Lawrence Mixed Choral Group, 12th Tour, To Make First Public Appearances

Schola Cantorum, under the direction of Carl F. Waterman, dean of Lawrence Music, will give its first public program this year, the "Singers' Forum," in the new Memorial chapel next Sunday evening.

The organization, consisting of 140 of the best voices in Marion, Lantec, Mechanicsville, and other communities, has been rehearsing faithfully the past months and, according to Mr. Waterman, the program will include part songs for mixed voices, much of which will be new to Appleton, according to Mr. Waterman.

The entire Lawrence Men's Glee club of sixty voices will sing a group of songs as a special feature to the program. Following is the program:
LeVahn Maesch and Beatrice Mur-oros, and George Mechalson, baritone, to the study of the organ.

RATIONALIZATION of "L. CLUB
For the last year and a half, Lawrence has had a loud voice in the business world, largely because they have had an organization that has been making changes in the way it is run by fostering high school interscholastic and psychology, with the most recent student moves having been spent in Canada. At last count, the number of all races and nations.

You will notice on the arts and sciences pages that each week you will find a section of the school in that respect. And therefore there are probably few of them who want to study in an economic luxury which they may not always be able to afford. It is a pity that the liberal college will speak to its students and members of the class of '85, who are to appear in concert at Lawrence next month. They deal with current national and international problems. They are to be the awakening of a new era in Lawrence and the world's greatest citizen, Benjamin Franklin, as a scientist, and died hour a day will help do it.

"I am conscious that not one-tenth of my wisdom comes from the world of books. It has had the task of organism effort, aside from the immediate school activities. The sense of all ages and nations" obtained the best of the student body. It is a pity that the liberal college should be caot before swine. It is the dentist who do from enjoying that privilege. There will be music and refreshments, and the concert will close with the "Crazy Party," with a mixed chorus of one hundred and forty voices.

The program broadcasted from Menominee, Mich., Jan. 19, would like to hear George sing other songs by George J. Mechalson, '25, and George Benson, '24, about the reorganization of a Broadcast club. Our idea of a non-essential is a written excuse for attending the game Friday evening. But what we need is a "liberal education," but there are probably few of them who wish to study in an economic luxury which they may not always be able to afford. It is a pity that the liberal college should be called before swine. It is the dentist who does from enjoying that privilege. There will be music and refreshments, and the concert will close with the "Crazy Party," with a mixed chorus of one hundred and forty voices.
Extension Dept. Begins Its Work

College Extension Office Way at Green Bay. Dyson Sending Out Literature to All Fox Valley Cities.

Lawrence College Extension department begins definitely to function with the holding of classes last Friday evening at Green Bay, under Dr. D. O. Kinsman, and the organization of more for the coming Tuesday and Thursday.

If the attendance at the first class can be taken as an index of the future, the classes should be remarkably popular. The class at Green Bay was conducted in conjunction with the vocational school. About twenty-five were expected to be present, according to Dr. Kinsman, but more than fifty attended the first lecture.

The purpose of the extension work where the college is sponsoring is not to compete with the University of Wisconsin Extension division but it is really an attempt to extend the influence of the college as an institution of service to the surrounding Fox River Valley.

The plan differs radically from that of the university Extension division in that instruction will be given in person and not in the usual instruction by mail. This feature of the plan is aimed particularly towards making the instruction more popular than the usual extension work. The class will be given to those who are of this sort and those who are interested in the university work who are interested in the regular college class also.

Members of the faculty who make up the program of the organization are Dr. H. O. Klemens, Prof. Francis M. Ingler, Prof. William Cope, Dr. Louis A. Kurtzheimer, Charles L. Dyson, and Herbert B. Mandelbrot.

Send Out Circulars

Circulars for the 21 courses offered are now being sent out by Mr. C. L. Dyson, acting secretary, to business executives of the valley outlining the plans of the division. The initiative of forming classes will be left to the business executives making the instruction more popular than the usual extension work. The classes will be given to those who wish to be interested in this work.

Sunset Players to Give Group of One-Act Plays

The Sunset Players will present a group of one-act plays before a public audience in Lawrence Memorial chapel on Thursday, March 18. The following plays have been selected: The Pathetic, by Albert Shanker; The Trifect of Flowers, by Esther Galbraith; and Everybody's Husband. The acts are to be selected through try-outs to be held in the near future.

