The Lutherans are represented in basketball for the first time this season, but they have long been playing the caging game as an important part of the college when the student body failed, and made a success of it's plan which will successfully stabilize the Ariel expense problem once and for all time. A vote of "yes" from every member of the all-college clubs find themselves in exactly the situation they desire. They pay for subscriptions in the Lawrentian and buy an athletic ticket book whether they want to or not without a protest. Why then, though they love putting the Ariel on the same level and allowing it the same pretension which these other departments enjoy?

To attempt to explain the efficiency and benefits to be derived from playing Ariel subscriptions on the all-college club ticket would be merely to repeat what has already been well said in the Lawrentian. Whatever it is there can be no doubt that, once in the hands of the officers, the good to be derived from such action will far outweigh the evil.

Annual editors vary, after all, students, and college work must come first. It is fair to burden them with such a financial responsibility in making the bank a success? Why not take the easier and more efficient way, and place all part of the burden on the shoulders of the students who have the responsibility of financing the year book? It is worth considering.

Karl Kampas.

THE ARIEL QUESTION

The student body of Lawrence College owes its support to the project which is to come before it next week—that of placing the Ariel, yearbook of the institution, side by side with the Lawrentian upon the all-college club ticket. In justice to those who annually work upon the Ariel, adequate financial reimbursement should be provided for the Ariel officers. The student senate has drafted a plan which will successfully stabilize the Ariel expense problem once and for all time. A vote of "yes" from every member of the all-college club shall be forthcoming at the Ariel referendum next week.

THE START

An inexperienced basketball squad starts its 1927-28 season tonight in the armory by beating a stiff Northwestern five, which had only itself a few minutes ago in its scorebook a victory over Ripon. The Lawrentian team is faced with the seriousness of its task, and the students need not underestimate Waterston. The Lutherans are represented in basketball for the first time this season, but they have long been playing the caging game as an intramural sport, and have consequently been able to develop some stars who will force the Viking forwards to file their eyes close to the basket in tonight's game.

ENROLL NOW
Lake Forest Standing Presented At Meeting of Midwest Conference

Committee Will Act On Field and Track Records: Eligibility

The standing of Lake Forest college was presented by Dr. H. M. Moore, president of the college, at the semi-annual meeting of the conference held at Hotel Metropole, Chicago, on November 5. Professor Banner at Rock Island, Beloit, and Keysor of Carthage have been appointed as a committee of investigation.

The report of the committee on field and track records was adopted, and it was recommended that a special committee pass officially on the records made in the normal season meets. All records made in the Midwest conference to date will be considered.

It was decided that the requirement which demands that a student be present in twelve hours of meeting toward his degree, is to be eligible for participation in intercollegiate sports, and that in the exclusive of grades made in a religious program as important a feature as that in addition to paying in twelve hours, he must meet at least eight grade points.

A future attempt of the conference, encompassing endeavor in the field of physical education with the view of fostering constructive programs, is being pressed by President Root, president of the conference. If the program is carried out, it will mean a vast change in the importance and function of the conference, and in this something much has a bearing effect in judgment of costs and eligibility.

Find Mind of Christ,
Is Message of Dr. Root

The keynote address for the next convention was to be the mind of Christ, said Dr. Herbert Jackson Root of Fond du Lac, in a chapel address Tuesday. He

Dr. Root implies this message is to students, willing to accept opinions really modified, and to educators thinking for them.

"Christ's mind," he said, "will be interpreted to us if you are conscious enough to see it. If you hate the high advantages, the power of the world will not reveal to you the essence of independent thought." Dr. Root stated that Christ's mind is not to be interpreted to us because the man is dead, and Christ is new; neither is the mind to be found in modern man, many of these have a voice of their own, while the function of Christ is ever vital. Rather mind is to be found in the minds of those who have seen the face of God, and the influence of the man and gentleness of the gentle, his life, will be perpetuated in the lives of the younger generation of Americans.

THE LAURENTIAN

Raney Talks On Life Of Augustus Smith

A Portrait of Augustus Leddy Smith, the founder of Lake Forest, was the subject of a conversation addressing the student body by Dr. William F. Raney, president of the college. He discussed the career of Mr. Smith, and gave a detailed account of his life and achievements.

Mr. Smith was a versatile man who projected a complete life of achievement. He taught for two years at the University of Wisconsin, and after his graduation from Wesleyan university, Middlebury, Connecticut, he was a member of the Wesleyan university faculty for twenty years, and for many years he lectured both of his alma mater and of Lawrence college.

He was an instructor at the U. S. military academy at West Point which moved to Newport, R.I., during the Civil War. After the engagements he returned to Wisconsin, and in 1870 began the business of the firm upon which Smith house was later built. For nineteen decades this home was central one of the best places in the state.

Mr. Smith served as mayor of Appleton, he founded the First National Bank here, and was president for twenty years. He was also president of the Appleton express company, which was one of Appleton's most important business enterprises for about twenty years. He was at the time the chief executive of commerce when it was founded in 1872, and in 1875 he organized the organization of the Appleton express company, which had a turn over of 1657,000,000, the largest in the state in the United States in express business.

In conclusion, Dr. Raney read an appreciation of Mr. and Mrs. Smith, and said that the firm of "The Appleton Post" at the time of the death of Mr. Smith, is not merely too much to say that all the social life of Appleton was built upon the foundation that was laid for it by Mr. and Mrs. Smith in their home in Lawrence. After the business and political interests which Mr. Smith, the great and noble, has been transferred up to the ever growing tide of modern achievements, the influence of the man and gentleness of his home and of his gentle, his life, will be carried on in the lives of the younger generation of Americans.

Visual Teaching To Be
Rutinized, Says MacHarg

One person is worth a thousand words. It is this belief which has led Dr. J. H. Farley, who has recently presented several devices to facilitate the teaching of visual education, to predict that the visual method of teaching will be routine matter in schools twenty-five years from now.

Dr. MacHarg has made a stereoscope for ten dollars which sells eighty dollars on the market, and has made models for dollars which really sell for forty. By the use of the stereoptican, notes, pictures, or maps can be flashed on the blackboard, and significant figures can be emphasized with colored chalk while the original map or picture remains untouched.

Dr. MacHarg is working on a scheme which may well be adopted in the near future. He has made slides of posed figures or forms placed before two pieces of glass, and these flashed on the screen, give clear and greatly enlarged silhouettes.
