which also has the conference's top offensive average at 70 points per game, Saturday plays arch-rival Kness, which has the second best defense, holding opponents to 32 points per game. Saturday, St. Olaf plays Carroll and Ripon, the latter being leading in that category with an average of 49 points per game.

Second-place Beloit, holding the top defensive mark of 62 points per game, plays Friday with Lawrence and Saturday with Ripon. The latter two clubs are in a virtual tie for second place in team offense with Ripon averaging 70.2 points per game and Lawrence, 71.6.

Only two of the contenders dead head-end. Carroll, with the third-ranking defense at 66.5 plays at St. Olaf Friday night.

Carroll's doubleheader victories last weekend were paced by Tim Delang, a junior who jumped from tenth place to third among the conference's individual scorers with a 16.8 average. Mike Schwartz of Grinnell moved up into the top five with a 16.7 average.

COE SWIMMING CAPTAIN Pete House, who has never lost in individual competition, practices the backstroke in Alexander Gym's pool in preparation for the Midwest Conference meet.
VIEW FROM THE BENCH

BY DAVE FRASCH

Sometimes the winter becomes a real drag. I find myself tired of looking at the dirty snow on the campus, and I occasionally lack the necessary enthusiasm for avoiding the spray thrown by the cars on College Avenue. The shoveling and the swimming team is doing well, but I am really suffering from spring fever.

Without malice toward the winter sports, the spring athletes at Lawrence will be as refreshing as the weather. One can look forward to the cheerleading, and I see some refreshing prospects.

Most of last year's strong track team returns. If some of the men move as fast on the track as off it, this could well be the year for the conference championship. Seriously, Chuck McKee is back for what may be his best year, and that alone is an exciting prospect. Runners such as Ron Messman, Rick Miller, and McKee brighten Coach Davis' hopes. Other returns Paul Henningsen, Jim Leslie, and Carl Eichieck are expected to strengthen the team. Several talented sophomores could provide the depth needed for a conference championship.

Hopefulness characterizes the baseball players. The team has a chance at a conference championship in their division if several players come through with good performances, notably, the pitchers Doug Failc and Chuck Olsen. Davis' hopes.

A program of 20th century music is planned by Lawrence Conservatory, featuring Baicher Heiberg, James Ming and Dan C. Sparks for their recitals at 8 p.m. Thursday, March 7, in Harper Hall.

Included will be two works of Ernest Bloch, as well as selections from "Baal Shem," Ernest Bloch, "Nigun" (Improvisation), from "Baal Shem;" and Segovia's "Aubade.

Ming, a one-time composition student of Nadia Boulanger at the Institute of Music since 1944. He has also studied with Nadia Boulanger and holds Mus.B. and Mus.D. degrees from the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N. Y.

Mrs. Heiberg is a lecturer in music at the Lawrence University faculty since 1966. She attended the American Conservatory, Chicago, and received a Mus.B. degree from Northwestern University. She has played professionally with the Chicago Civic Orchestra, New Orleans, St. Louis and Chicago Grant Park Symphony, and has been organist at the First Congregational Church since its founding in 1967.

Ming, a one-time composition student of Nadia Boulanger at the Institute of Music since 1944. He has also studied with Nadia Boulanger and holds Mus.B. and Mus.D. degrees from the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N. Y.

Mrs. Heiberg has been on the Lawrence faculty since 1966. She attended the American Conservatory, Chicago, and received a Mus.B. degree from Northwestern University. She has played professionally with the Chicago Civic Orchestra, New Orleans, St. Louis and Chicago Grant Park Symphony, and has been organist at the First Congregational Church since its founding in 1967.

VIKE GRAPPLER Jerry Clifford practices take-downs with coach Ron Roberts this week in preparation for the Midwest conference meet at Ripon today and tomorrow. Clifford, who will conclude his wrestling career at Lawrence will wrestle in the 137 lb. weight class.

