HI, ALUMS!

Queen, Decorations, Floats, Game to Spark Homecoming

These ten Lawrence lovelies are the candidates for 1959 Homecoming Queen. They are Mary Mendijs, Sheila Meier, Gail Glienke, Pris Rydberg, Sue Scidmore, Mary McKee, Helen Edelhofer, Jane Rossiter, Sue Baker, and Zoe DeLorme.

Friday Convocation Will Touch Off Annual Round of Gala Festivities

The weekend of October 9 will present to the Lawrence campus another of the annual rounds of festivities commonly known as Homecoming. Alums, parents, and the friend of students will be flooding Appleton for the activities which center around the Homecoming football game against Beloit, Saturday, October 10.

Homecoming co-chairmen Jane Rossiter and Art Ullian have announced the schedule of events which this year will begin Friday instead of Thursday. A surprise convocation, with the presentation of the Homecoming Queen candidates, will kick things off at 11:00 a.m., Friday in the Chapel. Friday has been officially designated as "Blue and White Day," and everyone is urged to wear the school colors then.

JUDGES A SECRET

House decorations and store window decorations will be judged at 4:00 p.m. on Friday. The members of the judges committee is a well-guarded secret as of now. A sorority will be working with a fraternity on one house, so none of the dorms will be decorated; matched for this activity are Beta Theta Pi and Delta Gamma; Delta Tau Delta and Kappa Alpha Theta; Sigma Phi Epsilon and Alpha Chi Omega; Phi Kappa Tau and Pi Beta Phi; Phi Delta Theta and Kappa Delta; Phi Gamma Delta and Alpha Delta Pi.

The traditional Pajama Parade, presented especially for the football team by the freshmen women clad in pajamas, will take place at 7:30 p.m. in the Chapel. After the judging of the skits, the Queen and her court will be presented; following this, the cheerleaders will lead a snake dance to Union Hill for a short pep rally and the traditional burning of the raft. A very informal dance, "The Mess," will cap the evening's festivities. Everyone who comes is urged to bring ukes; singing, dancing, and entertainment will make up the program.

COLLABORATE ON FLOATS

Fraternities and sororities will again collaborate on floats that will be displayed at the parade down College Avenue at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday. The parade route will lead to the Cross Country meet at the golf course from Alexander Gym. A dinner for all students, alumni, and parents will take place in the Gym at 12:00 noon; entertainment will follow the meal.

At half-time of the football game against Beloit, which begins at 2:00 p.m., the Queen will announce the winners of the house decorations, window decorations, and float competitions. Immediately following the game will be a reception at the Union and fraternity houses for everyone. The Homecoming Dance that evening at Alexander Gym will last from 9:30 p.m. until 1:30 a.m. The football team will be presented to dance-goers, as will the awards for winning decorations and floats.

QUEEN CANDIDATES

Queen candidates have been nominated by the football team (see pictures of all candidates in this issue). Each member of the student body will vote for the candidate of his choice after all the girls are presented to them at the Homecoming convocation Friday morning. The Queen and her two attendants will be announced after the Pajama Parade Friday evening.

Appleton merchants have donated the use of their store windows for decorating. Two people are to work on each of 40 windows; first, second, and third prizes will be awarded.

HOMECOMING HATS

Homecoming hats will go on sale Monday, October 5; price is $1.00. They will be sold all over campus all week and at the door of "The Mess" Friday night.

Working with Jane and Art are these sub-committee chairmen: Phyllis Spinner and Dennis O'Flynn, barbeque; JoAnn

In Memoriam

Judith Anne Gustafson

Judy Gustafson, who was to have been a junior and a counselor this fall, was killed on July 21, 1959. The accident occurred in Ephraim, Wisconsin, where Judy was working for the summer; a truck struck her from behind as she walked along a road. She was originally from Fort Atkinson, Wisconsin.