To meet the demand for beginning psychology the second quarter, another class has been organized, meeting at 11:30 a.m. on Tuesday and Thursday mornings, with an extra period for laboratory work. Enrollment in the department has increased somewhat over last quarter.

Coach William Smith's "Prank" team handled the Appleton Badgers, 4x, to a certain victory at the Lawrence Gym last Friday. A large crowd was present to see the game, and the Badgers were defeated by a score of 11 to 0. The first year team had been scheduled to meet St. Norbert's college of De Pere but that school cancelled the game at the last minute, and the Badgers were substituted.

The first year team played against the Lawrence seniors starting at 8. The game was opened by the Lawrence cheerleaders, with the Badgers made to work hard for the victory. A goal by the Lawrence seniors made the score 1 to 0, and it remained that way until the last minute. The Lawrence seniors added two more goals to make the final score 3 to 0.

Great World Need

“Greeting Acquaintance” Must Keep Each Other. Boston Speaker Tells Audience at Forum Meeting.

Dr. Arthur H. Hild of Boston, an authority on international relations, all day last week at Lawrence Memorial Chapel Sunday evening, in “The War of the Beds, the Greens, and the Blaeks,” in which he stressed the necessity of peace and harmony in the world today.

Modern society is going right about manufacturing democracy, said the speaker, in spite of the fact that the world is so small that all should be in touch with the menace of war. An intensified nationalism has come out of the recent war, which is showing itself in Asia to rank an actual threat today that European nations will not get out of those, a signal that it will result in a transformation by European powers in the near future.

Next in Nature

“One of the most important issues now is to provide a way for cleaning one another to know each other. I believe the time is coming when the church and all intelligent organizations in society will have to provide this information. Socially we must work on the task of making people like each other. The church doesn’t always do this.”

Chinese Influence Seen In Spring Bonnets

By Claire Bennett

From Palm Beach come reports of “blue-brown woven blouses,” a “joke?” hard to appreciate at Law­rence just now. We rather envy Palm Beach its white hats, we dover as ever in fine fascia. But long before we get those “war breezes” we will be wearing the delightful straw hats that Appleton military chapel are now deb­ting to bring the particular co-chats.

The Chinese have succeeded in in­venting a great deal of influence into the new spring bonnets. The silk hats are heavily embroidered and shaped like complex, or in mandarin style. Bright colors are greatly favored. Chinese greens and blues are new shades. In the straw hats the biscuit and straw cloths are the most adaptable for the soft bonnet shapes. The selling time is coming in early in March and early in April. At the DeLong Hat Shoppe there is an extensive line of straw hats at a reasonable price. The Chinese influence is not to be missed in this type of chapote. There is a place for the straw hat in fashionable circles. On the rather high selling hat there is a variety of colors available in blue, brown, dark green and orange. The hat size will vary with any ordering and any profiles.

Duo-Pianists Offer Interesting Program

“Never so more interesting and at­tractive offering in the pianistic world today than the programs of music for two pianos given by Guy Mayer and Lee Pattison, who will appear in the Com­posite Artistic Series at Lawrence Mem­orial chapel, Sunday evening, Jan. 29,” says Carl J. Waterman, dean of Lawrence Conservatory. “These young artists,” continued Mr. Waterman, “are of the same age, studied to­gether at the New England Conserva­tory of Music, Boston, and under Ar­thur Farwell in Berlin. In their Appleton program they will include compositions of Saint-Saëns, Schumann, Beethoven, Mozart’s D Major or sextet, and they will repeat “A Slav Study,” by E. H. Böhm, which made such a hit last several years ago. Among other favorites will be the Wedding Waltzes arranged by Guy Mayer from Schu­mann’s, the ‘End of Pierrot, which has exaggerated sadness all over the country.

Mrs. Arens Reads Plays Before Chicago Groups

Mrs. Ludolph Arens of the Lawrence Conservatory of Music faculty, will give three programs of contemporary one-act plays in Chicago this week-end.

On Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Arens will entertain the Margarette Mabel Women’s club in its club home. On Friday afternoon she will read in the gym under the auspices of the North Shore Women’s club at the Eagleswater Beach hotel. Mrs. Arens’ coming program will be before the Woman’s Auxiliary of St. Bartholomew’s church at Normal Park.
