Homecoming is one of the high spots of the year because all alumni return to Lawrence and their friends, and the students will be particularly interested in the mix of fixed elections, and in the frequent understandings and unrepeatable presentations of fraternal organizations by competitive groups. The "squid," I suppose, will think I look like the prodigal, but I feel like a rookie and no rookie can beat me in sport. I can still make as many touchdowns as anybody else, if some huskies will know them ever and run for me. The flesh is weaker, but the spirit is still young, the touch-down spirit yet. Vikings Confident of Homecoming Battle

Rivalry Started
Way Back in '93

Lawrence Has Won 14 of Ripon 14 of Annual Fraus

Long before Homecoming took its place in Lawrence's history, the Vikings and Ripon were traditional rivals. Their rivalry began way back in 1893 when Ripon beat the Blue and White 14-6. Because of this keen rivalry it was only fitting that Ripon was Lawrence's first Homecoming opponent.

The first of the now annual Homecomings was November 15. The game against Ripon was one of the highlights of the early period of the college. The game was held in the Coliseum, which was the site of the school's athletic events. Lawrence was favored to win this game, and they did.

Since that first Homecoming there have been only four ties (1919, 1923, 1925, and 1935). Of all the Lawrence-Ripon games, the one which is most remembered was the 1935 game which was played in the old Coliseum. The Vikings had scored a touchdown in the first quarter, and Lawrence had scored a touchdown in the second quarter. The score was 14-14 at halftime. The third quarter was scoreless, and the game ended in a tie.

In the years since then, the Homecoming game between Lawrence and Ripon has been a major event on the college calendar. The game is always held in the campus stadium, and the students and alumni have always enjoyed it.

With Homecoming in the air, our thoughts turn to an instant to Laurier home games. The Vikings had not seen a Homecoming game since 1927 and with a chance of adding to their won record they were set to break the losing streak. The Lawrence home team took a more familiar approach to the match. The boys from the north in every way — running, passing, punting, and blocking, etc. but one play which was much more familiar to the Vikings was the extra point try. Lawrence kicked it over from Carleton, but missed. As the Vikings had been set to break the losing streak.

The Vikes had 22 first downs and Ripon had 20. The Vikings had 221 total yards and Ripon had 219 total yards. The Vikings had 10 first downs and Ripon had 9. The Vikings won the game, 7-0. It was a lucky score for the Vikings, as Lawrence had scored first and the students were given a thrill when just before the final gun was sounded, the Blue and White scored a touchdown in the Carleton end. Lawrence had been stopped on the final drive for the second time in the game.

From these statistics and from the years' performances it is easy to see that Ripon holds the scoring honors 64-40. Lawrence hasn't beaten Ripon in a win and loss department and also pon games are considered Lawrence's.
Homecoming in Dr. Plantz’s Day Recalled

It was different then. The football field was newer, on Winnebago Street, and town and college went out en masse. Dr. Plantz stood on the corner with his hands behind him, and a whole-hearted smile on his face, viewing the crowd that always gathered in front of Main Hall to parade in the field stadium. Those were the days when girls wore big four-button coats and thought about being warm.

There was a big warm fire around the field, with appropriate bonfire-ness, caused while all the kids clustered. When no one was looking they appeared through the holes in the fence, never mind if they didn’t look too much different. It was sport if you had to go.

Going On

Often there was noise at stake on these games than either players or fans knew about. Our fellows, we knew about, had piled up some scores that he was eager to have announced. These were being taunted against Lawrence, on the Homecoming game that year, but he knew we were going to win. All he needed was fifty dollars, and he finally got that by means of a very per­sonal kind-hearted Lawrence missionary.

Many, many, who used to be abroad on the campus, had a long black cravat which their Lawrence called “the crop” that they used to draw around the aiming whisper­er Lawrence lost. This particular Homecoming game was with Ripon. After Lawrence was scored early in the game and then held up until the very end. All hope was gone. News came that we had lost, and “the cravats” were put up.

Next in the last minute and a half Lawrence took a touchdown from the one-yard point. The game was won, and the fans rode for victory, and graduated.

Bouquets in the Fall

After that the bouquets. All hands went for flowers around town, collected and piled in front of Main Hall. Boquet-ers would and graduated already and have all possible things that they would send up outside. Hance were piled fifteen feet high, and the cheer could be seen all over town. Those were the days.

Laurencians Sold Booster Tags For First Homecoming in 1919

In the year 1919 Lawrence College decided to have a homecom­ing celebration. For weeks ahead of that time plans were laid, and on the next Saturday before Homecoming, students went out in a driving rain to sell $200 of booster tidy for the game.

Sports were high. The "Lawren-cians Greatest Weekly," says: Homecoming is to be a grand affair. It will bring back to Law­rence the old Lawrence spirit of former years and will show the type of men and women Lawrence graduates are.

Alums Return

On Friday over one hundred almost registered in the assembly. The city of Appleton was thrown open to them. Old friends gathered one another and talked about foot­ball and Lawrence, and then more football and more Lawrence. They tried to find a "homecoming" picture around the campus, and there liked the brief and shapely bits of the students.

By night both alumni and students had reached a peak of enthusiasm. Then suddenly bunched appeared and the shooting mob streamed down College Avenue in the tradi­tional torch-light parade.

On Saturday morning the alumni visited the scenes of their college days. At noon all L men met at Main Hall to parade to the field stadium. Shop-keepers would put up.

The Lawrentian reports that the first Homecoming was a success. "Alumni cooperated with understu­dents, entering into the spirit of the occasion and with the ex­citement of youth completely ex­tinguished Lawrence for two days"
