NO EXCUSE

Tomorrow afternoon Lawrence varsity track team will enter its third competition of the year, a dual with Bethel. The meet should be a well balanced one and an interesting one, as a comparative analysis of the squads shows them to be fairly evenly matched.

Coach C. C. Denney has been drilling his men since early winter, and the poor weather conditions, which made it impossible for the squad to do indoor track until a very late date, has made proper training and coaching an exceptionally hard task this year.

But in true Denney fashion, the squad has rounded into shape nicely despite all obstacles, and the team’s performance in the Oshkosh meet last Saturday indicates that Lawrence is on the way to nicely despite all obstacles, and the team’s performance in the Oshkosh meet last Saturday indicates that Lawrence is on the way to

THE PLACEMENT TESTS

The selection of Lawrence as one of the very few midwestern colleges to try out the Carnegie foundation tests of general educational achievement is an honor; to the college and students worthy of some note. The Carnegie tests, which all seniors are required to take this year, have been given in former colleges and universities in Pennsylvania, and the fundamental reason for giving the tests at Lawrence is to discover how fairly representative the results in Pennsylvania were, for the country as a whole.

The tests should be a distinct advantage both for the college and the seniors here. The results will be a clear comparison of the instruction here as compared with that of other colleges, and they will give the seniors an opportunity to compare their general knowledge with that of seniors on other campuses where the tests have been given.

The very fact that Lawrence was selected by the foundation as a worthy field of comparison is a high tribute to the institution.

At Appleton

A group of 28 pen sketches by Stanley Woodward, eminent artist of Appleton, are on display in the art alcove of the library and will remain there during May. Among those sketches are the Art Institute of Chicago, Boston Museum, and among the student artists toward Fishermen and the "poor weather" excuse for a total loss.

Girls’ Baseball Program Changed

A complete change in the girls’ inter-Greek baseball schedule was announced today as the jockeys are not entering a team. This cuts down the total number of games from nine to six. The first battle will be a sophomore-senior class on Thursday, May 13. On Friday, May 14, the sophomore meet the freshmen, and Monday, May 20, the final combat between the seniors and freshmen will be played.

The Lawrence

The squad will be placed in front of the gnomes, and Miss Katharine White will auction.

Netmen To Play

Match Tomorrow

The Lawrence tennis team will hang up against its second competition of the season tomorrow afternoon at the home court with Monmouth. It is an unusual meeting for the two teams, and the four representatives from each school who will compose the squads are apparently well matched. Coach Clippinger will probably pick his four men from the group that competed against Oshkosh Normal last Saturday.

George Tuttle, ’28, was a weekend visitor at the Theta Phi fraternity house.

Lawrence Looks Best On Track; Weak In Weight

By Victor Jones

Tommorrow the track men will be off to the track to meet Beloit in another interclass meet. The meet will be held at 6:15 p.m. at the track field and will be held in the form of a relay meet.

While track men work, coaches swear, tennis teams labor on the court and other sports are being run vigorously. Tennis looks like baseball sometimes it doesn't, but it always looks like a battle.

Monday they're going to start throwing horseshoes. Baseball isn't hard enough, it seems.

Tennis Tourney Now Under Way

The all campus singles tennis tournament is now under way, but not as neatly as could be desired, according to announcement by Prof. T. W. Clappiger. All men entered are supposed to play off their matches as drawn as soon as possible. The doubles tournament will not be run unless more teams sign up in the near future.
