The New L. W. A.

Thursday night Lawrence women will meet to elect officers for the new Lawrence Women's Association. This is the final move in the organization of the group and will mark the close of the most significant step taken by the women of the college in several years.

The merger of W.S.G.A. and Y.W.C.A. has been discussed on this campus since last September. Dr. Wistens' ultimatum regarding the numerous organizations at Lawrence brought the question to a head; it was put to vote last week, and was passed by an overwhelming majority.

The move was begun following an investigation of other colleges. Through this investigation it was learned that in one place W.S.G.A. was the most influential woman's group on the campus; in another, it would be W.S.G.A., and in the next, Mortar Board. Y.W.C.A. was the most influential women's group on the campus; although Mortar Board has never been active in campus affairs.

The beginning of L.A.W. should be a step toward a more co-operative spirit among the women of the college. It will be a more simple task to support adequately one organization where formerly there were two.

The election of Officers

Election of officers will follow the example set by the women of the college. It will be a more

April 16 to the Wisconsin Rapids Rotary club of the football squad who are celebrating the arrival of spring by practicing around the gridiron. It has been estimated that during the past week there was a total of 756 pounds lost by the various members of the football squad who are practicing ever since the first thaw and it will be a tough battle to be kept up. Wednesday, April 15, 1937.

Ray Brussat, ’30, proved to be the outstanding performer of the inter-fraternity track meet held Saturday afternoon on the campus of the Lawrence College athletic fields. Brussat, who originally had to take college examination, was able to take advantage of his remaining high point honors. In the first meet, the money Docheva amassed a total of 14 points which added to his point gathering Saturday gives him 28 points for the two meets.

Dr. Darling is Co-Author Of Chemical Article

Dr. Stephen S. Darling, associate professor of chemistry, in collaboration with Dr. Ernest Smith, of the University of Vienna, has written an article on the "Principles of Carcinogenesis," the active principal of paprika. The article appears in the German Chemical Journal. This is the first time that this substance has been has been made synthetically. These experiments were conducted by Dr. Darling's study in Germany.

Glee Club Ends
30 Tour With Home Concert

Completing the 30th itinerary of concert engagements, the Lawrence Vocal Club was heard in Appleton on Thursday evening, in the Memorial Chapel. Forty-three men comprised the club in the thirty-sixth annual tour, which carted them through cities of southern and central Wisconsin.

Carl J. Waterman again proved himself a most accomplished director of vocal ensembles. The group showed a sympathetic response to the spontaneity of singing which proved the excellence of the training which it has received during the past few months. Accurate attacks, precision of singing, good intonation, and musical interpretation were all ex-dent in the numbers sung by the Glee Club. Solos on the program were of a high quality. They included three of the most prominent solists of the Conservatory: David Bruce Souther 30, tenor; Winston Ackerman, 30, svobist; and Russell Eulberg, 31, pianoist and accompanist.

The more formal types of coats with waistlines slightly accentuated are smart in the lighter weight woolens. Some are rolling far collars, others are tailored exquisitely and are quite without fur. Tweeds in all the new types fashion less formal coats and both the fur-collar and the furless models are smart. Narrow belts of leather or self material accent the new figure lines. There is a wide range of prices.
