CAMPUS
MARCEAU AND BIGGERS AIR VIEWSONPLAN

Opposing Factions To Propose
Heard In Convocation
Speeches Wednesday

With the student body stared to a pitch of retribution, pro and con, greater according to faculty members and students, than has been witnessed in a year, the Lawrentian-Ariel merger controversy was carried on Wednesday night at Hayward Biggers, Jr., editor of the Lawrentian spoke in favor of the merger, and Lynn Marceau, business manager of the Ariel, argued against it.

Biggers opened the discussion by presenting an exacting index book of the convention publication that is proposed for next year. The book was worked out in conjunction with the Times Press, the shop where the Lawrentian is printed, and was checked to the text by Ralph Watson, business manager of the shop, and a member of both the Lawrentian and Ariel boards of control.

$870 Saving
According to Biggers, the proposed merger would save the student body a little over $870, which allows a $20 increase for the first year in the expense of the two publications at present cost. Mr. Biggers said to 300 or more than the present cost of the two publications.

Aid For Total
Biggers reminded students that when the proposition is brought to a vote, they will not be voting on a permanent project.

"All we ask," he said, "is an opportunity to make this experiment for one year on the Lawrence campus. We feel that it will prove more than satisfactory, and if it does not Lawrence may again regret the old plan the following year with trained staffs."

In closing the speaker said, "Let me say that I would back this proposition if it was impossible to save one cent over the present cost, because I feel that any move which will tend to bring publications on this campus is a worthy one. And when we can save you, as students, $870, we believe that it is even more de- serving of a fair trial. And if we did not believe this, the proposition would never have been attempted."

According to Marceau, who spoke for the Ariel, the school paper can afford the price of the book to students next year by adding $2.00 to the subscription rate, cutting the indirect cost to organizers, as well as individual students to about forty cents.

Crisis Financial Depression
Faced with facts regarding the decrease in circulation, Mr. Marceau attributed the slump to financial depression, stating that in a depression the editorial and advertising staffs are as they are present. He claimed that the Ariel staff could not possibly be decreased.

"Announce Prohibition Vote Result Tuesday"

Votes for the Lawrentian-prohibition poll are continuing to pour in, and at this time more than 300 students have taken the opportunity to express themselves on this matter.

The results of the straw vote conducted here will be printed in next Tuesday's Lawrentian.

Expect 100 For
High School Day

Thirteen Schools To Send Representatives to "Bigg's Air Fair" Tomorrow

Schools have accepted the invitation to participate in Lawrence's first "High School Play Day" tomorrow, according to Mrs. John Mills, director of activities and athletics, who has charge of the event.

While the school sending six to eight representatives, it is expected that all the schools will have teams representing the number of athletic clubs at the new Alexander gym.

Registration in the morning at 11:00 "Bigg's Air Fair" will be followed by a three hour period of the games, after which a social mixer hour will be given to the gym where each one will take in the full sports, basketball, football, soccer, baseball, games, relays and a final plane in the playground, open house and tour of Omro from 1:00 to 4:00 ends the program.

Four color teams will be picked at random from the high school athletes, for the purpose of the event is to encourage a greater interest in athletics, and to promote a keener interest in girls' athletics, which has charge of the event.

Add 130 For
High School Day

With each school sending six to ten, the total number of students who will go to the gym where each one will take in the full sports, basketball, football, soccer, baseball, games, relays and a final plane in the playground, open house and tour of Omro from 1:00 to 4:00 ends the program.

Total $270

The estimated income was found to be $270.37, which allows for a $20 increase for the first year in the expense of the two publications at present cost. Mr. Biggers said to 300 or more than the present cost of the two publications.

Aid For Total
Biggers reminded students that when the proposition is brought to a vote, they will not be voting on a permanent project.

"All we ask," he said, "is an opportunity to make this experiment for one year on the Lawrence campus. We feel that it will prove more than satisfactory, and if it does not Lawrence may again regret the old plan the following year with trained staffs."

In closing the speaker said, "Let me say that I would back this proposition if it was impossible to save one cent over the present cost, because I feel that any move which will tend to bring publications on this campus is a worthy one. And when we can save you, as students, $870, we believe that it is even more de- serving of a fair trial. And if we did not believe this, the proposition would never have been attempted."

According to Marceau, who spoke for the Ariel, the school paper can afford the price of the book to students next year by adding $2.00 to the subscription rate, cutting the indirect cost to organizers, as well as individual students to about forty cents.

