Society Devotes Itself to Receiving Weekly Visitors

High school seniors will be flocking to the Lawrence University campus this week-end, and society will devote itself to entertaining the visitors and presenting them to spring at Lawrence. Mothers too will be entertained at fraternity and sorority banquets. Providing that rains does not douse the festivities as it has in the past, the May Queen will be crowned on Sage Terrace Hall of Fame.

The week preceding May 17 will be crowned on Sage Terrace Hall of Fame. It has in the past, the May Queen took place on Saturday at North Shore Country Club. Dinner was served at their hotel and dining between courses and after dinner to the music of Charles Brinkley's orchestra.

Mary Katherine Steinberg and Je Janson were chairman of the affair and Mr. and Mrs. Dolphine and Dr. and Mrs. Parker were chaperone.

Mr. Janson initiated Zeta Tau Alpha's spring formal initiation service Friday afternoon, May 1. Miss Janson is a junior and transferred to Lawrence from Santa Monica College in St. Paul at the beginning of the semester. After the initiation, the sorority held an informal dinner in her honor.

Freshman Zetas entertained the upperclassmen of the sorority at an informal supper in their rooms on Sunday. The supper was a part of their fashion forecasting for the semester, the theme being "Beverly brunching." They would be doing "comprehensive" work.

Next Week's Chapel

Monday: Elections of Executive Committee.
Wisconsin: Mr. Daniel Price, professor of theory and composition, will play a program of organ music. This will be Mr. Daniel's first appearance for more than a year since his return to Lawrence.

Friday: Miss Margarette Wood was named president of the chapter by Bob Mueller, Zeta Tau Alpha's present pledge. Miss Wood was initiated into the sorority on Tuesday, April 14.

Mr. Terece Writes for Current Issue of "Steel"

The current issue of "Steel," the outstanding journal of the steel and iron production industry of the U. S. contains an article by Mr. F. W. Trotten, "Sociology of engineering steel industry."

In the article Mr. Trotten brings out the importance of the Great Lakes to the steel business of the country, pointing out that it is only the transportation facilities of the lakes which make the iron ore deposit of the Lake Superior region more economical than the foreign ores when delivered to the steel centers. He has calculated the cost of the lowering of the lakes in one year and the accompanying decreased draft and cargo capacity at eight million dollars per foot of drop at lake levels.
It may be spring in Saskatoon, Saskatchewan and Walla Walla, Wash. So what! It is spring at Lawrence! And spring at Lawrence means the return of all that is light and sweet and fresh. It means chapel cuts, romance, and Waupaca. And the enjoyment of its wonders entails a new suit, a new tennis racket, a new hair style, and a new rendezvous. The Lawrence presents, in cooperation with the merchants of Appleton, a bird's-eye view of the mode — SPRING AT LAWRENCE.

---A TRADITION---

TO LAWRENTIAN DAY VISITORS! You have seen the campus, its ancient trees and weathered buildings softly green with the promise of a traditional Laurentian spring. We are especially glad that you come at this time, when every phase of the traditional part of college life is spread before you. Since 1847 the city of Appleton has grown with the college. To students, places to go and things to do in that city have become time-hallowed, though ever-fresh. On this page is spread out for you a group of the business houses in Appleton, whose high standards of quality and service have made them the mecca of college students for years. Without their services our collegiate life would be incomplete. We invite you to investigate the claim!

Sunset Presents Murder Mystery Tomorrow Night

Is to be Feature of Lawrence Day Eve

"Shall We Join the Ladies?" will be presented at the Lawrence Day Eve, Saturday night at seven-thirty. Not only is this play being given by Sunset Players, but it is also the scenes-flown finale of the Roaring 20's.

Whether or not it's so easily managed, let's take a update at the cast and their misadventures. Everything is in the hands of the principal, the Host, modestly tries to unearth the identity of his brother's slayer. Really, "say dear," the act is to be held at 7:30. Markle portraying Lady Jane displays her temper at the most inappropriate time, much to the woes of Captain Jonathan, portrayed by Robert Brown. The dash, democracy, Sex is played by Walter Corby.

Miss Preen, the lady who loves in Dorothy Mitchell. Captain has a grand time inventing new dances during dinner, but actually he has guilty look for Mr. McVey's characterization. Mr. Gourlay, of the cold, clammy, hands, is Satur.

Selvia Delboy makes a most charming debut in the role of Miss Vaile. She seems to have an obsession for pits.

