Financial Pains

by Bill Schoeller

As unbelievable as it might seem, a recent medical bill could have closed the Landis Health Center. The Health Center is in serious financial trouble because of student negligence in the paying of medical bills. A new policy has been devised to address this problem. A student will be given three payment options after receiving treatment at the Health Center:

1) Payment before the end of the current term, or
2) Payment before the end of the current term (the Business Office will bill the student for the full amount in the near future).

Financial Pains

Exciting Musical Opportunity

by Stacey Schneider

This weekend promises to be an exciting one for cellists, musicians, and music-lovers in the Lawrence community. Due largely to the efforts of Lawrence graduate Trilla Ray, cellist Michael Flaksman and pianist Peter Takacs will make a special visit to the Lawrence campus Friday and Saturday March 4th and 5th.

Michael Flaksman was born in Akron, Ohio, in 1946 and made his debut with the Cleveland Orchestra in 1961. He has studied with such outstanding artists as Leonard Rose, Palle Casals, and Nadia Boulanger, and has been the recipient of the prestigious Casals Centenary Award. He frequently offers performances in support of the Solidarity movement. Having served as visiting professor of music at the Oberlin Conservatory of Music in 1981, Flaksman is currently serving in a similar post at the Conservatoire de Bern in Switzerland.

Pianist Peter Takacs was born in Bucharest, Romania, and began his musical studies at age 4. Takacs came to the United States in 1962 and continued his studies at Northwestern University and the University of Illinois. Finally receiving his doctorate at the Peabody Conservatory of Music where he studied with Leon Fleisher, Mr. Takacs has been able to provide for the continued health care of his daughter.

Lawrence Choir Society

On their 11th journey the choir will be performing in West Germany, Switzerland, Canada, and the United States in 1983.

Standards of Excellence

The choir is proud to be an exciting one for cellists, musicians, and music-lovers in the Lawrence community. This year, it is both the honor and the privilege of the choir to be the first ensemble to tour this extensively.

Don't miss this exciting opportunity to see these two outstanding artists in action. Attend Saturday's masterclass or Sunday's recital for both and expose yourself to music at its finest!
"Unvarnished truth"

The third edition of The Brokaw Bugle, a so-called "underground" newspaper, was distributed last week. It amounted to more than just a page of writing and consisted of a whole "article" about the play "Pretty Baby" (rightfully belonging on page two) and an editorial on the power of the media. The editorial recognizes the power of the press (even that of a small press). It is what counts as news.

Another article in the Bugle was about the school's newspaper editor, Marcy Dunagan, who has demonstrated her desire to edit a newspaper. Students willing to work for the school paper, that not otherwise would they insist upon struggling against the inherent problems and restrictions. Maybe to some, accepting the editorship of the school newspaper would seem to be a waste to put your own time and money into editing a pseudo-printed piece. But as self-proclaimed "Editor-in-Chief" of the Brokaw Bugle, Marcy Dunagan has demonstrated her desire to edit a newspaper, her specific set of values, to tempt the propagation of her ideas, her specific set of values, which she wishes so hard to expose the "unvarnished truth" and yet is so unvarnished in the process. The bugle is the first newspaper students have ever read that not read might as well never have been written.

It is encouraging to find that someone on this campus recognizes the power of the press that it is of a small press. It is hard to believe, considering the dishearteningly low number of Lawrentian students willing to work for the school paper, that not only does one student out there understand the importance of a newspaper, but that this person has also expressed an interest in cultivating this potential power.

As well proclaimed "Editor-in-Chief" of the Brokaw Bugle, Marc Dunagan has demonstrated here a new venture. More correctly, it's not simply that she wants to edit a newspaper, it's her desire to edit it.

There is a reason why the school newspaper, the Lawrentian, is called the "unvarnished truth." There is another reason why the school newspaper, the Lawrentian, is called the "unvarnished truth." It is because the students who read it are willing to take advantage of the most straightforward—almost effortless—means of achieving this end.

I admire an individual such as this "editor-in-chief" who displays the ability to write well and who is at least willing to attempt the propagation of her ideas, her specific set of values, through an underground newspaper regardless of its quality or the limits of its impact. I feel, however, in order to respect someone who wishes to so firmly expose the "unvarnished truth" and yet is so unvarnished in the process, we can do away with the "unvarnished," dedicated to the status quo. Lawrentian. Why didn't someone think of this brilliant idea before?

