SOMEONE ENGAGED

THE LAWRENTIAN

Published every Tuesday and Thursday during the college year by The Lawrenceian Publishing Co., under the auspices of the Daily College News, and is not responsible for the opinions and statements published in the paper. Inquiries should be directed to the business manager, Mrs. E. W. A. Muehlke. J. C. Penney, 32, tendered his resignation as editor after several months of constructive work in that capacity. As a student, he has shown an average of 85 per cent, and during his career at Lawrence has received the scholarship of the year in his Sophomore year and the prize for the best paper in the Graduate studies. He will be missed by his friends and classmates.

LAWRENCE ANNIVERSARY

On Sunday, January 17, Lawrence college will be eighty-five years old. The charter of Lawrence College was signed in 1847 by Governor Dodge of the Wisconsin Territory.

From the struggles institution of eighty-five years ago, Lawrence College has advanced by steady strides to the prominent position it now occupies in the educational world under the guidance of capable educators. The college has developed into an institution that possesses modern facilities of all kinds.

In recognition of his work, Mr. West was honored at a banquet held in his honor.

All Campus Swimming, Diving Meet Today

CLARK, DODGE
ARE FAVORED IN CONTESTS

LaFevre, Wheeler Will Provide Competition; Freshmen Old Stars Still

The all campus swimming and diving meet will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the Nagel campus gymnasium pool.

Clark, '34, last year's swimming champion, will select a team of competitors to meet the Sigs, and since he is to leave tomorrow for another meet, it will be a close race. Clark's team will be composed of the varsity men, with the addition of a few freshmen.

The varsity men will be divided into two teams, and the team captains will be selected by the swimming coach.

The meet will be a friendly one, and the Sigs are expected to make a good showing.

Troubled? Study Yourself During Meditation Hour

The soft glow of the chapel at dusk, light, music, and a deep feeling of solitude; things gradually settle into the silence as you step inside the circle of the building. There is a feeling of getting away from the noise and glint of frequently flitting and dreary, a feeling that you are 'breaking the tie of familiarity.' Many things seem to them more clearly and clearly. The period of meditation is offered for escaping from worldly circumstances long enough to see them as a challenge to your own ability. It is a time for writing to the standards, and purposes, and the very existence of a life.