Happy people are usually taken for granted by those around them until that happiness is gone. Judy Gustafson was not a superficially happy individual; she had her trying moments, as do we all. But her acceptance of what life brought her, her optimistic outlook on almost everything, her pleasant smile which included everyone in the room, her rather shy but sincere friendliness—all this shone through to anyone who knew her even casually.

A certain quality seemed to reach out to encircle each of her friends. Judy loved Lawrence, her classmates, her sorority sisters, her friends, with a kind of love that wanted to do something for those she cared about. She was a giving person—of her time, abilities, friendship, and love.

As the minister of her church in Fort Atkinson said at her funeral, Judy's death presents a challenge to each of us who is not willing to let her death be a senseless and meaningless one. Each of us can, as he suggested, from that day forward, let a little of Judy's spirit become a part of us. The inspiration of her life can help to shape the course of many other lives.

To Judith Anne Gustafson—loyal friend, loving sister, a young woman living steadfastly up to her standards and ideals—we must say goodbye for now. We are the poorer for not having her with us now; we are infinitely richer for having known her, for having had the privilege of becoming an important part of the last two years of her life. Give us the strength to accept the challenge her short life and sudden death have presented to us.

TV Show to Feature LC People and Events

A television feature broadcast of Lawrence College and Lawrence personalities will be beamed to the Fox River Valley area next Wednesday from 4:00-4:30 p.m., Channel 5, Green Bay.

Participating in the program will be Theodore Cloak, head of the drama department and John Bucholz will participate in the first play to be given in the Stansbury Theater of the new Music-Drama Center.

The second six-minute segment of the program, which will be moderated by Mary Ann James of the WFRV-TV staff, will feature LaVahn Maesch, head of the music department, and Challoner Morse, a freshman who will sing in the Chamber Music Series later this year. They will discuss the Festival Year celebration and coming musical events.

Following this discussion, Mrs. Tatjana Fabian-Lanko and Minoo Adenwalla will discuss the structure and purpose of their courses in the Russian language and Far Eastern history and culture respectively.

The final six minutes will be devoted to a look at the future with Dean Robert N. Hubbell and Ray Sherman, editor-in-chief of the LAWRENTIAN. They will discuss important coming events and look at the trends and innovations which may be appearing on Lawrence's horizon in the coming year. Topics for discussion may be the new men's dormitory, Vice-President Richard Nixon's visit to Appleton and the campus,

Homecoming, and the visit of Dr. Thomas A. Dooley III.

Knocke Wins Swift Approval For SEC Budget

Officially designated as a budget meeting, the meeting of the Student Executive Council Monday, September 28, was a far cry from the usual hassle over the budget. Treasurer Chuck Knocke read the final budget, a confirmation of that which he had worked out last spring, and it was quickly approved.

Union Committee co-chairman Bill Whitmore announced that the committee and the administration are working on plans for the Viking Room, now free from theatre complications. Eventually a jukebox, booths, and panelling will be installed. The necessary funds must be raised before construction can begin, however.

President Doug Moland announced that the basketball and track representatives will work with the football representative, John Dunning on the athletic board; they include respectively Chuck Knocke and Ron Traver.

International Club Makes Foreign Students Welcome

International Club would like to begin another season of diverse activities by extending a most sincere welcome to the five new foreign students on campus. They are Marie-Paule Thiery from Paris, France; Turid Langeland from Kristiansand, Norway; Saul Buelvas of Barranquilla, Colombia; Paolo Grandi of Italy; and Wolfgang Butzkamm from Hagen, West Germany. All five are especially alert in their new surroundings, have outgoing personalities which facilitates the exchange of cultural ideas, and have a good command of English.

Marie-Paule studied at the Sorbonne before her trip across the sea and although her interests lie in music and literature, her course of study while at Lawrence will be concentrated on the study of the English language. She has already studied English for eight years but wishes to learn more. Marie's intellectual curiosity is quite active for she admits that her main interest while at Lawrence will be to learn more about American culture and ways of life. She is also an avid fan of the theatre and good films. Marie will be helping in the French department.

