Problems of Wisconsin Fraternities Reviewed

Editor's Note This is the record of a series of conversations conducted by the editor of The Lawrentian with the various representatives of the interfraternity community concerning the reactions of the members of the Fraternity of Wisconsin to the investigation being presented by the national governing council of the fraternity. The reception of these conversations by the members of the fraternity has been thoroughly investigated and found to be in line with the general trend of reaction. The conversations were conducted at the discretion of the members of the fraternity.

Problems of Wisconsin Fraternities

Fraternal organizations in general are confronted with the almost insurmountable problem of securing a place for themselves in the educational and social life of the college. With the increase of the number of students, the problem is more acute than ever before. The student body, in turn, is faced with the problem of securing a place for itself in the educational and social life of the college. Boher Discusses Present Problems With Brokaw Men

Important Economic and Political Problems Analyzed by Economists

With about thirty Brokawites, including both faculty and students, Dr. Boher discussed the present economic and political problems of the United States at the meeting of the Business Men's Discussion Club of Brokaw on Friday night. In talking about the spread of propaganda, Dr. Boher attempted to prove that in the United States could be easily reasoned out of the heads of many men and women by means of modern propaganda such as newspapers, advertising, and other means. He stated that he believed that the nature of the American men and women was such that they would be more influenced by such means than by the usual political leaders. He also pointed out that the isolationist movement in the United States could be easily defeated by such means if they were used properly.

In dealing with the question of fair play and the probability of a war, Dr. Boher pointed out that it was important to have a strong government. He stated that in such a government, all interests, including the government and the people, would be represented. He also pointed out that in such a government, all interests would have a voice in the making of laws.

In discussing the causes of the present economic and political problems, Dr. Boher pointed out that there were many reasons. He stated that one of the reasons was the lack of cooperation among the various economic and political groups. He also pointed out that another reason was the lack of understanding among the people. He stated that it was important for the people to understand the importance of cooperation and understanding in order to solve the present economic and political problems.
Guiomar Novaes’ Program Very Well Received

BY JOHN LUNDBERG

On Nov. 24, Guiomar Novaes presented a program of piano music that was enjoyed by a large audience, which had been expected by many. The program began with an introduction by Mr. A. P. Peter­son, in which he congratulated Miss Novaes on her success in the field of music. Miss Novaes was born in Brazil and is a member of the famous family of pianists, the Novaes family. She is a member of the quartet of pianists of the same name, and her debut was at the age of seven. She has been playing since she was four, and has played with several famous pianists.

For the outstanding feature of her per­ fomance must be the "Sonata in B Minor," which was played with great emotion and passion. H er performance was of the highest order, and the audience was thrilled by her playing.

The program consisted of several pieces,
including "The Little Foreigner" by Cyril Scott,
"Possesses Many Likeable Traits" by Frederick
Moore, and "Awakening" by Walter Gide.

Personality— Perhaps the most amazing thing about Miss Novaes is her lovely personality. She is always kind and polite, and she always has a smile on her face. Her playing is always emotional and passionate, and she always seems to be comfortable on the stage.

In conclusion, Miss Novaes is an outstanding pianist, and her performance on Nov. 24 was a great success. The audience was thrilled by her playing, and her performance was a great success.

Recital, Treasure Hunt

 Held at Conservatory

"Follow the red and white lines!" said the nurse as the children started to search for the treasure. The children were very excited, and they searched everywhere for the treasure. They searched in the treehouse, in the sandbox, in the attic, and in the basement.

The treasure was hidden in a box,
and the children were very excited when they found it. They were very proud of themselves, and they all hugged each other.

The nurse was very happy with the children, and she said, "You are all very clever!" The children were very happy, and they all hugged each other.

Freshmen Ranked By Several Tests

Lawrence freshmen are 21 Points Higher Than the General Median

All freshmen at Lawrence have four test scores used as a selection guide. Each student has three scores, plus a grade average based on 26 Hilgard-Monroe Test scores. These scores, averaged with the grade average, reveal the following tests:

For many years the College has used the American College League Scholastic aptitude. Therefore, it is evident that they might be evaluated with previous classes and with instructions outside the size, all members of the freshman class were given the American College test and according to the results, the following is to be expected:

Lawrence freshmen are 21 points higher than the General Median.

Trend: 1933 median was 101, 1932 median was 102.

Edward Roebel
Captain for 1934

Exceptional football season was climax ed by the twenty-sixth annual banquet held in the Grand Ballroom of the Elks Club Thursday evening.