I admire an individual such as this "editor-in-chief" who displays the ability to write well and who is at least willing to attempt the propagation of her ideas, her specific set of values, through an underground newspaper regardless of its quality or the limits of its impact. I feel, however, in order to respect someone who wishes to so firmly expose the "unvarnished truth" and yet is so unvarnished in the process, we can do away with the "unvarnished," dedicated to the status quo. Lawrentian. Why didn't someone think of this brilliant idea before?

I admire an individual such as this "editor-in-chief" who displays the ability to write well and who is at least willing to attempt the propagation of her ideas, her specific set of values, through an underground newspaper regardless of its quality or the limits of its impact. I feel, however, in order to respect someone who wishes to so firmly expose the "unvarnished truth" and yet is so unvarnished in the process, we can do away with the "unvarnished," dedicated to the status quo. Lawrentian. Why didn't someone think of this brilliant idea before?

I admire an individual such as this "editor-in-chief" who displays the ability to write well and who is at least willing to attempt the propagation of her ideas, her specific set of values, through an underground newspaper regardless of its quality or the limits of its impact. I feel, however, in order to respect someone who wishes to so firmly expose the "unvarnished truth" and yet is so unvarnished in the process, we can do away with the "unvarnished," dedicated to the status quo. Lawrentian. Why didn't someone think of this brilliant idea before?

I admire an individual such as this "editor-in-chief" who displays the ability to write well and who is at least willing to attempt the propagation of her ideas, her specific set of values, through an underground newspaper regardless of its quality or the limits of its impact. I feel, however, in order to respect someone who wishes to so firmly expose the "unvarnished truth" and yet is so unvarnished in the process, we can do away with the "unvarnished," dedicated to the status quo. Lawrentian. Why didn't someone think of this brilliant idea before?

I admire an individual such as this "editor-in-chief" who displays the ability to write well and who is at least willing to attempt the propagation of her ideas, her specific set of values, through an underground newspaper regardless of its quality or the limits of its impact. I feel, however, in order to respect someone who wishes to so firmly expose the "unvarnished truth" and yet is so unvarnished in the process, we can do away with the "unvarnished," dedicated to the status quo. Lawrentian. Why didn't someone think of this brilliant idea before?

I admire an individual such as this "editor-in-chief" who displays the ability to write well and who is at least willing to attempt the propagation of her ideas, her specific set of values, through an underground newspaper regardless of its quality or the limits of its impact. I feel, however, in order to respect someone who wishes to so firmly expose the "unvarnished truth" and yet is so unvarnished in the process, we can do away with the "unvarnished," dedicated to the status quo. Lawrentian. Why didn't someone think of this brilliant idea before?

I admire an individual such as this "editor-in-chief" who displays the ability to write well and who is at least willing to attempt the propagation of her ideas, her specific set of values, through an underground newspaper regardless of its quality or the limits of its impact. I feel, however, in order to respect someone who wishes to so firmly expose the "unvarnished truth" and yet is so unvarnished in the process, we can do away with the "unvarnished," dedicated to the status quo. Lawrentian. Why didn't someone think of this brilliant idea before?

I admire an individual such as this "editor-in-chief" who displays the ability to write well and who is at least willing to attempt the propagation of her ideas, her specific set of values, through an underground newspaper regardless of its quality or the limits of its impact. I feel, however, in order to respect someone who wishes to so firmly expose the "unvarnished truth" and yet is so unvarnished in the process, we can do away with the "unvarnished," dedicated to the status quo. Lawrentian. Why didn't someone think of this brilliant idea before?

I admire an individual such as this "editor-in-chief" who displays the ability to write well and who is at least willing to attempt the propagation of her ideas, her specific set of values, through an underground newspaper regardless of its quality or the limits of its impact. I feel, however, in order to respect someone who wishes to so firmly expose the "unvarnished truth" and yet is so unvarnished in the process, we can do away with the "unvarnished," dedicated to the status quo. Lawrentian. Why didn't someone think of this brilliant idea before?

I admire an individual such as this "editor-in-chief" who displays the ability to write well and who is at least willing to attempt the propagation of her ideas, her specific set of values, through an underground newspaper regardless of its quality or the limits of its impact. I feel, however, in order to respect someone who wishes to so firmly expose the "unvarnished truth" and yet is so unvarnished in the process, we can do away with the "unvarnished," dedicated to the status quo. Lawrentian. Why didn't someone think of this brilliant idea before?

