Carlos Rodriguez
Speaks at IRC Meeting

Carlos Rodriguez, president of the International Relations club, spoke at the group's first meeting of the semester, held last Sunday, February 24. His subject was "Nationalism in Argentina and What It Represents to Argentina's Foreign Policy." He presented the background of the present state of affairs in Argentina, drawing the students into the totalitarian regime of Col. Juan Peron, who is predicted to have won the current national election.

The suppression of civil liberties, such as the freedom of press and of assembly which has been going on for some time, is said, a violation of constitutional provisions of the very Nationals against whom we fought in World War II. Peron is using Hitler's methods, facilitated by his effects on a police system similar to that in which he reigned by former Gestapo men. The whole Argentinean system was bested by Germans who found there a place of refuge after the collapse of Nazi Germany. Colonel turned Fritz Mendel, Peron's Foreign Minister, and leaders of the upper classes are being arrested.

Having stated the problem, Carlos turned to the discussion of what UNO and the nations of this hemisphere, especially the United States, should do. The Lawrence International Relations club is one of five hundred clubs throughout the country which are sponsored by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. Every semester the club receives books and supplies to make it possible for the students to pursue their interest. These books are mailed to all the clubs. For the present semester, the club has received the "American's Stake in Britain's Future," "The United States and the British Commonwealth," and "Our Problem." Henry Morgenstern, chairman of the Foreign Relations and the New World, The Merit Lectures, The American Foreign policy, the Editors of the Enquirer Books, The University in the Making, The Automobiles, World Peace Foundation, etc.

Throughout the years since Lawrence first sponsored an IRC, many valuable books have been received. The Lawrence International Relations Library where they are available for students and others interested in foreign policy. The Carnegie Endowment offers a list of books on which it will mail copies.

The International Relations club thuis has an opportunity to present itself through interest. The two new books are of great interest to the club and both are in the Lawrence Library. The one by Mr. Peron is titled "The United States and the British Commonwealth," and the other by Mr. Morgenstern is entitled "Our Problem." These two books provide a very clear picture of what the United States and the Commonwealth are doing to maintain a balance of power in the world. The common interest of the United States and the Commonwealth is clearly demonstrated in the books of Mr. Peron and Mr. Morgenstern.

The stage itself is a cleared space in the center of the audience in arena style, the audience is readily into the play, and the actors have the attention of the audience. The set itself is a closed stage where the actors can be seen clearly by the audience. The furniture is arranged as is a regular theater, not just a stage for ordinary reading or writing. The set is a combination of pleasant entertainment and the common necessities of "Laborum Groove."
So They Say—

Last week's article by Carlos Rodriguez contained a good deal of that well known "bitter truth." There are a number of undeniably aspects to the situation which have produced a somewhat critical atmosphere. Much of this is due to the fact that the present conditions are somewhat different from those which have been assumed to have been the norm when our system was designed. Originally all male freshmen were housed in the first floor dormitories and were not exposed to contact with the outside world until they moved into the second floor dormitories. This step was taken to ensure that the freshmen would have the opportunity to become acquainted with each other and become familiar with the college before they were exposed to outside influences.

The Missing Force in the International Relations Club

We were pleased to read of the interest which the International Relations Club showed on the campus last Sunday. It is an urgent need for a spirited organization on this campus to discuss the relations of the nation and the world, particularly the present and past situations and the relations of the United States and the international problems. It is true that only four members attended the meeting, but the club has scheduled Wilder's lecture for this Saturday night, and that date might be better attended.

Mystery of Missing Duds Exposed

The club's leader had organized a multitude of facts which indicate that the organization is in a state of unrest and almost completely lacking. The club is expected to meet tomorrow night at the off campus house of George McKee. It is expected that some of the students in the colleges and universities of the country might take up the study and discuss the various international problems, with the object of intelligent public opinion coming to the conclusion that the administration of a country is not an easy task.

AnotherCampus

There are a number of ways in which we can improve the present situation. First of all, it is essential to have a large number of students interested in the club, particularly in the metropolitan areas. Secondly, it is necessary for the club to have a good club, a good leadership, and to have some of the students in the colleges and universities interested in the club. Thirdly, the club should have some of the students interested in the club, particularly in the metropolitan areas.

