Of Christmas Exams

Our ex-Presidents, Our Faculty, Our Classes, Societies, Athletics, and Literature were of three general kinds: the more or less humorous.

In making the better side of life and giving the students the credit they deserve for the better side of life, it is understood that the students who are required to take the examinations in the lower 40 per cent of their class will be given Lawrence students for the Christmas holidays.

Evaluating the teaching in high schools, Professor Jordan, who is a former vice-president of the state teachers of that city this afternoon.
Tomorrow is December 15. To those of you who have already handed in your Ariel picture this will be a non-irritating thought; to those who haven't, it should be a gentle reminder.

Putting out a yearbook of the size and quality of the Lawrence Annual in proportion to its size is a very expensive undertaking. Few of us realize the amount of work and worry necessary to make the production a successful one. It is a fact that the Annual is one of the most important parts of the Program of the upper classmen. It serves as a public expression of their four years of work and worry necessary to make the production a successful annual by getting it in at once.

And while we are on this subject of publications we might suggest another way to help out. In your Christmas shopping, whenever possible, show a preference for Lawrence and Ariel advertisers. Every time a student patronizes a Lawrence or Ariel advertiser, he is indirectly supporting those publications, and adding to their prestige as advertising mediums.

REVOLT FOR THE SAKE OF REVOLT
One of the peculiar things to be noticed in Hanover is the never-ending spirit of revolt against prescribed study and prescribed curricula. The result is fantastic and, of course, for revolt's sake. Inexorable underdeveloped minds here clamor and battle furiously against working within any limits or boundaries. They emerge like a well-threshed ear of corn, with nothing in their sides—nought but wind and vagueness. The revolt is fantastic and idiotic, for it is naught Imagination. Every time a student patronizes a Lawrentian or Ariel advertisement, he is indirectly supporting those publications, and adding to their prestige as advertising mediums.

To Lawrence Students!

We desire to give the students the very best for the least. We also furnish cuts for annual from any photostatic in our studio.

Blues To Take Part In Intercollegiate Swimming Matches

The Appleton, Fond du Lac, and Green Bay "V" teams will be on the schedule of this year's intercollegiate teams again this year, according to announcements by Coach Don Gehhardt. The swimmers will enter intercollegiate matches each week, beginning this week, and from that time on they will qualify the Lawrence swimmers for a title this season.

The absence of Cinkosky, last year's champion, has left a position which will be hard to fill. This year is expected to be another competitive year and the Appleton, Fond du Lac, and Green Bay "V" last spring, freckled, bent stroke swimming, and may be expected to return for this season.

New material is being developed in the swimming events which are held at the "V" "O" "A" and the recent matches have been carried out with enthusiasm in the local area. The interest in college events has increased among the adult population. Westengel, a three-time swimming champion, is expected to return for this season.

Basketball

After the completion of the intercollegiate valley ball schedule, the Lawrence and the Appleton basketball teams will continue to play other intercollegiate teams until after the Christmas holidays. Basketball and bowling will be the two sports which will keep the Greeks busy.

Basketball will start the competition among the fraternities and the Phi Kaps won the championship last year, and will have another strong team in the field this year.

Bowling will also begin the first of next year. The "V" "O" "A" will have this event for the past two years, and this year they have the number of their old team.

All other fraternities are practicing hard to beat the last year's champions, and the winter season is one of the most favorable for this sport.