I admire an individual such as this "editor-in-chief" who displays the ability to write well and who is at least willing to attempt the propagation of her ideas, her specific set of values, through an underground newspaper regardless of its quality or the limits of its impact. I feel, however, in order to respect someone who wishes to so firmly expose the "unvarnished truth" and yet is so unvarnished in the process, we can do away with the "unvarnished," dedicated to the status quo. Lawrentian. Why didn't someone think of this brilliant idea before?

I admire an individual such as this "editor-in-chief" who displays the ability to write well and who is at least willing to attempt the propagation of her ideas, her specific set of values, through an underground newspaper regardless of its quality or the limits of its impact. I feel, however, in order to respect someone who wishes to so firmly expose the "unvarnished truth" and yet is so unvarnished in the process, we can do away with the "unvarnished," dedicated to the status quo. Lawrentian. Why didn't someone think of this brilliant idea before?

I admire an individual such as this "editor-in-chief" who displays the ability to write well and who is at least willing to attempt the propagation of her ideas, her specific set of values, through an underground newspaper regardless of its quality or the limits of its impact. I feel, however, in order to respect someone who wishes to so firmly expose the "unvarnished truth" and yet is so unvarnished in the process, we can do away with the "unvarnished," dedicated to the status quo. Lawrentian. Why didn't someone think of this brilliant idea before?

I admire an individual such as this "editor-in-chief" who displays the ability to write well and who is at least willing to attempt the propagation of her ideas, her specific set of values, through an underground newspaper regardless of its quality or the limits of its impact. I feel, however, in order to respect someone who wishes to so firmly expose the "unvarnished truth" and yet is so unvarnished in the process, we can do away with the "unvarnished," dedicated to the status quo. Lawrentian. Why didn't someone think of this brilliant idea before?

I admire an individual such as this "editor-in-chief" who displays the ability to write well and who is at least willing to attempt the propagation of her ideas, her specific set of values, through an underground newspaper regardless of its quality or the limits of its impact. I feel, however, in order to respect someone who wishes to so firmly expose the "unvarnished truth" and yet is so unvarnished in the process, we can do away with the "unvarnished," dedicated to the status quo. Lawrentian. Why didn't someone think of this brilliant idea before?

I admire an individual such as this "editor-in-chief" who displays the ability to write well and who is at least willing to attempt the propagation of her ideas, her specific set of values, through an underground newspaper regardless of its quality or the limits of its impact. I feel, however, in order to respect someone who wishes to so firmly expose the "unvarnished truth" and yet is so unvarnished in the process, we can do away with the "unvarnished," dedicated to the status quo. Lawrentian. Why didn't someone think of this brilliant idea before?

I admire an individual such as this "editor-in-chief" who displays the ability to write well and who is at least willing to attempt the propagation of her ideas, her specific set of values, through an underground newspaper regardless of its quality or the limits of its impact. I fee...
Big splash eludes swimmers

by Mike Mal

DATELINE: APPLETON.
On February 19th, it was reported that an orange scourse happened at the Mitch Katten Memorial Ice Rink.
During their Phi Delta Delta Senior vs. Phi Delta pledge tournament, Neil "Wayne Geryk" Hesh and Gene "Boon Bean" Beuly acted in an unsuspecting pledge for a check he would never forget. As the freshmen soon dissipated into the hole in the rink, it was rumored that a faint cry of "Jerry Jeff Lives!" was uttered by the pledge before he went down for the last time.
Harold Giske and his ground crow are still searching day and night for the missing Phi. After this tragic incident, and a curse from Macher Nature, the brockhamers...etc. cut short.
Unfortunately, not enough games were played to figure out a true winner so no Supremacy cup will be available at the Info Desk in the improvement. The most memorable tournament, the Life of Campus team was the best, with Ormsby
beating the next two teams in the Mixed Divi sion. Individual honors go to Mitch Miller from Colman, and Linda Fuets of Life of Campus, who rolled 236 and 200 games,
respectively, for the high single games score this year. For high series, John Jensen rolled a 767 for the men and iagnia Linda Fuets led the way for the women with a 335 series.
In the more individualized 1IM sports, Bart Oost got the
First Annual HORSE Tourna ment. The real surprise of the day though was the fantastic
showing of "Open Your Eyes" points from the Alpha Sigma Cup Tournament.