Turid Langeland attended the "gymnasium" in Kristiansand. The Conservatory will be Turid's realm of study as she wishes to major in voice as well as study piano and theory. She commented on her interest in the "very special way of life" we have at Lawrence since there are no colleges of this type in Norway. This "way of life" is mostly embodied in dorm life and the centralization of studies and activities which is to be found on a small campus.

Saul Buelvas of Barranquilla, Colombia, attended the Universidad Atlantico for one year as well as the Escuela Superior de Idiomas which is the center of linguistic study. The American people, or at least college students, seem friendly and nice to Saul. His main interest is the study of languages and he will be assisting in the Spanish Department.

The comedian of the group is Paolo Grandi for anyone who knows him just can't help smiling at the thought of his jovial personality. Even though he seems to take life with a smile, he also has serious interests in both economics and linguistic study. He has traveled a great deal and delights in discussions centered around economics, politics or various foreign customs.

"Wolfie," as he has already been dubbed by a nameless Peabody resident, seems to play the part of the objective critic. He is quite impressed by the flat terrain around our fair city but the choicest of his comments was "I wonder who the architect was and what he was thinking of when he designed Peabody." Wolfgang has had a great deal of training in languages, attended the University of Marburg, and will be studying mostly American philosophy and literature. He is willing to help in the German Department.

During the course of these interviews, which was actually more of an international round table discussion than anything else, the following impressions were shared by the new arrivals. The "hurry, hurry" of our culture seems to have already exerted itself, and even though Appleton is judged by our friends to be provincial, it is redeemed by the cultural life and spirit of the college. It is believed that these five striking individuals have a great deal to offer any student at Lawrence.

International Club is planning a social meeting for October 15 in honor of the foreign students. It is hoped to be a "get acquainted" type program with a special invitation to the freshmen as well as to all other INTERESTED students. To start the year American students will give of themselves and their talents in order to entertain the group. This meeting will be quite informal with the intent of informing those who wish to know just what International Club is and does. The meeting will be held in Terrace Room—watch bulletin boards for future information. Here is YOUR chance to meet our new friends from around the world.

Campus Undergoes Vacation Overhaul

New Lawrentians and upperclassmen found a campus changed in many respects by physical improvements initiated during the summer. More than $190,000 was spent on the remodeling and repair work.

Major surgery converted the fourth floor of Main Hall, vacated by the Drama department, into 14 new faculty offices and a visual aids room. Other changes and additions include sprinkler protection for the entire building and additional washrooms installed on the third floor.

The library, which underwent $26,000 in enlargements of basement stacks last summer, received an additional $35,000 worth of improvements this summer in the form of a completely renovated reading room and cataloguing department.

Brokaw Hall also underwent a minor face-lift with the installation of a sprinkler system and enclosed fireproof stairwells at the cost of $65,000. An additional $5,000 was spent on a fraternity quadrangle where the kitchens of the five older fraternity houses were overhauled.

Fraternity Rush Results In Pledging of 84 Frosh

The close of what has been described as a most "unusual and hectic" rushing season saw the pledging of 84 freshmen men to the six fraternities.

Mr. Cloak to Hold Tryouts Wednesday

The schedule of tryouts for Arthur Miller's sensational "View from the Bridge" was announced Wednesday by Mr. Theodore Cloak, director. The first proscenium-arch play to be presented at Lawrence in five years will open at the new Music-Drama Center November 11, and run through November 14.

The cast of nine men and three women, with extras, will use for the first time the Center's 500 seat Stansbury Theatre. Tryouts will be held at the theatre Monday, October 5 from 4:00 to 5:30 p.m. and Tuesday and Wednesday from 7:00 to 9 p.m. All Lawrentians, except first-semester freshmen, are urged to try out and be a part of this unique experience in Lawrence College theatre history. Interest in good drama is the only qualification for admittance to the tryouts.

