PHI SIGMA CHAPTER INSTALLED

VIKINGS TAKE VICTORY FROM BELVOIT

Win 31-22

Last Night

Laid Stairs With 15 Points In Second Half

By Vincent Jarrett

Finishing up the opening song with a steady, Lawrence's big-time player started off and established a 13-12 dribbling to the Beloit goaded last night. The Vikings had the game from the start, dropping in baskets from all angles of the floor, and putting forth a defense that kept their opponents running around in front of circles. At no time of the game did the Beloit Wolverines believe even a score into the Blue and White nages.

It was a big night for every man on the team. Laid especially went well, putting up a splendid initiative of the roundtable "Heretic" March. This long season reached out from under the basket, deep in the ball through the hoop at regular intervals.

Laid was started early in the first period when Laid dribbled down court, a few minutes later followed by Beloit who scored on a field goal. The Beloit men were again played by a field goal and added a few more baskets to their own. The Beloit men were again played by a field goal and added a few more baskets to their own. An impressive ceremony yesterday marked the establishment of a new honorary fraternity at Lawrence college, and the assumption of other groups of letters and a new type of key by several Lawrence students.

Recognizing the cooperative activity along lines of scientific study, Phi Sigma, encircles upon a field of activity now existing on the campus, and as such grants merit for scholastic excellence in this branch of scientific research. In a way, it is comparable to Beta Kappa within its limited field, recognizing achievement along a line distinctly its own.

It would be hard to distinguish between the individual merit of the large groups of honorary fraternities which has been established at this institution. One, Phi Beta Kappa, recognizes general scholastic excellence, as well as other fields of character. Others, such as Phi Sigma, Pi Gamma Mu, Phi Sigma Iota, and Delta Chi, Theta Xi, give recognition to men and women who have achieved scholarly success within a limited field, such as biology, economics and social science.

Mace and Mortar Board, leadership fraternities for men and women, are pressed upon us with extracurricular activities and emphasize the importance of character in their initiates. Still another group, Alpha Delta Delta, Phi Kappa Alpha, National collegiate players, reward excellence in restricted activities without primary emphasis upon scholarship.

All, however, have their places. The keys of all fraternities represent scholarly achievement, and this achievement is recognized as such by the student body. Elections are sought after with the utmost of the utmost, in relative importance to the standing of the society, and the awards are usually proudly displayed.

The "GOOD WISH" STUDENT

A campaign to send another student representing Lawrence college to European colleges and universities may be expected to be launched within a short time, following a meeting of a special committee held this week. Student support to the project will be asked, and in an effort to determine student opinion the Lawrentian will support through its contributor's column, either signed or unsigned, by students or faculty members.

MIDNIGHT KING—By George Dele- meyer. 90 cents. 9 to 12. T. Y. 5725 pp. $6.00.

Ludwig V. of Bavaria, who led the Midnight King of the world over the thrones of Austria and Prussia and his withdrawal from the struggle seemed a phallic new for his masses. The common cadres was with a union of Bavaria with Prussia. Ludwig's all his efforts to gain the war were fruitless, however, since Ludwig, of a suspicious nature and fearsome disposition, was unable to enslave anyone. The victory of this important but still known king is shown up in a series of powerful picture plates.

At last, however, the king finally came to the throne. He was a gifted opera singer who engaged in pretty intrigues for love of adventure. Because of her grace and her ability to sing Wagnerian compositions, she was chosen for the sake of Tristan and Isolde. Then Ludwig, the famous, was chosen for the search.

Ludwig proved not to be an ideal instead of a central; and Sabine followed his suggestions. Ludwig was finally interested in a change of residence. Sabine's efforts to attract her to the affair sparked the romance of the king. Because of the king's attraction, the famous was interested in a change of residence. The Strange Adventure of the Giant Moth" is the first story. It is told by McCaigh, the American, and it deals with the discovery of a monster by a man wearing a mask over the eyes at a masquerade ball. The only other man which he has to follow are the super fantastic handwriting and a piece of paper printed with the words "Find Ukioke known". Ukio is a Japanese servant, but this sentence proves to be less conclusive than it seemed.

Short Sport Spasms

As this goes to press, the Beloit game is still a matter of conjecture. We feel that the entire issue of the column will be devoted to the prospect of victory for Lawrence. At the present writing the chances appear very good.

It's going to be a hard life for the athletes, professors and students. The weather is supposed to get to the point where cross meets can be held.

And speaking of track, there is to be a long meet coming after that fact recently all sports troops before the year's course. We won't be surprised until the last hour. For a long time. We have been given to understand that these are made up of all the people standing on the track. The prospects look good for another championship track team this year—that is, if this snow ever goes away and track meets can be held.

The track practice is getting under full swing at the gym with a good group of lettermen and other promising athletes working out daily. Pompeas seem bright for a good team to repren- t Lawrence this spring, with the following lettering having reported for practice: Carl, Morning, Damon, Bright, Duns, Men, and Brussat. Pompeas will also be on after the basketball season is over. The men have been working out all winter; Barhuth, Barrow, Alshick, Vol- kil and Colmour. We have been told that there is going to be a good meet coming after that.

Vocational Guidance Conferences Held For Many

Vacational guidance conferences for parents and senior women were held Tuesday morning, according to an announcement by Dr. J. R. McMillan, who is sponsoring the event. Besides the presentation of two short talks, an attractive va-couilig program is being lined up, which includes campus talent.

This year's program will be shorter than that of last year, which Mc-Millan felt to be too long. The film will include one travel reel and a t Short historical picture, neither of which have as yet been selected.

Ites of students of Lawrence and of campus life will enliven the show, and songs will be played during the touching of the pictures.

Chris Shields, '31, will draw as a part of the vaudeville stock, and other features will be provided by cam-campus students. These being lined up by Victor Winkelman and Agnes Mardian, both '29, assisting Dr. Mc-Millan.

Last year's all-college "movie" was quite successful, and with the shortening process completed, plans are being made to make the 1929 show an equal success.

Concert Ends Mrs. McDaniel Series

Rosa Ponselle, Rare Artist, To Sing Tonight

By Madalina Johnson

In Memorial chapel tonight, the management of the community artist series is presenting Rosa Ponselle, who is not only the premier diva of the Metropolitan opera but also one of the most popular stars of the operatic world. Her voice is a mezzo-soprano but she has a range of more than three octaves. Her artistry is based on a technical perfection that is unexcelled.

Ponselle is the most versatile artist of her time, combining the qualities of a coloratura soprano with those of a dramatic mezzo-soprano. Her voice is so versatile that she can project both sweetness and strength, and her control is so absolute that she can bring out the most delicate nuances of expression.

The concert will begin at 8:15 o'clock, and will include a variety of arias and encores. The program will feature Ponselle's famous "Vesti la Sposa," from the opera "La Traviata," as well as her interpretations of arias from such operas as "Carmen," "Tosca," and "La Bohème." The orchestra will be conducted by Charles M. Brubeck, and the chorus will be under the direction of Dr. J. B. MacHarg.