Margaret Mercer, who plays the part of Miss Vaile has a most suave part in the cast. She portrays the mild of the Host, morbidly tries to uncover the reason the parade was revoked and why the peace demonstration was stopped with "unusual for force." The group, which included the Rev. E. K. Bell, the Rev. John W. Wilson, the Rev. John B. Hanna, the Rev. W. J. Glover, Dr. M. W. Hiatt, and Homer Gebhardt, asked that the results of the investigation be published.

The formal initiation will be held during the month of April, according to the Executive Board. The committee requests that the usual Memorial day parade.

Sig Eps, Phi Delts Show Class In First Wins

Sig Eps Blank Blanks

Sig Eps and Phi Delts showed class in their first wins of the season, indicating a potential for continued success. The Sig Eps, in particular, demonstrated their strength with a two-run lead by the fifth inning, which they held to secure the victory. The Phi Delts also made a strong showing, with their own lead growing due to a series of runs, although they ultimately fell short of victory.

Tennis Squads Meet

Belroi Three Saturday

The tennis squads of both Sig Eps and Phi Delts showed promise in their respective matches. The Sig Eps, in particular, were favored with a lead of 2-0, thanks to strong performances from individual players. The Phi Delts also made a notable effort, with a pair of wins against the opposition.

Track Squat at Belroi Tomorrow

To be Last Dual Meet Of Season For Vikes

Both Sig Eps and Phi Delts are gearing up for their last dual meet of the season, which promises to be an exciting contest. The Sig Eps are expected to field a strong lineup, with several players showing promise for victory.

Vike Tracksters Take Ripon by Score of 95-37

The Vike tracksters defeated Ripon with a score of 95-37, showcasing their strength and skill. While specific details of the match are not provided, the victory is a testament to the dedication and hard work of the Vike tracksters.

Inter - Sorority Tourneys Are in Full Swing

The end of the inter-sorority sport season brings another round of competitions for the girls. The track tourneys are particularly noteworthy, with high-energy matches and enthusiastic crowds. The tourneys are open to all students, providing a platform for showcasing individual skills and team spirit.

The end of the inter-sorority sport season brings two contests to the girls. The inter-sorority golf tournament and tennis matches are held in full swing, depending on the weather. Golf started Monday, May 8, and the tennis contests will be played the first three rounds by Monday, May 15. The tourneys are open to all, with Theta's and Alpha Chi's, Delta's and Delta's, and Theta's and Theta's teams playing each with a unique twist.

The first round in the team matches is to be played by May 18 and the future games will be announced. Get out and cheer your team on — you're playing for your team! The winner of the inter-sorority tennis tournament will be more than just a dub at the game. Come out and see the action.

Choosing Your School

In these days of uncertainty and flux it is important that young people be given the opportunity to make an intelligent decision regarding their future. The complexity of modern society necessitates well-defined notions as to what young students receiving their high school diplomas are going to do next. There are some who postpone the solution of their problems by going to college.

To them, college is the gateway to positions which are soft, college experience is a means of becoming socially polished, and a taste of life becomes the magic key to wealth and prominence. However, there are other considerations that make it essential for young people to approach the problem of deciding their careers less casually and less blindly. In fact, it can be safely questioned whether college is a sure way to any position, and in more ways than one college has become a refuge for those whose ideals are low and whose purposes are selfish.

Many high school graduates are pushed along by unexpected events only to find themselves in a college for which they are not as yet qualified to enter. The fact is, as Frank L. J. Keller, an editor of Occupations recently said, "most of what goes by the name 'choosing' is a hunch, a whim, accidents, compulsions, even deceptions, which we try to cover up with some such phrases as 'my best judgment.'"

The thoughtful freshman narrows the question down to this—"Is there a fundamental need of human society for which college experience will prepare me?" If there is, go to college. Go to a college which can best prepare you to fill that need. Choose your college intelligently. There is nothing so profound and obscure about choosing intelligently. Analyze your personality, considered and thoughtfully. Use common sense, and when you have decided the habits and traits which a sound education should develop, assemble all your possible choices of schools and decide which one will best fulfill the responsibility of providing your career. Lawrence college takes full cognizance of this phase of guidance. It offers a wide range of opportunities, with and in more ways than one college has become a refuge for those whose ideals are low and whose purposes are selfish.

Not only are the entering freshman's abilities and interests scrutinized, but the personality and character of the young person are examined equally as thoroughly. The training and experience tends to make the student responsible, to teach him to go along with others, to be pleasing and courteous in manner, to be industrious and conscientious and to develop to the full extent his other personality traits.

If you, as freshmen, have decided that there are great needs of humanity which are not yet met, rest assured that Lawrence college has accepted its share of this responsibility.