Lawrence Students to Work At Outagamie Mental Hospital

Again this year, the Red Cross is organizing a program for Lawrence students who are interested in doing volunteer work at the County Hospital. Because the rush program has been extended this year, we are late in getting started.

A brief meeting will be held Wednesday, October 14 at 4:30 in Main Hall, room 11, for those interested in devoting a few minutes of their time to the mentally ill. On October 24, there will be a trip to the hospital for indoctrination. It will leave at 1:30 and be back on the campus in the middle of the afternoon.

Sign-up sheets will be passed around at the Greek meetings next week, and one can also sign up at first meeting. Students of all classes and of both sexes are encouraged by chairman Will Mack to come and share a most worthwhile experience. Any questions about the hospital or times, etc., should be addressed to WILL MACK.

Vikings In Impressive Victory; Schulze, Scovel, Meyer Star

It was a wet, rainy Saturday, but the Lawrence Vikings made the sun shine for all the loyal rooters that braved the elements on September 26, as they routed Grinnell 34 to 12. Jimmy Schulze, Appleton junior, led the Vikes in their rout as he threw two touchdown passes, and ran for a third. Again, Viking defenses proved solid, as they recovered five fumbles and intercepted three Pioneer passes. The victory evened the Viking conference record at 1 and 1, to tie Grinnell and four other Conference squads for third place. The victory was also the largest point total for a Lawrence squad since 1957 when they routed Knox 46 to 0.

The game was strictly a Lawrence affair. The Vikes took the opening kick, but soon were forced to punt. Smith's punt was blocked by Back John Hartung of Grinnell, giving the Pioneers the ball on the Vike 25. However, Charlie Scruggs of Lawrence soon intercepted a pass, and brought it to the Lawrence 25.

The Vikes then proceeded downfield behind Schulze and Gary Scovel. They compiled four first downs and were inside the Pioneer 40 when the Grinnell defense forced them to punt. Grinnell soon lost the ball on downs, and punted short to their own 43. Three plays later Schulze scored, giving Lawrence a 6-0 lead.

Grinnell then took the kick and proceeded to penetrate into Vikingland. They advanced as far as the Lawrence 24 when Gary Scovel, strong Vike full-back, snared an enemy pass on the Lawrence 14 and ran all the way to paydirt, a run of 86 yards, giving Lawrence the advantage, 12-0.

The pass attempt for the conversion failed.

Viking defense again stopped Grinnell, as Bill Meyer recovered a fumble on the Lawrence 30 two plays after the kick-off. Schulze and Scovel led another march down the field and shortly after the second quarter had begun, added 8 more points for the Vikes. Schulze passed to Meyer for six, while Scovel added two more on a line plunge. The remainder of the first half was played with no further scoring.

In the third quarter, Lawrence again stopped Grinnell on downs and marched downfield to add eight points for a 28-0 advantage. Schulze scored this one on a four yard end sweep. Schulze got into the act again just minutes later when he snared an enemy pass, and took it back to the Grinnell 41. A 20 yard pass play, Schulze to Meyer, made it 34 to 0, as the third quarter ended.

The fourth quarter saw a pass interference play give Grinnell the ball inside the Vikes 20. The visitors made good their opportunity, as Hartung scored the first Grinnell points. As the game neared completion, the benches were cleaned, and the visitors managed another touchdown, a 20 yard run by Hartung, to make the final score: Lawrence 34, Grinnell 12.

VIKING EDDA By AL SALTZSTEIN

Let's Have Another One; Just Like the Other One

Tomorrow the Vikes face their first away-from-home foe as they journey to Monmouth, Illinois, to face the Scots. The Scots' record equals Lawrence's as each has won one and lost one. Monmouth won their opening game by sliding past Grinnell 8 to 6. Last week they lost an equally even contest to Beloit, 9 to 8.