Saito Tops 130 lb. Division,
Vike Matmen Take Sixth

Viking matmen traveled to Illinois last weekend for their second in a series of three meets involving more than two or three schools. The meet, held at Lake Forest, matched Lawrence against seven other schools including Illinois Wesleyan, North Park, University of Chicago, Walsh South, Lake Forest, and Valparaiso. Two other schools, Kalakomo and Oberlin, were entered in the event, but could not make it to the meet.

Saito Finishes First

The seven men Coach Roberts took to the meet met with varying degrees of success. In the 123 pound class, sophomore Tony Berman couldn't get started and finished in fifth place. The next class found Line Saito representing the Vikes. No other the schools sent out could overcome the grace and style he exhibited throughout the meet. His first place finish provided much-needed points for the Vike team.

Dave Toycen, wrestling at 145 pounds, started strong but lost his momentum and only managed a fourth place finish. Lawrence's other hope, Jimmy Gradishar, faced quite well until the finals where he lost a heart-breaking defeat and had to content with a silver medal.

Wrestling a man twenty pounds heavier than himself proved too much for Jerry Clifford who could not manage his opponent in the 145-pound class. Bill Bird, wrestling at 177 pounds did a good battle going all the way to the finals before being handed a defeat by the same man who beat him last weekend in the Lawrence invitational meet. In the unlimited weight class, Vike contender Chad Cumming got an unfortunate break when he had to meet the eventual champion in the semi-final round. Chad also had problems in the consolation round and ended up in fourth place.

Vikings in Ripon

Overall totals found the Vikes in sixth place. The first place team prize was taken by a very strong Wabash team.

Jerry Clifford will be back in his usual class at 130 pounds. At 152, Bob McKee at 137 pounds, and Chuck Field at 152. Monmouth's Don Tryon will drop one weight class for points on six men with four champions; Bob McKee at 137 pounds, and Chuck Field at 152. Monmouth's Don Tryon will drop one weight class for points on six men with four champions; Bob McKee at 137 pounds, and Chuck Field at 152. Monmouth's Don Tryon will drop one weight class for points on six men with four champions; Bob McKee at 137 pounds, and Chuck Field at 152.

In addition to Neumeister, are Jim Varnado at 130 and Stu Brathaldt at 191, both ranked third at their weight classes.

Karlsen will have a quiet year but was the 1966 runner-up in his class. Karen Martin will have another strong contender at 152; Chad Cumming, a sophomore heavyweight, and Jerry Clifford, a senior who will go at 165 or 170 pounds.

The Veterans

St. Olaf's top veterans, in addition to Neumeister, are Jim Varnado at 130 and Stu Brathaldt at 191, both ranked third at their weight classes.

Karlsen will have a quiet year but was the 1966 runner-up in his class. Karen Martin will have another strong contender at 152; Chad Cumming, a sophomore heavyweight, and Jerry Clifford, a senior who will go at 165 or 170 pounds.

The Veterans

St. Olaf's top veterans, in addition to Neumeister, are Jim Varnado at 130 and Stu Brathaldt at 191, both ranked third at their weight classes.

Karlsen will have a quiet year but was the 1966 runner-up in his class. Karen Martin will have another strong contender at 152; Chad Cumming, a sophomore heavyweight, and Jerry Clifford, a senior who will go at 165 or 170 pounds.

The Veterans

St. Olaf's top veterans, in addition to Neumeister, are Jim Varnado at 130 and Stu Brathaldt at 191, both ranked third at their weight classes.

Karlsen will have a quiet year but was the 1966 runner-up in his class. Karen Martin will have another strong contender at 152; Chad Cumming, a sophomore heavyweight, and Jerry Clifford, a senior who will go at 165 or 170 pounds.

The Veterans

St. Olaf's top veterans, in addition to Neumeister, are Jim Varnado at 130 and Stu Brathaldt at 191, both ranked third at their weight classes.

Karlsen will have a quiet year but was the 1966 runner-up in his class. Karen Martin will have another strong contender at 152; Chad Cumming, a sophomore heavyweight, and Jerry Clifford, a senior who will go at 165 or 170 pounds.