There has been a lot already this year, but there is still more to come, as we are still voting on ments, shortly thereafter the beginning of hopefully, interm ute tube, water polo, during all this will probably be badminton and everyball, and then later on in voll, track and field, mixed tennis,
and with a little luck, Ultimate Frisbee and a Frisbee golf tour
ment.

There has been a lot already
this year, but there is still more
to come, as we are still voting on
ments, shortly thereafter the
beginning of hopefully, interm
ute tube, water polo, during all this
will probably be badminton and
everyball, and then later on in
voll, track and field, mixed tennis,
and with a little luck, Ultimate Frisbee and a Frisbee golf tour
ment.

Sports

Intramural t-shirts are ready

by Mike Mal

DATELINE: APPLETON.
On February 19th, it was reported that an orange scourse
happened at the Mitch Katten Memorial Ice Rink.
During their Phi Delta Delta Senior vs. Phi Delta pledge
tournament, Neil "Wayne Geryk" Hesh and Gene "Boon Bean" Beuly
acted in an unsuspecting pledge for a check he would never forget. As the freshmen soon dissipated into the hole in the rink, it was rumored that a faint cry of "Jerry Jeff Lives!" was uttered by the pledge before he went down for the last time.
Harold Giske and his ground
crow are still searching day and night for the missing Phi. After
this tragic incident, and a
curse from Macher Nature, the
brockhamers...etc. cut short.
Unfortunately, not enough
games were played to figure out a
true winner so no Supremacy
cup will be available at the Info Desk in the improvement. The most memorable
tournament, the Life of Campus team
was the best, with Ormsby
beating the next two teams in the Mixed Divi sion. Individual honors go to Mitch Miller from Colman, and
Linda Fuets of Life of Campus,
who rolled 236 and 200 games,
respectively, for the high single
games score this year. For high series, John Jensen rolled a 767 for the men and iagnia Linda
Fuets led the way for the women
with a 335 series.
In the more individualized 1IM sports, Bart Oost got the
First Annual HORSE Tourna
ment. The real surprise of the day though was the fantastic
showing of "Open Your Eyes"
points from the Alpha Sigma Cup Tournament.

There has been a lot already
this year, but there is still more
to come, as we are still voting on
ments, shortly thereafter the
beginning of hopefully, interm
ute tube, water polo, during all this
will probably be badminton and
everyball, and then later on in
voll, track and field, mixed tennis,
and with a little luck, Ultimate Frisbee and a Frisbee golf tour
ment.

There has been a lot already
this year, but there is still more
to come, as we are still voting on
ments, shortly thereafter the
beginning of hopefully, interm
ute tube, water polo, during all this
will probably be badminton and
everyball, and then later on in
voll, track and field, mixed tennis,
and with a little luck, Ultimate Frisbee and a Frisbee golf tour
ment.

There has been a lot already
this year, but there is still more
to come, as we are still voting on
ments, shortly thereafter the
beginning of hopefully, interm
ute tube, water polo, during all this
will probably be badminton and
everyball, and then later on in
voll, track and field, mixed tennis,
and with a little luck, Ultimate Frisbee and a Frisbee golf tour
ment.
unvarnished truth

The third edition of The Brokaw Bugle, a so-called "underground" newspaper, was distributed last week. It amounted to a mere page of writing and consisted of a single "article" about the play "Pretty Baby" (rightfully belonging on page one) and an editorial on the power of the media. The editorial was well composed relative to previous efforts and provocative. It clearly identified the relationship between "the media" and "news," stressing the influence that a newspaper has in conveying a particular set of values. "Newspapers themselves determine what counts as news."

It is encouraging to find that someone on this campus recognizes the power of the press (even that of a small press). It is hard to believe, considering the disinheritedly low number of Lawrence students willing to work for the school paper, that not only does someone out there understand the importance of a "news," stressing the influence that a newspaper has in conveying the limit of its impact. I fail, however, to respect someone who wastes to put your own time and money into editing a pseudy-

Alternative.

