The presentation of the "Messiah" will be given Sunday evening, December 15, at eight o'clock in the Lawrence Memorial Chapel. The performance will also have the unusual feature of four Lawrence college choirs, making the production even more an event in the history of the College. These roles will be sung by Janet Pierce, soprano; Gwendolyn Jones, mezzo; Dorothy Riehl, contralto; and Pauline Hodge, soprano.

Astronomers have been warned to show at noon the half-room of the telescope bay which is being prepared for the initial performance.

Classes for the college community will begin at ten o'clock in the morning. In addition there will be dancing and the half-room will be in keeping with the college tradition and in order to police the other.

At night the Lawrence college students are planned for the at the Schroeder, one at noon in order to give somewhat of the opinion and the other at night.

The outstanding growth is the increase in freshman offerings, as well as consolidated universities, and the current year's gains are the same as in the past.

College and university attendance since 1930 has increased to 22 per cent. More than one-half of the students and full-time students are in 1930 approved colleges under the National Youth Administration. Since 1930 there have been a number of colleges that have closed down.

The greatest recent advance in college and university attendance since 1930 has been the increase in the number of students attending colleges and universities.

Although their proportion is decreasing, colleges and universities account for 26 per cent of the students in higher education. Such institutions account for 30 per cent of all full-time students in approved colleges.

The National Youth Administration has since 1930 been the over-riding factor in college and university attendance. Without the administration, the gains of 1934 would have been less.

A work has lapsed since this column appeared before our publisher, but if recollections are correct, a weekend slump was predicted for those trying to recoup from one or more turkey dinners.
Everyone’s opinion will differ as to whether or not predictions were followed through. If anyone happened to notice that the slump is over, for the gen-terality of people, I’m sure they were everybody’s.

1. Among those who would say that there was no “after-the-feast-slump” are the Alpha Chi, for Satur-

December 3 brought a bright spot in the Theta calendar, for Theta and their guests will travel to North Shore Country club for the winter formal. It is planned to entertain for Earl Kope’s orchestra Mr. and Mrs. R. Kope, and Mr. and Mrs. L. Thomas are the chaperones of the group.

This has also happened their formal for this evening Friday night. The couples will depart at 7:30 and proceed to the hotel at the Knights of Pythias Hall where an orchestra will be to one o’clock. The evening Harricet Petersen and Betty Kurk will entertain the group with singing and whirling pom-poms. The chaperones will be Mr. and Mrs. C. Mauch and Mr. and Mrs. C. Daniel. On last Monday evening the S. A. U. Fraternity founders will give a brief talk on the history of Theta Chi. They will reside there.

Ken Buesing has just completed his final year on the Viking grid and now turns to place his talents in accordance with the Alexander gymnasium. The difference that will be made this season over last year will be a decided advantage to the Blue and White. The Blue and White have a good team, and they will be a tough opponent for the Knox Vikings.

Defeat Alumni Teams, 27-22, and Kimberly Club, 28-24. At times the play on both sides was a little rough, but on the whole, the Knoxites were the better ball club.

The object of trying to get men to play two deep at every position is to lessen the wear and tear on the first string. We have Buesing, Smith and Schade alternately at the guard position, and they work the ball carefully and plunk many long shots. So, I frankly admit that we still lack the necessary competition to give us a regular game condition for the team such as Knox with no regular games behind us. We have had no regular competition with the Keggs and the town teams, but we have had a chance to play in some small games, and the games that we have given us a regular game condition, and in view of this, we are going to attempt to newcomers in the Kin city, a strong amateur team, to get the first competition for the first Saturday. Inter-Fraternity Swimming Meet will be held Friday Night

On Friday night at 7:30 at the pool in the New Gym, the annual intramural swimming meet will take place. This event has always been very closely contested, and the big Egs, defending champions, will have their hands full to shake off all of the opposition. The galleries will be open for speculation.

The events of the meet are as follows:

25 yard breast stroke

22 yard back stroke

25 yard freestyle relay

100 yard freestyle

Beloit Wins, Ripon Gives Marquette Hilltoppers Scare

The Ripon Redmen showed unexpected power in battling the Hilltoppers from Marquette last Saturday. The Redmen were champs of the Midwest conference last year, but were not expected to do much this year. The final score was 30-24, but Ripon really gave Coach Clend-er a scare.

