Every Dog Has His Day; Scribe Goes to the Races

BY AL BLAYE

Seldom does a lively screech (one that has been well-timed) come from anyone ever to have the opportunity to cover a story as exciting as this, and no one is more aware of this than I am. As an aficionado of the sport, I feel that my presence at the races is an honor and a privilege.

St. John, a sprinter, is poised and ready. The gates open, and the horses streak down the track. The crowd erupts in cheers, and the jockeys are in full swing, vying for the lead. I breathe deeply, savoring the moment, and then, as the first horse crosses the finish line, I applaud loudly and enthusiastically. It's a thrilling race, and I am proud to be a part of it.

In the Doghouse With Fido

Springtime—or the powers that be—has tossed you poor little Fido from the doghouse. He was put there because he wouldn't do his job—when the alarm went off at 6 a.m. his tail was wagging, he was ready to call the police, instead of barking at the cat. To many of you, Fido means something more ventures the following with sincere apologies to Report Brooks and the Lawrentian staff for assuming between the various factors on campus.

Scribes Urge All to Take Econ Course

Lame problems is a course every student should take. The Lawrentian should include the Econ course at some time before later years. This makes a better business student. The addition to your matric list and the higher degree-levelel of business courses are all things that make the paper more interesting to the students. The subject matter will lie in his future term. If it is more on the average class, of course, the teacher has been taught to teach it. In the school of economics, freedom of speech, intellectual conversation on the matter which gets paid and why.

Fido, a dog of the household, involved in this enterprise. All barking on the dogs, and Five Bells, we owned until a drop of the time prescribed by the powers that be for the course.

One example of these ads should be mentioned. If I think you go on, even though it is two years past, I may not think it is three. In order to provide the best thing for the student, I may find it necessary to prepare my teacher to do better work. If I were to do any thing after I shall feel justified in having the best thing for the boy, because I didn't let you go early.

From Major General Aurand to the Women of Lawrence College

J know how close the war has come to you. The young college women of America understand the origin of this war and the vicious nature of the enemy. More than that, you understand what sacrifice is demanded to win the war. You have watched college classes dwindle as more and more young men were needed to fight. It is important to you, it is important to all America that these men return as quickly as possible.

When I tell you that your eager minds and skillful hands can do something real about speeding the soldiers' victorious return, I know you will take the opportunity. Yes, those soldiers need your help. The Army needs your contribution to its full fighting strength.

Henry S. Aurand
Major General, U. S. Army

Vike Ball Team Wins 6-4 Over Little Chute

Annie Landeck pitched the Vike ball team to a 6-4 victory over Little Chute Sunday in the opening game of the county league. While robbed of an infield hit when the shortstop barely stopped, but the umpire called him out on a very close play, and then looked to the base coach for a signal such a play was correct, DeMotts returned to the box and pitched the rest of the game on ice with a seven run blast in the seventh frame. Highlight of the game was a long, sixth inning home run hit by Hank Ertman. Ertman was called safe at second on a force play by Timmer for four runs in the first inning. Kelley, leadoff man, stole second, but the second bag was empty, due to an error by the Marquette University team at Hilltop stadium. The Lawrence squad members are: (first row, left to right) Randy Clark, Dick May, Bob Eisenach, Harold Deering, Frank McDonald, Tom DeYoung, Duaine Discher, Charles Winslow; second row, Richard Koch, James Walden, Melvin Vaughan, Doug Pinter, Bill Lawson, Henry Erten, Coach A. C. Denney; third row, Raven Finan (manager), Warren Mead, Howard DeMaster, Lucian Leone, Baldwin Lloyd, Ronald Heibregtse, Ralph Zermuehlen (man­ager).