A *1,000 grand prize will be awarded in the Eighth Annual Poetry Contest sponsored by Pecky of the Associated Press, a quarterly anthology. Poems on any subject are eligible to compete for students, and the small fees charged are designed to make the Health Center services economically feasible at a time of budget cutbacks and of uncertainty in the future. The fact charged to the Health Center is that the fee is so small that the bookkeeping charge, which is required to transfer the student union funds to the Health Center, end of the term bills costs more than most of the outstanding medical debts.

from page one

Health center

Because the Health Center needs the money from the fees, but the Health Center's scheme to collect the fees, the Business Office considered the possibility of collecting the fees directly from the Health Center. Dean Agans opposed this move and continued to ex-

Jbekinson Summer

Applications are now being accepted in the Financial Aid Office, Brook Hall, for work opporununity which will be available during late April. Responsibility for leadership, support, and assistance with residence hall programs and activities, hall government, personal attention and various administrative tasks is considered part-time. Combination of these head resident responsibilities with further part-time ap-Pecky of the Associated Press, a quarterly anthology. Poems on any subject are eligible to compete for Chief" who displays the ability to write well and who is at least willing to at-propagation of her ideas, her specific set of values through an underground newspaper regardless of its quality or the limit of its impact. There are no rules, nor even guidelines, to dictate the quality, con-

The Head Resident Selection Committee is seeking individuals to the Office of Residence Life at Ext. 14.

There will be a meeting for all students interested in becoming a Residence Hall Counselor for the 1983-84 year, at 7:00 Monday evening in the Plants Lounge. If you are unable to attend the meeting, please leave any questions, please call Lizz Read at ext. 2468.

The play follows a young blind man's (Jon Baker) search for independence in New York City, and his determination to set up his own law firm. The play is complicated by an overconcerned mother and a small blind girl opposite a successful attorney. Producers have separate visits of these outstanding artists in concert right here on the Lawrence campus. The concert is at 8:00 in the Chapel, the tickets can be obtained at the box office or at the door.

The Head Resident Selection Committee is seeking individuals to the Office of Residence Life at Ext. 14.

There will be a meeting for all students interested in becoming a Residence Hall Counselor for the 1983-84 year, at 7:00 Monday evening in the Plants Lounge. If you are unable to attend the meeting, please leave any questions, please call Lizz Read at ext. 2468.

The play follows a young blind man's (Jon Baker) search for independence in New York City, and his determination to set up his own law firm. The play is complicated by an overconcerned mother and a small blind girl opposite a successful attorney. Producers have Grovelling grappleers

by Donning Bow

Although the Lawrence University wrestling team entered the 1982 season with an optimistic outlook, the grapplers were forecasted by team play when they were soon dashed, due to the natural small size of the squad. With only two ranked wrestlers for the team (most of whom lacked experience) they had a hard time trying to win any tournaments.

The Vikes began the season well, however, taking home second and third place trophies from the Ripon Invitational. That proved to be one of the highlights of the season. After a dual meet with Madison and a weekend split the Vikes were second against Maranatha was cancelled, the Vikes set their sights on the annual Midwest Conference Meet, which was held in Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Lawrence entered seven wrestlers in the two day competition, Matt Mason (118 lbs.), Kevin Walsh (126 lbs.), Jim Slenker (134 lbs.), John Schoenfeld (142 lbs.), Rick Erickson (158 lbs.), Tom Brucker (167 lbs.), and Pat Gregor (Hwt. Tom Cacace), a freshman 150 pounder, was injured during the last week of practice and could not compete. The Vikes, who had four wrestlers seeded (Schoenfeld, Brucker and Gregor), were battling for a third place in both the NCAA Divi-sional and District 4 all-academic baskets, with a 3.2 grade point average (on a 4.0 scale) or better for last academic year to be nominated for the All Conference honors.

Post-season honors

Lawrence University basketball players Chris McLean and Carol Arnosti today were named to the Division IV District 4 all-academic basketball team by the College Sports information directors. Selections are based on basketball ability during the regular season and academic performance.

McLean, Arnosti

Post-season honors

LAWRENCE UNIVERSITY: The Lawrence University basketball team was led by senior forwards McLean and Arnosti. McLean is a 6-foot-3 senior forward, who was named to the basketball team by all sports information directors. Arnosti is a 5-foot-11 junior, a chemistry major with a 4.0 grade point average. She is averaging 6.7 points and 11.9 rebounds per game for the team.

Both McLean and Arnosti will be on the national ballot later this month for selection of the academic all-American team.

Other District 4 selections on the men's team were Jeff Broussard, Milwaukee School of Engineering; Rick Clark, Marietta; Mark Solek, St. Mary's; Wayne Dun-nin, Millikin (Ill.); Mark Taylor, Northwest Indiana (Ind.); Myron Dulkowski, Muskingum (Ohio); and Mark Hanson, Gustavus Adolphus (Minn.).