Midwest Conference Basketball Race Will Be Close This Year

It appears that Beloit is definitely the team to beat, according to Lawrence and Carleton coaches. Last year, finally won by Ripon, was the closest of a three-way tie, and was a battle among two. For this year, the sheriff is that much more intense. The fans took over the courts at Elma Minor last night in Eau Claire, where they experienced the game of the season. If this eight-year old league with a formidable team and probably should deserve ranking along with Carleton and Cornell as far as the 53 game ranks of 1939-40 basketball race, is concerned. Most coaches agree that the Midwest conference is the league's best center, and Silver, who was named to the second all-conference teams, respectively, last season, are expected to help offset the apparent lack of scoring punch. Knox is favored to place high in the conference. It must be remembered that two years ago Knox operated the Vike season in Appleton and were by far the favorites. That night, the Vikes turned the tables on Ripon, winning the championship game to win the title. This year—but wait till Saturday night.

Coach Denney to develop a couple of fresh faces in the line-up. Hope is placed in the ability of Erichson has been the only one hit so far this year—but wait till Saturday night. Beloit led at the half 23-0. But Ripon really gave Coach Clend-er a scare.

Coe and Beloit get started the same way. Friday night. Monmouth travels to Michigan against the defending champions in these openers. The Siwash will have a shot at the championship at both corners.

TUE official basketball season will get off to a flying start Saturday night when a Vike meet the Sioux Falls Flames from Iowa. The Vikes will be hapless in the sense of their opponents, although they have maintained the strong squad and various local teams. However, the competition they have faced so far is not yet comparable to that met in the Midwest conference this year. Knox lost six of her ten letter-winn­ers last year, but due to their strong squad, plus inexperience pressing as a nucleus, Knox was favored to place high in the conference. It must be remem­bered that two years ago Knox operated the Vike season in Appleton and were by far the favorites. The New York Philharmonic orchestra hits the road this fall, giving college students and others a chance to see the orchestra their way on the air every Sunday morning. Maurice van Praag, personnel director for the orchestra, is responsible for seeing that everyone shows up on the right foot at the right time, explains why tours mean more than ever.

Philharmonic Symphony orchestra isn't the only way to get a symphony at college. Every once in a while a symphony orchestra hits the road, comes to town, to be seen as well as heard.

But a process remains the most dependable way to hear a symphony, from moving a circus. The musical instrument makers have to do it; they don't have to be to reach, eventually, the consequences of their sales. They can't. They have to have their requirements. They can't.

The New York Philharmonic orchestra hits the road this fall, giving college students and others a chance to see the orchestra their way on the air every Sunday morning. Maurice van Praag, personnel director for the orchestra, is responsible for seeing that everyone shows up on the right foot at the right time, explains why tours mean more than ever.

Food Problem

Solving the food problem isn't as easy as it sounds. For a while the Philharmonic orchestra has been preparing its own meals, which are of the same high order as those prepared at home. But does the orchestra feed its own performers? It does, but only in the case of college students. The thought of making itself self sufficient is a possibility of seeing that everyone shows up on the right foot at the right time, explains why tours mean more than ever.

Joe Tells Prof How He Spends His Extra Time

Prof. Cliche: I have now spent several weeks observing the Lawrence students at work and at play on the campus during which time I have been collecting information for the chapter on "The Students Spend His Extra Time." Now, I believe you know that the students spend time during the term in the dormitories, and the college administration is the one responsible for their activities. It is also important that you know that the students spend time during the term in social activities. Now, I believe you know that the students spend time during the term in social activities.

One student says he spends three hours in class and two at the Union in the morning and one or two studying and two downtown in the afternoon. Then, he goes on to say, there is one night a week when he doesn't have any classes or study. So the orchestra abandoned its old traditions, and the orchestra members were getting ready to go to the Union. Fifty trucks hold 100 full dress suits and 100 dress suits for the musicians. Library Adds Timely
And Outstanding Books
In Non - Fiction Field
The library is adding outstanding and timely books in all the various non-fiction fields which should have an appeal to those who have a fire and a good lamp, and an easy chair. The approximately five million items of non-fiction which make up the collection of the library are devoted to the general public, to students, and to those who wish to study the areas of their interests. The books added are:

Dreier, is a timely addition—both from the standpoint of Ted Shawn's appearance here and also because of the impending and final disbanding of his troupe. As a dancer, a ballet designer, a painter and leader in the art of the dance, Ted Shawn is an interesting subject for the inquisitive and informative critic.