Crisis Financial Depression
Faced with facts regarding the decrease in circulation, Mr. Marceau attributed the slump to financial depression, stating that in a depression the editorial and advertising staffs are as they are present. He claimed that the Ariel staff could not possibly be decreased.
Society is no longer made up of individuals as it was in ancient times when the tree dwellers carried swung clubs, and the motto was: "every man for himself." It is now composed of organizations, and with the exception of the great leaders of the world, people are known more by the organizations they represent than by their own names.

This is especially true in colleges and universities. On the campus students are known by their fraternity or their club and off the campus they are known by their college.

It is impossible to avoid this grouping of individuals and it should be realized that it places upon people a responsibility, that was unknown in the days when man was in its early stages of development. The tree dweller was a free man; nothing he did reflected credit or discredit upon anyone but himself. He was only responsible for his own actions.

"One cannot exist without love, even though one knows that it will leave scars on both body and soul."—Sarah Bernhardt.

"Man has measured the distances from the earth to the stars; he has weighed them; he has analyzed their composition. And man has made war. I knew no more striking symbol of the disparity of this creature who is capable at the same time of so much genius and so much stupidity."—Michel Corday.

Ruth Lewis — Clubs
Mildred Gallatin — Society
Helen Hector — Paul Kissel
Helen Howard — William Roberts
H. M. Smith — Blythe Smith

EYESIGHT SPECIALISTS

LUCILLE SWYNNERTON

303 W. College Ave.

For Life Insurance
Ask Gordon A. Badger
248 E. Oak St.
Phone 2222

Fleming's Shoe Repair Shop
Phone 303

E E K S O N

100-767-DH

Society is no longer made up of individuals as it was in ancient times when the tree dwellers carried swung clubs, and the motto was: "every man for himself." It is now composed of organizations, and with the exception of the great leaders of the world, people are known more by the organizations they represent than by their own names.

This is especially true in colleges and universities. On the campus students are known by their fraternity or their club and off the campus they are known by their college.

It is impossible to avoid this grouping of individuals and it should be realized that it places upon people a responsibility, that was unknown in the days when man was in its early stages of development. The tree dweller was a free man; nothing he did reflected credit or discredit upon anyone but himself. He was only responsible for his own actions.

"One cannot exist without love, even though one knows that it will leave scars on both body and soul."—Sarah Bernhardt.

"Man has measured the distances from the earth to the stars; he has weighed them; he has analyzed their composition. And man has made war. I knew no more striking symbol of the disparity of this creature who is capable at the same time of so much genius and so much stupidity."—Michel Corday.

Ruth Lewis — Clubs
Mildred Gallatin — Society
Helen Hector — Paul Kissel
Helen Howard — William Roberts
H. M. Smith — Blythe Smith

EYESIGHT SPECIALISTS

LUCILLE SWYNNERTON

303 W. College Ave.

For Life Insurance
Ask Gordon A. Badger
248 E. Oak St.
Phone 2222

Fleming's Shoe Repair Shop
Phone 303

E E K S O N

100-767-DH

Society is no longer made up of individuals as it was in ancient times when the tree dwellers carried swung clubs, and the motto was: "every man for himself." It is now composed of organizations, and with the exception of the great leaders of the world, people are known more by the organizations they represent than by their own names.

This is especially true in colleges and universities. On the campus students are known by their fraternity or their club and off the campus they are known by their college.

It is impossible to avoid this grouping of individuals and it should be realized that it places upon people a responsibility, that was unknown in the days when man was in its early stages of development. The tree dweller was a free man; nothing he did reflected credit or discredit upon anyone but himself. He was only responsible for his own actions.

"One cannot exist without love, even though one knows that it will leave scars on both body and soul."—Sarah Bernhardt.

"Man has measured the distances from the earth to the stars; he has weighed them; he has analyzed their composition. And man has made war. I knew no more striking symbol of the disparity of this creature who is capable at the same time of so much genius and so much stupidity."—Michel Corday.

Ruth Lewis — Clubs
Mildred Gallatin — Society
Helen Hector — Paul Kissel
Helen Howard — William Roberts
H. M. Smith — Blythe Smith

EYESIGHT SPECIALISTS

LUCILLE SWYNNERTON

303 W. College Ave.

For Life Insurance
Ask Gordon A. Badger
248 E. Oak St.
Phone 2222

Fleming's Shoe Repair Shop
Phone 303

E E K S O N

100-767-DH

Society is no longer made up of individuals as it was in ancient times when the tree dwellers carried swung clubs, and the motto was: "every man for himself." It is now composed of organizations, and with the exception of the great leaders of the world, people are known more by the organizations they represent than by their own names.

This is especially true in colleges and universities. On the campus students are known by their fraternity or their club and off the campus they are known by their college.