The game should be a defensive battle, judging from past performances. Both have a common opponent in Grinnell which Lawrence walloped, and Monmouth merely edged. However the Beloit game was the first of the season for Monmouth, and perhaps they weren't quite ready. Their loss to Beloit does not speak much in their favor, however, as Beloit was soundly beaten by St. Olaf three weeks ago 28 to 0.

In their game with Grinnell, the Scots gained a total of but 95 yards, while allowing them 184 yards. Its amazing how a team could win a ball game with such a meager offense, but this team apparently takes advantage of any break they are given, and rests their hopes on their defense.

On paper, Monmouth looks good. Twenty-one letter-men have returned from last year's squad which won two, lost five, and tied one. They have a heavy line with several men over the 200 pound mark. Tom Bollman, 6 ft. 3 255 pound tackle is their outstanding lineman. They also have a far larger squad than Lawrence with 43 men.

As for picking a winner, judging on past record, Lawrence should be a ten point choice. Last week they showed ability to score, to pass a little, and have shown sound defense. Unless the Scots' heavy line gives Lawrence trouble, or our passing is poor, the Vikes should win.

In other games I predict:

Carleton over Knox
Cornell over Beloit
Coe over Grinnell
St. Olaf over Ripon
Wisconsin over Marquette

We'll Miss Dave

Yes, it was a good ball game last weekend, and if our boys continue to play ball like that we should have quite a few more good ball games. In the middle of last week it was feared that Vike chances were small. The squad had received bad news which will definitely hurt them in the days to come. Dave Jordan who had looked so sharp in the Knox game, was lost for the season. Dave was the squad's starting halfback and appeared on his way to a successful season in his first year of varsity football. He was a standout in high school ball at West Allis Central High, and was counted on heavily by Coach Bernie Heselson. However, Jimmy Schulze moved over to half and Bob Landis came in at quarterback, both did a fine job. Best wishes go out to Dave, and here's hoping for an outstanding year for him next season.

It is too bad that sorority rush interfered with attendance at the game and forced many upper class-women to leave early.

Grinnell Defeats Runners; Pinks Is Winner In 15:50

Lawrence College lost their opening cross country dual meet last Saturday against Grinnell, 24-33. Lawrence's dependable veteran, Tad Pinkerton, was the victor in the three mile event with a time of 15:50. Second place went to Thompson of Grinnell with a time of 16:10, as he finished well over 100 yards behind Pinkerton. Due to the wet, windy weather conditions, times were slowed up to some extent.

Grinnell used their depth to good advantage and wound up with second, third, fourth, seventh, eighth and ninth places. Bill Stout, Ron Simon, and Ron Traver salvaged the fifth, sixth and tenth spots respectively for Lawrence.

As expected, injuries hurt Lawrence's chance at upending the defending champions. Ron Simon was able to finish sixth, but is not in peak condition as yet because of a leg injury suffered early in training. Sophomore Jim Jordan was well off form due to a pulled tendon and Chuck Collins was unable to finish because of the tightening up of his Achilles tendon.

Next week Lawrence has an excellent chance of winning their first dual meet of the year when they travel to Monmouth. Lawrence is favored to even up their won-lost record at 1-1.

campus comment

A rare opportunity is in store for Lawrentians on October 18 when Dr. Thomas A. Dooley, who is what one could call an independent medical missionary to the communist-threatened land of Laos, will speak at Lawrence's Memorial Chapel at 8:30 that evening. Dr. Dooley, who became interested in the Southeast Asian countries when he served with the Navy in the South Pacific, has written two best-selling books; the royalties going to MEDICO, a non-profit organization created to set up hospitals in remote areas. The subject for his talk will be taken from his experiences throughout the jungles of Laos. Tickets will be on sale for a dollar in the dormitories, the faculty office of Main Hall and in the Deans' offices.

My thanks for the words of the author of a second anonymous sheet which appeared the other day in the girls' dormitories. The excellent answer to the mud-slinging of the original anonymous sheet saved me the trouble of writing a scathing editorial which merely would have said, "Why is the anonymous author of the critical paper afraid to be known?" The answer it seems would be quite obvious if this name were known; the bitterness of this individual was caused by a personal grievance which would be so obvious to those who know the individual that the words would be ignored, as they should be.