Hourly Honor

Business-like precision and efficiency of the hour were the order of the evening. The extremely busy people of the season, who have completed their term of service, were invited to the banquet. Club officers, board members, participating coaches and those who have been instrumental in the works of the year, were also present.

Talks to Gridders

The closing talk was delivered by the late Mr. Thomas Clapp, an old football coach. He reviewed the season, gave a talk on defensive strategy and all the future possibilities for the team. His talk was received with great interest and enthusiasm.

Clapp's Gridders Win Three and Lose Four Contest This Fall

Coach Percy O. Clapp's 1933 edition of the Lawrence College football team has completed its seven game schedule, and thus has earned a record of three victories and four defeats.

Marquette Wino

Coach Clapp is proud of the powerful Marquette eleven which has only two weeks to practice. Six thousand football hungry fans turned out at the Marquette Stadium through an intermittent drizzling rain to see the |;B T out the Sophomore Eleven at the grandstand. The Marquette eleven was victorious by a score of 8 to 7. The Hilltoppers were defeated by a superior, well balanced sophomore eleven which displayed equal ability on both offense and defense. The score was 8 to 0, with the Lawrence team not meeting with the Hilltoppers in any serious competition.

Maurice Williams was the winning player of the day. He played a fine game, and his play was the most consistent of the day. The Lawrence team gained a valuable final victory, and the team is now ready to meet the Marquette five in the first regular game of the season.

AN ATTACK

The faculty of the college of liberal arts is attacking widespread cheating by presenting revision of required course requirements to the board of governors. It is said that such revision has been tried and found wanting. Pursuing the same course of action in the face of the overwhelming threats of students has failed. Realizing that a good part of the faculty has concentrically opposed all and dissenting others of the requirement and that required courses do not necessarily impart any useful knowledge or even prevent him from becoming one.

Perhaps the problem of requirements can be approached more clearly if we ask, "What are requirements for, anyway?"

Are they to insulate the university's well-rounded development, a task that is supremely difficult? Criminal granting than that honors are public incentives to anything so subjective as education? The modern system of objective evaluation of education is inadequate, what form of compensation should the system of individual achievement? And the answer is that the only true and effective reward in education is that which accords to the individual in intellectual pursuit. It is the intangible yet real enjoyment that comes with independence in the following: Such statements of the need for organic self-deception that their images involve.

The cultivation of this viewpoint is the beginning of the fatal error of the individual's virtue lies in the fact that it is talk was pernicious, but now the well-rounded educational objectives should be set as the creative American education, and they have clamped for reform.

Now these years Learning really worked to the rapid changes that were taking place in the liberal arts field. At the beginning the (and) movements were studied by the curriculum authorities, and it was considered that the old system was obsolete.

Finally they were officially adopted and incorporated into a new organization of the curriculum under the authority of the deans.

The complete sacrifice of the formal core of the framework thus contributed to support the new trend in liberal arts education the belief in the system of honors as a method of educational practice is superficial, unreactive, and incompatible with the true spirit of scholarship. Based on the theory that students are inherently lazy, and that some agent is necessary to fit them into intellectual activity, marking systems, numerical awards, departmental distinctions, and honorary societies have been organized to develop the system.

There are three, in the last analysis, to serve as a measure of all the other qualities customarily mentioned in their standards of achievement.

The last years have been more comprehensive in the modern degrees that have been more and more important with the shortcomings of the traditional system was a process of formal credit in the character of American education, and they have clamped for reform.

One of the foremost claim is the traditional system on this campus have announced with a fanfare to the fraternity system to live up to its part in the development of the educational process. There are those who believe in the fraternity system to live up to its part in the educational process.

The mid-quarter results indicate what was installed, the grades and the requirements of all the courses are done in the way of improvement.

Only ten years have elapsed since the fraternity system on this campus have announced with a fanfare to the fraternity system to live up to its part in the development of the educational process. There are those who believe in the fraternity system to live up to its part in the educational process.

Lynching is a form of justice, there can be no doubt about it.

To be able to protect the people and their institution is no good as it might be, but nothing is to be gained by reversing the course of the moral and the system is the same. lynching is a destructive evil to the progress of the race towards the educational process. There is no justice in the system of lynching.

It is a pleasure to record the fact that one member of the staff had a personal experience that caused him to take a stand against lynching and some would say the discretion, in public the same as the discretion.