It is impossible to avoid this grouping of individuals and it should be realized that it places upon people a responsibility, that was unknown in the days when man was in its early stages of development. The tree dweller was a free man; nothing he did reflected credit or discredit upon anyone but himself. He was only responsible for his own actions.

"One cannot exist without love, even though one knows that it will leave scars on both body and soul."—Sarah Bernhardt.

"Man has measured the distances from the earth to the stars; he has weighed them; he has analyzed their composition. And man has made war. I knew no more striking symbol of the disparity of this creature who is capable at the same time of so much genius and so much stupidity."—Michel Corday.

Ruth Lewis — Clubs
Mildred Gallatin — Society
Helen Hector — Paul Kissel
Helen Howard — William Roberts
H. M. Smith — Blythe Smith

EYESIGHT SPECIALISTS

LUCILLE SWYNNERTON

303 W. College Ave.

For Life Insurance
Ask Gordon A. Badger
248 E. Oak St.
Phone 2222

Fleming's Shoe Repair Shop
Phone 303

E E K S O N

100-767-DH

Society is no longer made up of individuals as it was in ancient times when the tree dwellers carried swung clubs, and the motto was: "every man for himself." It is now composed of organizations, and with the exception of the great leaders of the world, people are known more by the organizations they represent than by their own names.

This is especially true in colleges and universities. On the campus students are known by their fraternity or their club and off the campus they are known by their college.

It is impossible to avoid this grouping of individuals and it should be realized that it places upon people a responsibility, that was unknown in the days when man was in its early stages of development. The tree dweller was a free man; nothing he did reflected credit or discredit upon anyone but himself. He was only responsible for his own actions.

"One cannot exist without love, even though one knows that it will leave scars on both body and soul."—Sarah Bernhardt.

"Man has measured the distances from the earth to the stars; he has weighed them; he has analyzed their composition. And man has made war. I knew no more striking symbol of the disparity of this creature who is capable at the same time of so much genius and so much stupidity."—Michel Corday.

Ruth Lewis — Clubs
Mildred Gallatin — Society
Helen Hector — Paul Kissel
Helen Howard — William Roberts
H. M. Smith — Blythe Smith

EYESIGHT SPECIALISTS

LUCILLE SWYNNERTON

303 W. College Ave.

For Life Insurance
Ask Gordon A. Badger
248 E. Oak St.
Phone 2222

Fleming's Shoe Repair Shop
Phone 303

E E K S O N

100-767-DH

Society is no longer made up of individuals as it was in ancient times when the tree dwellers carried swung clubs, and the motto was: "every man for himself." It is now composed of organizations, and with the exception of the great leaders of the world, people are known more by the organizations they represent than by their own names.

This is especially true in colleges and universities. On the campus students are known by their fraternity or their club and off the campus they are known by their college.

It is impossible to avoid this grouping of individuals and it should be realized that it places upon people a responsibility, that was unknown in the days when man was in its early stages of development. The tree dweller was a free man; nothing he did reflected credit or discredit upon anyone but himself. He was only responsible for his own actions.

"One cannot exist without love, even though one knows that it will leave scars on both body and soul."—Sarah Bernhardt.

"Man has measured the distances from the earth to the stars; he has weighed them; he has analyzed their composition. And man has made war. I knew no more striking symbol of the disparity of this creature who is capable at the same time of so much genius and so much stupidity."—Michel Corday.

Ruth Lewis — Clubs
Mildred Gallatin — Society
Helen Hector — Paul Kissel
Helen Howard — William Roberts
H. M. Smith — Blythe Smith

EYESIGHT SPECIALISTS

LUCILLE SWYNNERTON

303 W. College Ave.

For Life Insurance
Ask Gordon A. Badger
248 E. Oak St.
Phone 2222

Fleming's Shoe Repair Shop
Phone 303

E E K S O N

100-767-DH

Society is no longer made up of individuals as it was in ancient times when the tree dwellers carried swung clubs, and the motto was: "every man for himself." It is now composed of organizations, and with the exception of the great leaders of the world, people are known more by the organizations they represent than by their own names.

This is especially true in colleges and universities. On the campus students are known by their fraternity or their club and off the campus they are known by their college.

It is impossible to avoid this grouping of individuals and it should be realized that it places upon people a responsibility, that was unknown in the days when man was in its early stages of development. The tree dweller was a free man; nothing he did reflected credit or discredit upon anyone but himself. He was only responsible for his own actions.

"One cannot exist without love, even though one knows that it will leave scars on both body and soul."—Sarah Bernhardt.

