Big Three Conference Will be Dissolved Today

The last of the bodies securing the organization of the Big Three State Leagues was broken when F. Shattuck, commissioner since the Conference was established in 1924, sent in his resignation last week.

The text of the letter follows: "Mr. Shattuck, in the completion of his term of office, has found it impossible to continue as the Board of Health is worried, for the big group in the city that is not vaccinated. The epidemic has made already several objectives, all of which have now failed in a greater or lesser degree. Mace and Mortar Board Under Fire in Student Senate

The left wing of the Student Senate held the spotlight Tuesday night when it initiated a move against non-essential extra-curricular activities with the introduction of Senator Bradley's motion for the dissolution of Mace and Mortar Board.

According to Senator Bradley, Mace and Mortar Board had outlived their usefulness and now are responsible for the nucleus of an organization, the inner circle, that is detrimental to true education. With Denney. Bradley motion political strategist Senator Bradley's resolution was passed by a vote of 21 to 17.

The "L" Club Plans to Stage a Comeback

The "L" club is planning to stage a comeback. Formerly a powerful and active organization, the club, composed of thirty-three men who are seniors of variety "L," has lately declined in influence until the present officers decided it must be revamped. Mr. Robert Mace, president, has appointed a committee to ascertain the views of the officers and the members of the old organization. Mr. Mace announced that the results of this investigation will be available in a week or so, and that the members will be allowed to consider the matter.

Significant Move Inaugurated at Senate Meeting

Existing Honorary Societies Must Justify Their Existence

When Senator Bradley launched his move for dissolution of the Troup and Mortar Board Tuesday night, he not only presented a case against the way this campus a significant movement. Specifically, he pointed out that honorary societies existing on the campus have no clear purpose or function, and no program controlling the activities of the symposium on the campus. Senator Bradley noted that the current status of an organization as susceptible to interfraternity politics, and that these societies play an important part in campus life and just how adequately answered, namely whether the theories which leaders of the campus the students body is to a significant movement. The curtain will rise on the Lawrence basketball season Saturday evening when Coach Arthur Denney’s squad meets Marquette at the Hilltop gymnasium in Milwaukee. It will be the second game of the season for the Hilltoppers as they opened their campaign against the Ohio State Teachers’ College on Wednesday night.

Defensively promising but defensively uncertain, the 1933-34 Marquette basketball team has gradually rounded into form for a heavy 19-game schedule, the most formidable in the school’s history, and is being particularly tuned by Coach Bill Chandler for early major battles with Northwestern, Wisconsin, and Marquette.

Having been defeated in an overtime thriller by Phi Taus, whose play merits their selection as follows:

- Delta Sigma Tau: 24.332
- Theta Phi: 33.500
- Delta Iota: 42.664
- Beta Sigma Phi: 51.844

Clapp Announces Two Tournaments

Coach Perry Clapp has announced that the All College boxing and wrestling tournaments will be held early in the second season. There will probably be matches with other boxing and wrestling teams after the Viking championships have been determined.

The boxing squad, with most of the veterans returning, should be formidable. The defensive quintet is Simon Cherkovsky, lightweight; Forrest Bennett, featherweight; Bob Glassner, middleweight; Howard Adenfeldt, light heavyweight; and Johnny Vogel, heavyweight.

The men team did not lose a man, and with the added experience, the grapplers will be stronger than ever. Jim Gochman, 150 pound champion in 1932, has returned to fill his old position. The present title holder is Art Blask in the 120 pound class; Forrest Bennett, 135; Herb Weinstock, 140; Pete Trickle, 150; Hans Hartwig, 165; Ed Roster, 175; and Johnny Vogel, heavyweight.

Apparently the football players miss the strenuous exercise of the football season, for many of them may be seen working off their extra energy at a popular ballroom in West College Avenue. Just a little pre-season training for next year?

Clapp’s quartet won the 1933 intramural tournament title by completing a six-game schedule undefeated. Beta Sigma Phi took second place by defeating the Phi Delta Theta, 20-14, and the Theta Phi, 50-8, with a score of 8 to 15, 10 to 13, and 10 to 8. Theta Phi finished third in the series with a 3-3 record.

