Executive Committee Approves Student Body Constitution Revision

SPRING APPORTIONS

For the third consecutive year the revisions of the Student Body Constitution comes up for student approval. Almost hurled by precedent the Executive Committee Monday evening approved the reorganization of the Student Body Constitution by a vote of 10 to one. The changes were suggested by the speaker, Mr. Alvin P. Lies, of the document and, as a matter of fact, for the interest of the school organization. Further changes necessitated a second special meeting on Wednesday to consider a plan of organization for the interscholal representation of minority groups. It is proposed that a council be elected by the four classes, one class representative and one officer of the council. Among the benefits of the new constitution are:

1. The reorganization of the executive council will also make possible the appoint of the sub-committee chairmen who in turn are to handle the various functions and requirements of the student body. The only leader in the installation of officers and representatives will be made possible the appointment of the sub-committees in the student body. This will result in a more orderly and efficient broadcasting of the executive council.

2. The constitution revision from June 1, May 13 of this year will make it possible the appointment of the chairman of the sub-committees in the student body. The purpose of the complete reorganization is to make it possible for the executive council to advance and to facilitate advance planning of the social and pop parties in the fall.

3. The new constitution will also change the system executive council for the apportionment of the Executive Council.

Trevor Reviews Book About Roman Economy

Dr. A. A. Trevor, professor of economics at Lawrence, reviewed "Rome's Economy" by Tenney Frank, a volume in the six-volume work by Tenney Frank, "About Roman Economy." The first volume of this work was published in 1933 by the University of Chicago Press.

Mr. Trevor brings to his review the point of view of an economist who has studied the economic conditions of ancient Rome. He points out that the economic conditions in ancient Rome were not so different from those in modern times.

"The purpose of the complete work was to bring together in a single volume the economic conditions of ancient Rome. The first volume of this work was published in 1933 by the University of Chicago Press."

Committee and the Social Committee into a single fund, the same to be administered by the Executive Committee for its and the sub-committee's purposes.

Preferential Balloting

Completely new at Lawrence was the plan of preferential balloting submitted by Thomas Jenkin which was incorporated into the constitution revision. The same system of balloting is used in many U. S. colleges of which Columbia College and Chicago University are two. Two variations are used to meet specific needs here. For the election of the officers the Ware system is used. The Ware system is employed in the election of the regular executive committee members. Nominations for either offices of committee members are made through petitions to the Executive Committee at least a week in advance. No petition must bear the names of at least thirty signers.

Ware System Suggested

In the election of executive members the Ware system of preferential balloting is used, according to second choices until a sufficient number of candidates are elected. If, on the first distribution of tickets, any two or more candidates are in a tie, surplus votes are distributed according to second choices. Starting with the nominee whose votes total the quotient obtained when the total number of candidates is divided by the number of candidates elected, the surplus votes are distributed according to second choices until a sufficient number of candidates are elected.

Officers Require Majority

In the election of officers the same system of vote preference is used except that, since the number of candidates to be elected is assumed to be one, surplus votes are distributed according to second choices in the same way. Starting with the nominee whose votes total the quotient obtained when the total number of candidates is divided by the number of candidates elected, the surplus votes are distributed according to second choices until a sufficient number of candidates are elected.

Preferential Balloting

Dr. A. H. Weston, president of Delta Sigma Tau, is majoring in chemistry. He has won honors consistently, and is expected to graduate this spring.

In the election of Executive members the plan of preferential balloting is used. The names of committee members are submitted by the Executive Committee and the Social Committee in turn. Nomination for either officers of committee members are made through petitions to the Executive Committee at least a week in advance. No petition must bear the names of at least thirty signers.

Preferential Balloting

Dr. M. M. Bober, professor of economics, addressed the Appleton Current Events Group on Friday, November 13, at the college library. He discussed the results of the election survey conducted a short time ago. The survey showed that students of Ohio State and Lawrence have no confidence that the war is coming to an end.

Preferential Balloting

Announcement was also made that the President's Club of Neenah, Wisconsin, will sponsor a tea for Lawrence faculty and their wives, all students who have had honors in the last year, and parents of the newly elected Phi Beta Kappa members.

Preferential Balloting

Dr. Bober also spoke before the Woman's Tuesday Club of Neenah on last Tuesday, speaking again on the administration.

Preferential Balloting

Announcement was also made this morning of the new members of Phi Epsilon Pi. The group is a social society. Those elected last year were Jeanne E. Conner and Army Maripalde, and this year additions includes Betty Jo Bradham, Mary Elizabeth McManus, Helen Peters, and Betty Brinkman, and Betty Jane Mezesz.

Within the course of history, historically a profound and lasting change has been the general decline of all institutions, they begin to decay and lose meaning when little men who have no true concern for the composition of the important spirit of an ideal, erect false goals in place of the original; objective forms no longer are symbols recognition of achievement, but instead actually become goals in themselves. Pseudo-intellectuals is a subjective one in their birth. Today, when we honor those who have achieved academic reward and recognition become nothing more than mere hard work.

The next important proposal which the Committee and for a fairer election of the Executive Committee. It shows that the minority groups on the campus have at least a much better chance for representation in student government. Along with the sweeping reform of academic government, even though short-lived, in the campus.