"Man has measured the distances from the earth to the stars; he has weighed them; he has analyzed their composition. And man has made war. I knew no more striking symbol of the disparity of this creature who is capable at the same time of so much genius and so much stupidity."—Michel Corday.
PREPARE PLANS FOR MIDWEST MEET MAY 31

Memorial Program Now Being Planned for Track Meet: Coaches Meet Here

By Hallois Roberts

With Henk Smith and Bert icey, sopho- mores of the Lawrence track team, and his corps of assistants, are rapidly making plans for the Memorial meet to be held Saturday, May 31, at the George A. Whiting athletic field. With the opening meet of the season, the team will be in the midst of a strenuous training campaign in order to have a strong team ready for publication, Mr. Tresize ex- plains. This is the first time that such a plan has been undertaken by any host to college athletic representatives will be in attendance by the conference college representatives and coaches as guests of Lawrence col- leges. A limited number of reservations will be made for others who wish to attend this event. No reservations are being accepted.

The affiliation of the Memorial program midway between the New and Old fields, the George A. Whiting athletic field, a gift of Col. Frank A. Schneider of Neosho, will be held Saturday afternoon, immedi- ately prior to the opening of the conference meet. This dedication program will be attended by representatives from 10 states in which Lawrence men have served. Honors will be paid, at this time, to those of the college who served and gave their lives in a service culminating with the unveiling of the memorial plaque upon the gates.

Improv Team

While the committees arranging for the meet are doing all within their power to make the meet a success, the following need attention:

24 Hours Service on Tennis Racket Restringing

The first of Mr. Phil Epstein, a mem- ber of the varsity team, and he re- stringed his rackets at the Memorial meet.

Rayo Spokes

Caro Blause, 1936, Milwaukean, was the speaker at the third men's goal. Presentation of certificates, which was held at Breakneck Wednesday. Approximately 30 men attended the meeting.

Riverside Greenhouse Store

WE SPECIALIZE IN

CORRUGATED AND TABLE DECORATIONS

Two Plans—Greenhouse 12—Floral Shop 12

The FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF

APPLETON

CAPITAL AND SURPLUS $1,000,000.00

The FIRST TRUST COMPANY OF

APPLETON

CAPITAL AND SURPLUS $500,000.00

$35.00

will buy a good suit anywhere but an exceptionally good suit here.

SCIALTH Rdw. Co.
Carnegie Exams To Begin On Monday
Sixteen Frosh With 90 Or Higher Average Allowed To Take Tests

Sixteen freshmen whose averages were above 90 for the first semester will take the Carnegie tests for sophomores which begin Monday and last until Friday of next week.

Five three-hour sessions covering English, mathematics, social sciences, foreign languages, natural sciences, general culture, and an intelligence test will include the students of the sophomores who are excused from all classes during the week.

Rooms in Main hall will be used in which to conduct the examinations, each sophomore having been assigned a room according to his position in the alphabetical order of names.

Students who rank in the upper three-quarters of the class when the tests have been graded are to be excused from the final examinations of their courses in which they have maintained a "C" average. All of the freshmen taking the test will be excused from their finals, according to Rexford Mitchell, assistant to the president, and Norman Knutzen, in charge of the freshmen. They will be aided greatly in their efforts by the excellent accommodations afforded by the new gymnasium and the Whiting field. The Whiting field track is already being improved in preparation for the meet. The track proper has been enlarged to two lanes, and the 220 yard straightway, and a 440 yard track with one turn will be completed within a short time.

In order to abolish any possibility of comparison when the events are held in the afternoon, the preliminary runs in the 220 yard dash and the 440 yard dash will be held Saturday morning, and the 440 yard run will be held Saturday evening. Prof. W. C. Bryant of the chemistry department, secretary of the conference, will be referee and starter.

Prepare Plans For Midwest Track Meet

The Voice of Appleton

IDEAL GASOLINE

Saves You Money
Ideal Lumber & Coal Co.

DO YOU KNOW—H. C. CLARK THEATRES are equipped with WESTERN ELECTRIC SOUND—The finest obtainable for present day sound.

SUNSET THEATRE

SATURDAY ONLY

Last Times

EDDIE DOWLING

AGONY 'O GLORY

At Sunset Mileage

GILBERT REDEMPTION

COME MONDAY

DANGEROUS PARADISE

GEENEN'S

"You're Always Welcome Here"

The New CO-ED Flats

radiate the vitality of youth...the charm of PARIS chic...the suggestion of the smart boulevards of Le Touquet and New York's own fashion street...Fifth Avenue.

The new fabrics...the new colors...for Madame and Mademoiselle.

$15.00