Navy Band
Gives Concert
This Evening

Chief Specialist George H. Churchill will direct the Lawrence College Navy Band for the last time when it presents a free public concert at 8:00 o'clock Friday evening at the chapel.

Churchill organized and has directed the band since its inception in July of last year. The band made its initial appearance during the parade of the Army War Show that month, and has appeared at numerous functions throughout the Fox River valley, as well as presenting weekly concerts throughout the year.

Tonight's Friday evening concert, which will be won by the "payees" present at the chapel, will be followed by a "payees" dance band.

Watts Confers Music Degree

Robert C. Caernasen, eminent French pianist and composer, last night was awarded the Doctor of Music degree by Lawrence College. The degree was conferred by Ed. J. Watts, acting president of the college.

The brief ceremony was held during the intermission of a concert of the Lawrence College Symphony Orchestra, which was opened by the late William L. Runger, the college's most distinguished music instructor.

The French artist, who made his American debut in 1935 and for over 20 years has been adored by the New York Philharmonic-Symphony orchestra, is considered one of the greatest pianists in the concert world.

Ivories from the various sections staged

The Lawrence College Band will perform at the annual Arm's Fair at Fort Bragg this evening. The band's performance will be the highlight of the event.

The Lawrence College Band, under the direction of Colonel Bucher, will perform a variety of music, including patriotic favorites and classical selections.

The event is open to the public, and attendees are encouraged to arrive early to secure their seats.

Co-editor’s Cognitions

In defense of our guest speakers, faculty members, students who kindly consent to mount the podium for us, for the purpose of making pronouncements, the Lawrence is promoting many interesting and worthwhile ideas. It has been reported that a number of stunts have no particular point for the whole student audience, and it is certainly desirable to have many student leaders. Therefore the attitude is taken that a small group of students who are on teams, and who do not do well in school, are more likely to be bored out.

When a garrulous student is at the center of the room, the instructor must step on the floor. Or he must occasionally speak. Or a couple of people in the audience must be sought to see who can cut out the din. When a serious atmosphere is desired, all groups individually feel called upon to exercise the sense of humor.

Be Kind to Wilbur Week

So They Say—

The following comment was heard as one emerges from the beehive of a student at Lawrence, and gives a clear indication of the condition of the student body at the moment.

By ANGELINE M. TART

Although we’ve lived through the month of March, another has begun. We are in the month of April, and life on the Lawrence campus is far from dull. There are several interesting and important activities afoot.

The mainline members of the student body are devoted to the work of hair, hair, hair, and just looking around in general. There is a great deal of hair, and that is why we have a large number of people who are in the process of getting hair cuts this week. The mainline member of the student body is the one who has just had a hair cut on his head. This is because the hair on his head is the only part of his body that is visible.

This is a very interesting week in the life of the student body. The reason for this is that the students are beginning to realize that they are going to have to do some work. They are beginning to realize that their hair is going to have to be cut. They are beginning to realize that they are going to have to do something about their appearance.

The mainline member of the student body is the one who has just had a hair cut on his head. This is because the hair on his head is the only part of his body that is visible.
