At Recital
Tosha Seidl Group Plays Crowd Last Night
By Monique Johnson
Last night, at the Lawton recital chapel, famous groups called for stories of symphonies. Applied scores were held in the center; the flutist, Leonard Goldstein, and a 285 ensemble, the dynamos did not show a nimbleness of precision that was sought. However, it was a fine article... not in Sunday's angry theme, but in the "principle of the score," was held in the center; arrangement of the event.

Among the several topics advanced for campus consideration is the one of the new constitution. Several weeks ago, the desire of the editors of the Lawrentian to have a new, updated constitution brought out the question of changes in the constitution of Greek organizations. The question of the constitution of Greek groups on the campus? The decision would be made unanimous by mutual and official consent.

The president of the student senate has announced, unofficially, that the long awaited all college constitution is nearing final ratification by the senate and will be presented to the student body by the end of the month. The final vote of the senate will be taken next week, following the approval of the faculty. The final vote will mark ultimate success in a reasonably short period of time after four previous senates have played around with the task of putting together a constitution. Bereft of power, without any governing code

The life story of Harry Houdini is one of the most interesting and interesting to American readers, for in this city it was the famous magician who was born.

There is much about the way in which he interested the public in the art of magic in the United States that is somewhat of a mystery. Houdini was a native of Poland, where he spent his childhood, and was educated at the University of Warsaw. He was married in 1887 to a Polish girl, Eileen Houdini, and the two attended the University of Berlin together.

It is a well-known fact that Houdini was a master of all the arts of magic, and that he was the greatest magician of his time. He was also one of the world's greatest tricksters. Houdini was known the world over for his amazing feats, and was considered the greatest magician of the age. He was a master of the art of magic, and was able to perform incredible feats of conjuring.

Houdini was born in Budapest, Hungary, in 1874. He was the son of a rabbi, and was educated at the University of Budapest. He was married in 1896 to a Polish girl, Eileen Houdini, and the two attended the University of Berlin together.

Fundamentals On Tap For Varsity Cagers

Coach Plans Long Drills

Coaching Clarence Reamann, now that football does not occupy the major portion of his time, will place his personal contact with the student body by conducting long and short class, to meet every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 11:30 a.m. in the gymnasium.

Varsity basketball managers will be chosen from this class to meet any college or athletic club teams with which it will be possible to schedule matches during the winter months. It is expected that about 20 new faces will take up the task.

Class Volleyball Managers Chosen

Class volleyball managers have been chosen as follows: Gerda Book, '29, Groverson Harris, '20, Esther Slaun, '21, and Vera Blake, '22. Practices are held at the gym Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Friday afternoons.

It is the duty of the managers to create as much interest in the sport among the girls of their respective classes and to keep a record of girls attending practices.

Visits in Menominee

Miss Elin Behrendt and Miss Dar- elle Walley motored to Menominee where they visited some of Menominee's best students and friends over the weekend. They were accompanied by Mrs. Rudolph Mohler, who spent the week at the home of the Behrendt family.
