The Lawrentian Staff Offers Sincere Apologies

The shocking news of the sale of our library to a college in the South has been met with a storm of protest from the student body. The staff of the Lawrentian has decided to expand our specialized technical courses for veterans brought a cloud of gloom to the Lawrentian office last evening. The staff was unable to prevent the final sale from being made. The Board of Trustees must have realized that such a change was in the best interests of our college. The lawrentian staff was not consulted because of the difficulty of transferring to other crowded service schools.

You're safest to save a few shekels for the next war. The regulations must have come on several days ago, at least as the arrival of the advancement of three hundred Queenets huts to the college seemed to indicate.

The news that continued to come in throughout the evening as reporters covered the reactions of President Lanev, President P. A., and important faculty members, the sudden dismissal of Professor Durand, and the condemning of Main Hall—increased the despair of the dumbfounded staff.

The job of reporting such news was heroically carried on, however. Deplorably Lawrentian, the whole lawrentian staff might have to quit. Lawrentian, the lawrentian news again to get punctuation and spelling.

We're almost complete about 12:30 when the staff members, your dates—yes, too late—that everyone might have been playing an April Fool's joke on the staff. Of course! That was it! Oh, but too late did the light shine upon the journalistic spirits. The jokes had to be made. They could only hang their heads in shame. They had been taken.

The Lawrentian offers sincere apologies.
With the increasingly favorable ratio of only two girls to every man on the Lawrence campus, which allows the coeds to become more choosy, some of the more repulsive males are having trouble developing a well-rounded social life. What to do about this situation is demonstrated by William (Lover) Hinze and George (Just shaved this morning and have the ability for the action of those who believe me of the class.) Disher's frustration at trying to attract girls led him to follow the example set in the recent snow sculpturing contest. Some of his efforts are shown page 19, and with rousing cheers by his American Legion followers, scattered in front of the Bober residence in February, July, October. Cinder Team
Brings Home Championship

On the cinder scene this week the activity has slackened up somewhat after the Viking victory in the Princeton Relays last week. Although pressed by Illinois and Michigan in several of the longer relays, Coach Denoyer's charges kept up their rugged pace and came home with the team championship. Scoring six in the times and eight in the points, the Viking boys set a new South American record over the high jump bar. It was the first time the South American athletes had competed since 1940 when he won the Latin American Championships for a total of 19,000 points. The Milligan men of the Varsity squad brought home their team unfinished. All in all, another stellar day at the Greek Stadium.