In other games played this week the Beta Theta Pi defeated the Delta Sigma Phi, 20-15, and the Delta Sigma Phi defeated the Theta Phi, 14-1. The Theta Phi took third place in the final standings.

Given in Journal

Since Glenn Thiedeke and his boys decided to walk off with the football state championship this year, they have consequently pleased the students by putting on their annual production of "Carroll Took To The Gridiron With a Bang." The play is written by a special correspondent of the Journal.

The play is given a verbal portrayal, of course, of the first Carroll football game, from the illustration of motion pictures, and the showing of an automobile, as the actors make the first Carroll football game start over again. We have not yet been given a picture of the "big bad wolf." They transported themselves in the air, and ran off at great speed.

Volleyball Games Begin

Marquette's Inter-Sorority League, consisting of the following members: Delta Sigma Theta, Kappa Delta Chi, Alpha Chi Omega, Delta Chi Omega, and Theta Phi Alpha, met on Wednesday, Jan. 17, to select the teams for the coming volleyball tournament. The teams selected were: Delta Sigma Theta vs. Alpha Chi Omega, Kappa Delta Chi vs. Theta Phi Alpha, Delta Chi Omega vs. Alpha Chi Omega, and Theta Phi Alpha vs. Delta Chi Omega.

The tournament was held in the old gym on Saturday afternoon. The teams played for the next scheduled tournament, which is to be held on March 18.

The Ego

That football of the psychology that the ego, as Carnap has often said, is blamed for much that we deprecate in campus life. It seems to us that we blame the ego for the potentialities of human nature in general. Whether or not it is fair to heap such reproaches upon a themeless concept is a truly ethereal question.

The President of the All College Club, who is also president of Mace, in a speech that was quite out of order, from the standpoint of parliamentary debate, treated the Senate to a lengthy and historic exposition of the sacred and the divine in the dark deeds of the "ego" throughout the ages. Again, the patterns of thought which the President draws and the conclusions he draws from them are not necessarily valid. The theory that the President puts forward is his theory, and it is for the interested reader to decide whether or not to accept it.

Among many of the conclusions that the President reaches, there is one that we feel is quite erroneous, to wit, that the "ego" is to blame for all of this, for after all it may be that the fails to follow the teacher in the midst of his own success. This is a question which is debatable, and therefore not so easily answered.

One of the better points is the one that the President makes, and that is, that the ego must be partially blamed for all that has happened. The President mentions the "ego" in the light of the ideas of Kant and others, and it is quite easy to see how he would come to such a conclusion.

The President also mentions the "ego" in the light of the ideas of Plato and others, and it is quite easy to see how he would come to such a conclusion.

The President also mentions the "ego" in the light of the ideas of Aristotle and others, and it is quite easy to see how he would come to such a conclusion.

The President also mentions the "ego" in the light of the ideas of Descartes and others, and it is quite easy to see how he would come to such a conclusion.

In conclusion, we feel that the President's speech does not contribute much to our understanding of the human nature and its potentialities.

In the case of abler students there is a need, but it is necessary to place a certain amount of balloting in the hands of the students as a means of remediating the state of affairs. This may be done in any number of ways, including the methods suggested by the Editorial Council.

In this light, it is quite easy to see how the President's ideas might come to be accepted by some people. The President's ideas are quite easy to understand, but they are not necessarily valid.

Dutch Cleanser

Dutch Cleanser, housecleaning, was used at the last meeting of the Senate to describe the kind of action that is necessary on the campus. This many clubs, too many activities, too many discussions are present which foster away from the student's time and take his attention away from the activity of getting an education.

This is, one may say, a generally accepted idea, but it is not true on this campus as on any other in the country. It is somewhat frequently met with in the freshest productions of educational authorities. The question of whether a student is educable or not is a question that must be answered by educational authorities. The question of whether a student is educable or not is a question that must be answered by educational authorities.
