The Groundhog couldn’t take it... he went down again for a coast of six weeks. He took the fatal look at the sun February morning, and flipping his tail nonchalantly returned to his home under the snow. Guity or Not Guity? Question: If you were a juror in the Hauptmann trial, how would you vote, considering the evidence presented in court? Dr. Trevor: Strong circumstantial evidence against Hauptmann, but after considering the possibility of error in this evidence and the knowledge that several important witnesses could not and would not testify for the defendant to the electric chair. Dr. Boettiger: Circumstantial evidence against Hauptmann not conclusive proof that Hauptmann commit the crime for which he is on trial . . . at present, current evidence seems to be a case in which two or more were involved; would vote for life imprisonment.

Institute Shows Marked Growth In Five Years

Celebrates Fifth Anniversary of Its Beginning Friday

Five years ago, three students established the original nucleus of the present Institute of Paper Chemistry. In 1910, the three formed the Institute of Paper Chemistry. On last Friday, the date was observed as the fifth anniversary of the Institute's beginning.

Through its affiliation with Lawrence College, the Institute has been in existence for five years. This association is thoroughly enjoyed. Recent changes were primarily the resignations of Robert Korth, former editor-in-chief, and of Vernon Beckman, former editor. Three new editors, the first a junior, and the latter a senior, have found that academic pressure and availability of comprehensive examinations combined to ensure the Institute's future.

In the upper right picture is Bill Emery. Lake Forest soccer forward who with the Vikings must step up if they fear to bear the terrors. The diminutive Emery is a consistent high goal and seldom misses a tree throw. He made eight straight against Lawrence on his home court. The upper left inset is Tommy Dyer whose driving push against Lawrence early in the season dropped the Vikings' offense.

Members of the 1935 squad are: back row, left to right, Bill Blum and Dave Jones back as probably start at forwards, with Bill Ashman to a forward position. Both Straubel has had a lame back, due to a fall, but will be ready to help.

Vikings to Meet Carleton Tonight In Return Game

Regular Practice, Return Of Pfeifer Increases Vikings Hopes

Tonight the Viking basketball team invades the far north seeking its first major win of the season in a match with Northfield, Minnesota. This weekend trip also includes a game with Manhattan College of St. Paul tomorrow night, Saturday, February 9.

All indications point to open games and the outcome will be clearly contested. Coach Denney's boys will be too much for Coach Dennis' team when it scored 38-23 last year. Dennis has improved his team in the second semester, and Manhattan also shows more power than a small school if one were comparing schedule.

There is some chance that Pfeifer at center, and defense.

The intercollegiate volleyball tournament was brought to a close when the unevenly matched teams, led by the opposite sides, played to the bitter end. five courses. A division of physics has been completed and at the present time three men are directing study and research in this field. Studies in physics, biology, and mathematics are being carried on by the physics laboratory, with the assistance of the staff. The work of the physics laboratory has been greatly expanded and whenever possible, special emphasis is laid on actual experiment work. The emphasis has been placed on the study of practical and applied physics, and the results have been used in the development of new courses.

Dedicated in 1931, the J. A. Klintebury Memorial building houses a variety of library facilities. The library has grown rapidly since its inception and has become a center for research and study. The library is open to the public and is situated in the center of the campus.
