CRIMSON HAS STRONG FIVE THIS SEASON

Alumni Team Will Clash With Blue and White Quint

Tommorrow Afternoon

Three games in four days, and one of them a league game, is the whole slate of the Lawrence college basketball schedule this week.

As a practice criterion for the opening of the Big Four conference at Ripon Monday evening, the Demonmen will meet the fast-striking Stevens Point Teachers' college five in the afternoon game to be played on the home floor. The visitors will complete the work of eliminating the flaws that were apparent in the Kipon contingent looks like title candidates this season.

The unit is a product of Black-Clausen and is made by the Wallace and Tiernan Co.

The meeting was held in the office of the editor of the Lawrenceian was made fol­lowing the election of Margaret Cairncross, '34; Oenevieve Lind, '33; Lila Lock­wood, '34, and Lawrence Oosterhous, '34.

Install Boiler At Paper Institute

Is New Electric High Pressure Type, Will Be Used In Experimental Work

Installation of a new electric high pressure boiler at the Institute of Paper Chemistry, to be used in experimen­tal work, was started during the Christmas vacation.

The boiler room, under construction in the March issue, is expected to be completed this week.

Miss Naylor Recovering From Accident Injuries

Miss Mildred Naylor, down at Breakey fall, is a patient at St. Elizabeth's hospital where she is receiving first aid injures received when she was struck down by an automobile at Union Park near Darker, last Saturday evening.

Miss Naylor was struck by a car driven by Michael Barzansky, Kin­nelby, when she stepped behind a parked automobile, directly in the path of the oncoming machine. Her injuries consist of a broken leg, a broken arm, shoulder broken, leg broken, and an immense fracture of a small bone in the left arm.

"Miss Naylor is credited to the police, Mr. Sanders is setting down as the driver.

Winston Heads Fellowship Addresses by Delegates

Three delegates to the International Student Fellowship, represented at the convention Thursday evening at the Empire theater, were Lyle Stevenson, '22, Jerome Watts, '24, and Lawrence Oosterhous, '24.

Mr. A. C. Denney is hopeful that this week's work of the Fellowship will put the team in fine fettle for the Ripon contest Monday.

This year's program of physical education will not be financed by the college, so the students' budget will be strained.

The members of the cast are: Faith Kateh, '32; Leonard Stowe, '33; Paul Kebel, '32; Mrs. Kincaid, '33; Lorelle Yesmin, '33; Alice Keber, '32; Joseph Lauer, '32; Robert Hunt, '33; and another Truckman.

"To The Ladies," as explained in a recent column published by Harper's, "is perhaps the most satisfactory comedy of the kind that is now on the American stage, and that, its kind, that of sentimental comedy, is most in demand this season.

Mr. B. H. Hagg will continue his series of geological lectures before the Apple­ton club on Friday, Wednesday evening, and then he will speak on "Our Days In Europe," Jan. 4.

POLICY

The policy of the Lawrentian has been an attempt to stimulate controversy. The editor believes that many of the practices and customs followed on our campus have been observed with varying degrees of sincerity largely because they were inherited but not fully appreciated by our student group.

The frankness and novelty rushing system, the foreign language requirement of the B.A. degree, the class officers, the recently adopted grading system, and college athletics—high-pressure football, and even the sacred institution of convocation have been victims of the revealing light of controversy.

The editor felt that the system, no pedagogy, no dogma, no institution deserved a fictitious worship or ignorant acceptance. If the institution was not defensive, criticism would reveal its value. If the institution were more dogmas inherited by the present student body, it was hoped that the discussion would provoke a student program of reconstruction. It was believed that certain policies needed a fresh evaluation in a new understanding, that other policies required thorough reconstruction, and that still others demanded abdication.

At times the comment has been related with a personal experience. Kindly bear in mind that a human being does become obsessed with opinions which warp one's attitude. Even professors are bent with "pet notions." One Lawrence professor evaluated a student's work to be of "I" caliber, the reason being that the student had received "A's in each of his other four courses, which meant to the professor that the student did not have time to prepare for this course.

It is hoped that the editorials and contributions have quelled an appreciation of some of the things done on the campus.

The policy was stated in this column at the beginning of the year. "The Lawrentian will choose an issue of vital significance to our student body and air this problem. It is sincerely hoped that our student body and air this problem. The Modern Language Association Convention is Held in Milwaukee

Nine Lawrence college faculty members attended the convention of the Modern Language Association in Madison Dec. 29, 30, and 31.

Members of the organization were welcomed by Pres. Glenn Frank of the University of Wisconsin at a general meeting Monday afternoon. Prof. George O. Turner of Northwestern, president of the Modern Language Association, gave the presidential address, "Are Our Teachers of English Adequately Prepared for Their Work?"

Miss Dorothy Waples of Lawrence spoke on "The Political Affiliations of James Fenimore Cooper" at one of the group meetings.

A new masonite flooring was laid in the Institute Library during the Christmas holidays. The new floor is a distinct improvement over the old flooring and was laid by the Masonite Company of Laurel, Miss. The design is very attractive, consisting of large squares, laid of a dark brown color.

C. A. Schroeder led the discussion of the Journal Round Table at its weekly meeting last evening in the lecture room of the Paper Institute. He spoke on the effect of foam in the pulp and paper mill, and presented some of the objections and overcoming this trouble.

Heald Meeting

The regular meeting of Folliesde Club will be held Sunday at 3:30 p.m. at the Methodist Episcopal church.

News From Other Colleges

By Don H. Field

University of Washington—At least one student on the campus has no definite transportation connections to worry about when he returns to his home next spring. At the beginning of the semester he was told to take bus service from Ketchikan, Alaska, a 20 foot boat which he made himself. He sailed the entire distance with only one exception and plans to return in the same name in the same manner.

Vassar University—In a letter to the Yale Alumni, a professor of the institution made the suggestion that the university close some of its new buildings so that the skyway could be used and increase the professors' salaries.