MAESCH IS AUTHOR

LaVahn Maesch, director of the Lawrence Conservatory of Music, is the author of an article titled "The Educational Challenge" appearing in the August issue of The Instrumentalist magazine.

Maesch is national president of the Music Teachers National Association, and as such was asked to write a president's article for the magazine. During the coming year, Maesch will conduct meetings throughout the country in behalf of MTNA. On the calendar at present are gatherings in Ann Arbor, Mich.; Louisville, Ky.; Wichita Kan.; and Eugene, Ore.

MELTING

TO THE EDITORS:

There seems to be a general misunderstanding that independents are subject to Panhell's jurisdiction. The rule in question states that no upper-class women may associate with freshmen during rush week. It should be obvious that since Panhell does not represent the independents and in no way governs them, any assumption that we must abide by these rules is completely false. It is perfectly permissible for any independent to talk with, eat with, and fraternize with freshmen.

This misunderstanding reflects a general lack of thought on the part of sorority members. It is disturbing to think that sorority indoctrination has so clouded their conception of social life that they do not see the distinction between the sphere of the sorority and the greater sphere of campus life as a whole.

The fault lies just as much with independents who have not taken enough interest in campus society to define their own rights. Since they do not have an organization which defines their social rights and responsibilities for them, it is all the more important for them to define and assume these rights and responsibilities individually.

MARILYN LOW
JANET MOATS

Dear Editor:

Thursday morning, in convocation, Dr. Waring set out to answer the question of why we have religious convocations. This quest pleased me, for I thought that at last I would hear the answer to a problem that has been bothering me for some time. So I listened. And listened. I still do not feel that I have heard an answer. Therefore I would like to recall Dr. Waring's question: why do we have religious convocations? What can possibly justify the giving of one out of every four convocations—hour periods that I consider the cultural high-spots of Lawrence's program—to dragging, monologue, uninspiring hours, such as Thursday morning's.

Religion, it seems to me, is something that should be desired, not compulsory, something that the individual chooses, not something he feels obliged to suffer.

I have heard that religious convocations are held to remind the student body of religion. Surely, the great Lawrence family does not have to be reminded of something as great as religion.

I am not trying to be witty; I would like solid, clarifying answers to these questions:

a.) Why do we have religious convocations?

b.) What can justify the replacement of twenty-five percent of our enlightening program with unenlightening religious programs?

Perhaps the truth of the matter lies in a thought that Dr. Waring attempted to refute: the religious convocations are a vestige.

Do not misinterpret what I have said. I plan to attend my house of worship this week-end; this, I feel, is where formal group worship belongs, in the church or temple of one's choosing. I am not asking for a justification of religion. I am asking for a justification of religious convocations. In my mind, I can find no reason for the continuance of a program which inspires people only to find the nearest exit.

"'63 Skidoo," featuring a preview of the talent of the freshman class, will be held from 9:00 to 1:00 in the Riverview Lounge of the Union, Saturday night, October 3. This first all-college dance of the season, sponsored by the SEC social committee, is to be a strictly "casual" affair. Ron Bachleitner's orchestra will be on hand to provide the music for dancing. For intermission entertainment, various members of the class of '63, selected through auditioning, will display their talents.

Mr. Funk & Mr. Wagnalls

"In re this matter of Good Taste," said Mr. Funk to his secretary, "take a definition."

"Taste: sensations . . . excited . . . by the . . . action of the gustatory nerves . . ."

"And add this," put in Mr. Wagnalls. "Taste: the faculty of . . . appreciating the beautiful . . ."

"That," said Mr. Funk, "wraps it up. Mr. Wagnalls, will you join me in a Coca-Cola?"

"So good in taste . . ."

"And . . . in such good taste!"
