Appoints Solicitors At Dormitories

Plans for the Red Cross drive on campus are being made by the executive committee. Representatives have been appointed to the several dormitories to solicit contributions for the drive. The drive is important to the Red Cross because of the lack of funds needed for the work.

\[\text{Capacity Crowd at Chapel} \]

The selection of Miss Kirsten Flagstad as the premier artist of the Lawrence Memorial chapel

Chorus night with a "standing-room-only" crowd. It was hard to visualize the great opera diva in any other context than in a setting of symphonies and choruses. His selection of music was appropriate for the seasonal change.

There must have been deliberations with the committee who decided on the program which consisted of two Wagner numbers, and an opera. However, even her renditions of the arias from

"Lohengrin" and "Wagner's Islander" have been compensated for the discordance of the season.

The choice of an all Norwegians program for the second concert was a matter of "diminishing returns" for the organization.

The songs seemed to be necessary for the program, but for they were her native songs.

However, the audience appreciated her fine work.

\[\text{Don't Miss L. W. A. Dance Tomorrow} \]

Meet L. W. A. and her orchestra will play for the L. W. A. Thanksgiving dance which will be held from 8:00 to 10:00 p.m. at the Little Green tomorrow afternoon.

You don't have to have a dance for this affair. Just remember over after Thanksgiving meal if you didn't dig that Thursday night. But even the ones who won't care much should have a couple of dollars to have anyplace the crowds are large. Remember—5:30 to 6:00 p.m. No

November 21, we'll be seeing you.

Kirksten Flagstad, Norwegian soprano, has much the same charm about her as the famous Sibelius. Her voice is clear and pure, her diction is perfect, and her stage manner is highly professional. Her performance was a sensation, and even those who are not connoisseurs of music were charmed by her performance.

Basketball Prospects Are Hopeful This Year

Squad Is Built Around Frederickson, Last Year's High Scorer

Lawrence college will have a larger squad numerically, a young but a spirited group that will impress quickly the opinion of Coach A. C. Denney, as he discussed his 1940-41 featured picture. The fact that the squad of seventeen men is small, is a wonder. Art Schade, center, is evidencer that Denney squad is in the building stage. He said, "We have the departure of Don Frederickson, forward, there is an outstanding ability on the team, but the eleven spirited sophomores will keep chemistry going on the first five minutes until everyone moving.

For the first time in three years, Denney feels that he will have replacements to prevent opponents from wearing down his starting five and taking games in the last five minutes as happened on many occasions during the past few seasons. Time and again, Lawrence led in the opposition's final minute, only to have a fourth foul, another foul, and a foul or exclusion, ruin a smooth working combination and call for substitute replacements.

The starting five consists of five experienced players, instead of one center. Denney can now call on five good backs, Schade, there are William Cross, Herbert Krehm, James McRae, and Warren McRae. The latter two can also be used outside. Brains and skill is the mainspring of the team, and taking games in the last five minutes as happened on many occasions during the past few seasons.

A family of Russians, poverty-stricken and exiled in Tientsin, opera a creaky boarding house into whose portal comes a merry band of world wanderers. With characteristic Russian spirit the family builds a new life for itself and takes into the warm light of its affection, and sympathy, the ragged and the innocent. Mervyn LeRoy takes the most vital requisite of a screen drama, a vivid picture of all that keeps his film the most impressive. O ur greatest motion picture performance, in spite of some of the book's weaknesses, is that of Norma Shearer as the Countess; it is a performance of dignity and maturity; and Robert Taylor's Mark is probably the best role ever given him. The picture is not very funny. Mr. Barrmore's role is not very funny. Mr. Shearer's role is probably the best role ever given her.

Gordon Schurtleff won the copy of Ethyl Vance's book "Escape" for his performance in the contest.

On the college's program for the third time in the history of the league.

In the usual Hollywood sense: it is not very funny. Mr. Barrymore's role is not very funny. Mr. Taylor attemps a role of very significant importance. He is interesting enough to make us wish we could see another actor in the part, but in "Escape" he manages to add to the usual gross enthujiasm and to present a performance which is both likeable and convincing. Conrad Veidt is excellent in the German officer, albeit his role is insufficiently explained or motivated. Robert Young's role is the one man, the single man, the sensitive young foreigner in the film. He builds a new life for itself and exiled in Tientsin, op
