ASSUMED SOPHISTICATION

"The most obvious thing about your campus was the utter lack of an ethical sense of right and wrong." This is the opinion of a speaker who spent a day upon our campus last fall.

An utter lack of a sense of right and wrong—a startling statement, when one realizes that these are the people who formed and spent only one day on our campus.

We are most anxious to discuss the accusation; it would take hours of research to discover if this were fundamentally true. But with much deliberate investigation one thing is obvious—that our continental public affairs are twisting our wires all out of shape in a furious attempt to hide the fact that we may have an ethical fault of our parents.

In every case in the past a gentleman will speak here on March 23, has this to say on the subject of ethics.

1927 Thrift

ASSURED BY OUR YEAR-ROUND VALUES

National Thrift Week

Begins Monday, Jan. 17

Benjamin Franklin, the most human counselor of a country ever known, spent his life preaching the importance of monetary independence. The ability to save a part of one’s income was almost the one requisite of success. It is never too late to begin the practice of the honest virtue. Having a bank account and paying cash for personal and household needs, your money begins to work for you, earning more money in interest and in lower prices.

January 17, the first day of National Thrift Week, is Benjamin Franklin's birthday. Honoring America's foremost apostle of thrift by starting your thrift campaign on that day, will be starting toward financial independence.