Dud

Players must have maintained a 3.3 grade point average to be considered for Sports Essen.
Pucksters finish strong Redmen scalped

by Scott Stevenson

The Lawrence Hockey Team wound up the season with a pair of victories last Friday and Saturday night at Tri-County Arena. On Friday, the Vikes met the Ripon Redmen, and for the second time this season chewed them up. Peter Montross had the hat trick as the Vikes won 5-2. Also scoring for LU was senior Eric Ostenso and senior captain Rob Frazier. Freshman goalie Joe Motto had a relatively easy time, as the Vikes outshot Ripon 44-14.

The next night Lawrence was scheduled to play the lowly Beloit College team. Slightly over one week earlier the Vikes travelled to Beloit and literally drowned the Pirates, 12-2. Monday night figured to be somewhat of a walkover; the game also saw freshman Johnny Zajac score his first career goal. After a such a humbling match, many wondered if Beloit would dare appear on LU’s home ice. Like a sun to set off for their first indoor track meet, the Titan Open. The odds were stacked against them. With no indoor track to coach, the Vikes had to take to the streets of Appleton to do what little training they could. The athletic department budget cuts set down another hurdle for the track men to negotiate. Coach Davis has to sit out the indoor track season to coach swimming. The pressure is now on rookie coach, and LU alum, Doug Gilbert, who knew he had his work cut out for him if he wanted to live up to the legacy of Coach Davis.

Cliff Rohade led the Vikes against the Pirates in the 60 yard high hurdles. Later that day he set a new school record in the 220 intermediate with a time of 26.1. Todd Hauserman also set a new school record in the mile with a time of 1:58.2 in the half mile run. And although Mark Lisy lost his half mile record to Hauserman, he did come less than a second away from setting a school record in the 1,000 yard run. Two personal records were also set. Jeff Cook ran a strong mile, obtaining a P.R. time of 4:56. Todd Wexman also secured a respectable 10:10 P.R. in the two mile run.

The following Wednesday, the Vikes were again in Oshkosh, this time to compete in the UW-Oshkosh Quadrangular. Again the Vikes put a good showing, Joe and Chris Berger showed conference placing potential achieving personal records of 4:35 in the mile and 9:57 in the two mile, respectively.

Coach Gilbert commented that “the team has done very well, all things considered.” It certainly is evident that it will take time for him to develop a wit comparable to Coach Davis’, if that is at all possible. With conference just around the corner, (Saturday, March 5), the Vikes have shown a depth of potential which should place them high in the conference standings, and enable them to endure the harsh Florida workouts during spring break.

Remembrance of springs past.

Tracksters starting off on right foot

by Todd Wexman

On Saturday, February 19th, the Vikes got up with the sunrise to set off for their first outdoor track meet, the Titan Open. The odds were stacked against them. With no indoor track to coach, the Vikes had to take to the streets of Appleton to do what little training they could. The athletic department budget cuts set down another hurdle for the track men to negotiate. Coach Davis has to sit out the indoor track season to coach swimming. The pressure is now on rookie coach, and LU alum, Doug Gilbert, who knew he had his work cut out for him if he wanted to live up to the legacy of Coach Davis.

Cliff Rohade led the Vikes against the Pirates in the 60 yard high hurdles. Later that day he set a new school record in the 220 intermediate with a time of 26.1. Todd Hauserman also set a new school record in the mile with a time of 1:58.2 in the half mile run. And although Mark Lisy lost his half mile record to Hauserman, he did come less than a second away from setting a school record in the 1,000 yard run. Two personal records were also set. Jeff Cook ran a strong mile, obtaining a P.R. time of 4:56. Todd Wexman also secured a respectable 10:10 P.R. in the two mile run.

The following Wednesday, the Vikes were again in Oshkosh, this time to compete in the UW-Oshkosh Quadrangular. Again the Vikes put a good showing, Joe and Chris Berger showed conference placing potential achieving personal records of 4:35 in the mile and 9:57 in the two mile, respectively.

Coach Gilbert commented that “the team has done very well, all things considered.” It certainly is evident that it will take time for him to develop a wit comparable to Coach Davis’, if that is at all possible. With conference just around the corner, (Saturday, March 5), the Vikes have shown a depth of potential which should place them high in the conference standings, and enable them to endure the harsh Florida workouts during spring break.

Sports