Student Favors Sharing American Indian Hungry with Nutritious Foods

By Jim Ecker

Last week President Truman announced the declaration of a national emergency. This has been hailed as a momentous occurrence by almost everyone except the postman. However, many people seem to be in favor of this move. The reason is that it will mean more food for everyone. The government has promised to supply everyone with food free of charge. The only catch is that people must work hard to get it.

The government has also promised to provide free education for all children. This is a great step forward in the right direction. However, many people are concerned about the cost of this program. Some worry that the government will not be able to afford it.

Nevertheless, the general feeling is that this is a step in the right direction. The government has promised to do its best to ensure that everyone gets what they need. This is a great relief to many people, who have been worried about the future.

Knox College Cage Squad Here In Season Basketball Finals

Game Will be

For Vikings

The Knox College Cage Squad will be powerful cage squad from Knox College of Galesburg. All of them are trained in the basketball finals of the first round. The game to be played at Lawrence Gymnasium will be the last for Captain Chuck Lenbauer, a graduating senior.

Knox has dropped games with Coe and Beloit this season but those with the same Ripon team the Vikings lost last Monday night. Little action data is available on the impressively large Ripon team but their big hit does have a pair of high points forwards of whom scored twenty-four points against both Boston and Teddy Sheldon.

A good handful is expected to help the team win their last contest.

Amazonastics

Girls basketball deserves mention this week - it only to advise you that the usual number of graduating seniors have hit the floor and we may make a slight variation to Freddie Thalaker's favorables - we mean hit. Way back in theDark Ages, our brave women arm were outfitted at the time of being allowed free foods. Now we're in the same series, although we will never admit they still haven't caught unto the Amazon bat-pulling and nail-biting finale. In truth, it seems that the modern women have done away with that. Maybe the rats are just being kind, because the sad subjects are evidently out of training. And so, Mac, we aren't encouraging you to try a Post Poper start, for just seems to be the current trend. Excuse us, but we can't resist. Miss Flake, our favorite, piled up sixteen points against a Walla Walla good thing her aim was off. In girls varsity play, three forewords, supported by a red rose. Crimson this equation is strictly TARD, and therefore all the stars glancing gone to the more forward fema. Missy, who was playing guard at the time, evidently felt sorry for the other team - she got the ball, put it up, and she got the ball, put it up, and it worked - but not so well. Another point is due the to the observation of... pay a bit of attention.

Vikings Drop Second Game To Ripon Team

Bob Curry Scores Eleven Points for Lawrence Team

The Lawrence College cagers dropped their fourth straight contest Monday 14 to 4 to the Redmen of Ripon on the latter's court. It was the second Viking loss of the current season to Ripon whose team has been greatly strengthened by the addition of some midseason entries. The Redmen actually won the game in the final minutes when they outscored Lawrence four to two. The big things in the game were the profusion of guards in conference history, but the victory, with eight baskets, while Bob Carroll tallied eleven.

Lawrence Track Team Invited to Naperville

Athletic Director Art Donny announced last week that the Lawrence Athletics department has received an invitation to compete in the Annual North Central College Invitational Track and Field meet at Naperville, Ill., on March 5. The meet is probably the most outstanding of its kind in the midwest for small colleges typically includes many outstanding competitors among its entries.

In addition to Lawrence schools competing institutions such as include Loyola of Chicago, University of Chicago, Bradley Tech, Knox College, Coe College, Grinnell College and Carleton College. The latter four are also members of the midwest conference.

The events listed, standard for indoor meets, are the 40 yard, high and low hurdles, the sixty yard dash, the sixty yard dash, the 100 yard dash, the 200 yard dash, and two mile run. Also, pole vault, high jump, long jump, and broad jump are included.

Coach Donny whose basketball worries will not be the minor after tomorrow night, will begin intensive work-outs with his backbones Monday afternoon. A later date, he will give a more definite report on the traveling squad, but early work-outs have pretty well established the best individual performers in each event.

