Two Students Will Be Sent to Gathering

National Meetings of Methodist Students at Louisville, Ky., This Month

Lawrence will be represented by two students at the national conference of Methodist students, which is to be held at Louisville, Ky., April 20, 21, and 22, according to an announcement of Dr. John R. Wyegau, president of the college, who is in charge of the arrangements. Up to time of going to press, however, the two students to be sent have not been decided upon.

The conference is the most important meeting in the year for students of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, according to advance information relative to its time. This year, especially important because of the several vital issues, vital to the church as a whole, which are to be discussed and referred to it.

One of the most important, if not the most important, that will come under the consideration of the convention, is the question relative to the seating of women in the pulpits and worship services. This issue is being aired in the church, and the committee to be sent from Lawrence will be expected to report to the church its interpretation of its position on the question.

Come From All U.S.

College and university students from all over the country are expected to be present at the conference, and Lawrence students are among the few students from the eastern university to be selected for the gathering. Stories have been received from the foremost colleges of the country, indicating that the students will be present.

25 Try Out For Places on Cast of Annual Play

Tryouts for the annual play were held Tuesday afternoon under the direction of Miss Margaret Murray, who heads the dramatic arts department, who will cast the production. Over 25 students, representing every class in college, took part in the competition, which was held not only to pick the cast, but to measure the capabilities of the candidates in relation to the several plays considered.

Miss Murray's decisions as to which students will be chosen this year will be announced when the results of the tryouts have been fully considered.

Prepared in May

The date of the performance will be determined by the character of the play chosen, according to Miss Murray, but it will probably be during the middle of May.

In Music Halls

First your expression evidence from the Cleveland Conservatory of Music and the Young Women's Christian Association of Lawrence Conservatory, a symphony concert was given in the auditorium of the college on Monday evening.

The title of the concert was "An Evening of Modern Music," and was conducted by a large number of students who were present. William K. Kosent, a member of the college of the C.M.C.A., was in charge of the evening at which the band played Tuesday evening.

In Home Life

Miss Caroline Hess of the conservatory faculty gave a very pleasing group of music at chapel Monday morning. Her program was as follows. The Morning Prayer by Beethoven, L'Invocation du Vents by Massenet, opera Blue Bird by Massenet, and Miss Muriel Kelly, soloist. Each number in the program was given by a large number of students who were present.

Relate Named President

The men of each fraternity and sorority room last Saturday night, from 8 o'clock to 10 o'clock, were having a grand celebration. The men tomorrow may be seen in their Easter suits and will appear in church Sunday morning. There are also special Easter services to be held Sunday morning, April 21, at the various different churches in the city. Each member of the class is privileged to select the new officer for this position.

A Sisters of Sigma Pi Alpha members of Sigma Pi Alpha at the weekly meeting of the fraternity entertained the evening on the campus of the university.

The success of the event was highlighted by a performance of the Sigma Pi Alpha fraternity. The event was attended by a variety of guests, including members of the fraternity and friends.

Evelyn Harris, president of the fraternity, welcomed the guests and introduced the evening's entertainment. Following the performance, the evening concluded with a reception and socializing among the guests.

A new member was initiated during the evening, bringing the total number of members to 25. The fraternity continues to grow in strength and numbers, and is dedicated to fostering a sense of community and brotherhood among its members.

The next meeting of the fraternity will be held on the evening of the first Saturday in March, at which time new members will be initiated.

For more information, contact the fraternity at (507) 475-3142.

Lloyd Townsend Talks Before City V Group

Members of the Braden’s club of the city YMCA, were treated with a most interesting demonstration, "The Collecting of a Baby," by Lloyd E. Townsend, Thursday, April 17, 1924, the last of a series of popular talks at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday evening of last week. At the climax of the talk, in which he gave minute descriptions of butterflies and moths, fully explained how larvae and the members of those parts of their bodies, their camouflage in tree and plant presence, Mr. Townsend exhibited about 15 specimens he had collected.

1925 Ariel Will Be Off Press By May 1

Book Will Outwear All Previous Editions; Many General Features

The last copy for what promises to be the last Ariel in Lawrence history, is now in the hands of the printers, and their work upon the volume of campus news is progressing in a manner that will finish the edition in ample time for the final set for appearance, May 1, according to the report of Chas. Marsh, editor in chief. The efforts of the staff this year have been unusually numerous in the point of time, half the copy having been in readiness already by the middle of February, and the rest by March 1, according to Marsh.

This gives the printer sufficient time in which to assure the careful completion of their task and the recipients of the edition a most carefully prepared volume of Lawrence history.

The 1925 Ariel will be unique in various respects. New color schemes, art designs of unusual interest, new ideas in arrangement and composition of the departments, and a notable section of unconventional cleverness are just a few of the improvements which are promised.

The entire first section, perhaps, deserves more than mere mention, for it is a carefully developed reproduction of the staff's efforts to rally the book enough that it assumes a critical form. A wealth of cartoons which add greatly to this department.

Staff Was Competitive

The completion of this Ariel will match the best to be produced by a staff selected entirely upon a competitive basis. Heretofore, the Ariel staff has been chosen upon a more or less hit-and-miss plan, whereas this year a plan was initiated whereby any who wished to try out for the staff could do so. The results have been completely satisfying, justified one of the system in the future.

There is some uncertainty as to the financial outcome of this year's Ariel, in being neither too rich nor exactly the same in material as last year's. What ever deficit there is, however, will be slight due to the staff's efforts to secure as much as possible with as little expenditure as possible. Editor Marsh and his staff have been tireless in their efforts to profitably fill this work, and the final result will not partially suggest the time they have spent to make this 1925 Ariel possible.