Hamby, Steele, Frading continue to look good in the middle distances and will soon be joined by Dick Penn from the basketball squad. In the broad jump Larry Clark and Paul Nelson are hitting top form, and the same top form is in the hurdle events where Bob Carroll is making strides. Bob Carroll and a good man with the slender, trained shot, quite a versatile man. In the latter event Bob Carroll of Green Bay has been giving very well. Pearson, Brinkly and Dave Herbert are tops in the hurdles and a strong relay team can be made up of Clark, Penn, and Bill Halloway.

Intra-mural basketball league winners in the opening round of the only one of the afternoon last Saturday at Alexander gym. House Cage League longer, of course, near a championship tie, and a win would give the Blue Devils a well earned title. Reports are that Mr. Stanley will have several members of his great Taylorsville high five under his direction when cage practice starts next fall. Beware, opposition. . . .

In addition, all of this season's squad will return.

If any of you have been in the vicinity of Alexander gym lately during afternoon track work-outs and have noticed a loud bellowing and puffing you shouldn't confuse it with a steam derrick working around one of the paper mills. More than likely it has been a few Kike mercenaries trying to catch their wind after polishing off twenty laps on the indoor track. They may be puffing now, but come the outdoor season, all conference rivals will see the results.

Cage scoring in the conference is still headed by Bob "how do you pronounce it?" Tyrell of Phi. After last Saturday's games he had scored a total of 158 for a 19 plus average. Jerry Hall has 80 in seven games for a 14 plus average. Hope that's right, Ossy.

Teddy Scalissi of Ripon returned to school too late to be a contender for scoring honors, but in Wisman, he has been averaging over fifteen.

Ripon, with a real average thus far this season, has the best scoring combination in the conference. In total competition the Phi Taus are ahead, followed by the Betas and the Delts and Phi Delts are tied for third. The winner of the basketball tournament, if it is one of the four above mentioned, will be sure to get a second place berth, any way, in total standings.

Sigma Phi Epsilon and Phi Kappa Tau will have several members of their great '42 team will be back on campus for the start of football next fall. That team, of which Giordana was a member, was undefeated and undisputed champions of the west conference.

They may be puffing now, but come the outdoor season, all conference rivals will see the results.

In the first place, no one has ever tried to tell us this in an ordinary way. Who did we read "Science and the Modern World?" A good question, but the answer certainly isn't to study and fully understand Whitman's philosophy of life. That would come with a more advanced course. Instead, the point is to start our minds working on some of the things, most of the critics have misread or ignored. Moreover, the very fact that so many of us were stirred up, "inspirational" and "intoxicating" was a healthy sign that our minds were free. Nabe Among Whitehead

Lately the Whitehead course has had a barrage of complaints. I agree that some of them are justified. I also agree that the course should be revised and improved. However, I do not believe that the complaints of the professors don't always help us to get the best from the books we are required to read. Moreover, the very fact that so many of us were stirred up, "inspirational" and "intoxicating" was a healthy sign that our minds were free. In the first place, no one has ever tried to tell us this in an ordinary way. Who did we read "Science and the Modern World?"

Dr. Cast Speaks to German Club

On Nazi Youth

"The Origin and Nature of the German Youth Movement" was the subject upon which Dr. Cast, adviser of the German Club, spoke to the group at its meeting Wednesday, February 27.

He stated that the movement arose from the condition of the schools and society at the end of the nineteenth century. The youth of Germany was brought up in narrow ramifications and restrictions in their social life and by the lack of opportunities afforded them for self-expression. The result of their attempt to keep these bonds was that the first youth group, the Wanderer, was formed. Though moving strong opposition of first, the movement was gaining recognition and was sponsored by the very forces which had originally opposed it. It continued to grow in membership and to expand.

When Hitler came into power, of course the old purposes of the youth organizations were lost, and the movement was exploited by the Nazi leaders, evolving into the Hitler Youth through which the children of Germany were indoctrinated in Nazi ideals. In the same manner, the British are now using the movement for the continuation of group activities which the American would do well to copy in their portion of occupied Germany. Dr. Cast said he in conclusion.
