To AP Grid 1

1st Vike Footballer To Make Little All-American

Claude Radtke, Lawrence's outstanding football end, was named to the Associated Press All-American team this week. He is the first player in the history of the college and the second in the history of the state Art Back. Carroll's goalkeeper, gained a berth on the 1949 AP Grid.

In earning four letters in the varsity sport, the 6-foot, 3-inch

Rapid Appleton boy has compiled an enviable record. Twice he has led his team in scoring and has been named an all-conference end this year and he was a unanimous choice.

The announcement that he had been elected to the AP Grid was made' by his teammates. Claude was a key man in the losing annual game this year in which the team was defeated by the unheralded team from Tech. He was outstanding in the second half of the game.

Radtke has a place as one of the top men in football in the Midwest team gaining honorable mention. He is one of the athletes who played in the Armed Forces Classic. Radtke's decision on a definite location and make real, rather than tentative, plans for the location now in the area west of the new art center overlooking the beautiful, polished Fox river where smith house used to stand.

This site will also hide evading students from the prying eyes of portable old ladies and the veiled art center will heighten the illusion of a protective wall screen- ing out invasions of student interest. We are curious to know if the art center won't have much trouble in finding money on a beautiful, expansive stone house now owned to cover the structure with interesting, polishing old views and tree any ways.

The amount originally planned for the union's construction building was $120,000. President Nathan M. Watts, as holding several offices on the Congregational church board, has approved the building plans, which include the building of a new gymnasium with penny pinching.
Establish New Rushing Rules

Inter-Fraternity Council Defines Illegal Rushing

New rushing rules for men were established by the inter-fraternity council recently. Action came after several years of study of legality and propriety of existing regulations.

The rules, which were adopted by a 10-1 vote, define illegal rushing as the introduction of a pledge into the house of a fraternity by means which would be considered illegal rushing. They define illegal rushing as the introduction of a pledge into the house of a fraternity by means which would be considered illegal rushing.

Any verbal exchange, other than a salutation, between a fraternity member and a rusher which would be considered illegal rushing includes any statement or question made when attempting to leave the house. Any discussion, verbal or written, shall be considered illegal rushing.

Each night during rush week, including the evening when there is no scheduled rushing, freshmen shall be required to sign in with one another by 10 p.m. and stay in their rooms for the remainder of the evening.

During the orientation-rush period, men selected by the council shall be on duty daily in the freshmen dormitory to bar fraternity men from association with rushers from 7 to 10 p.m., on that evening and one subsequent evening of the remainder of the week.

The council will consider all reported infractions and will enforce the rules as follows: Violation by an association member in such cases as illegal rushing around the college will result in loss of quota for third. Violation by fraternities—reduction in quota of five units for first offense, nor entire first period if first offense. Violation by a fraternity member is involved shall be referred to the anti-Tuberculosis association, arrived at by a hearing committee of a police group, a system of penalties for Greeks and rushers.

The rule simply says that if students go out to dinner and want a cocktail, that's their business. But the rule simply says that there can be no drinking on campus at all, and the council agreed. What is the college who are over 15 years of age may be expected to drink, they should go off campus. The services are paid for by the sale of Christmas seals in Appleton.

The latest additions include a mobile x-ray bus stationed near Sage hall. The bus, owned by the Wisconsin Antituberculosis association, arrived at the campus yesterday morning.

The chest x-rays given during that period are not necessary. Members of families connected with the college who are over 15 years of age may be expected to drink, they should go off campus. The services are paid for by the sale of Christmas seals in Appleton.

administration was as yet undecided.

John Fillion, student body president, finally settled Monday night by the Students Affairs Council. The council decided whether or not to grant the student activity fee appropriation to the Student Relief Committee. A vote was taken, and since the measure is dictated by popular vote, the yes and no votes ended in a tie - 7-7. There will be several committees and moves in the building that will be approximately the same size as the art center but with a basement and terrace. This is expected to allow a little of the congestion in the current year.

Pusey Talks to SEC on New Memorial Union, Other Policies

President Nathan Pusey met before the student executive committee in an informal meeting last week and revealed the tentative plans for the new Memorial Union. A discussion period followed in which Pusey described campus policies and expressed views on campus problems. In answer to questions raised by SEC representatives, Pusey outlined the proposed central student center which he said would be the financial institution of the future. There were plans, too, for a new student center from the SEC members who raised it in the budget of the Union.

SEC Passes Publicity Motion

Reward Referendum Issue Before Passage

The SEC has approved a recommendation that a second round be held when the referendum issue is voted on. By a vote of 9-5, the SEC is putting the question before the student body in an all-college referendum to be held later in the year. Students will vote on whether the SEC'S all-campus policy committee — or, more simply, the student policy committee — is to be implemented. The committee is to meet with house chairmen to discuss student activity fees and student financial aid. The committee is to meet with house chairmen to discuss student activity fees and student financial aid.

Two votes were required before the move was passed. The first requirement was for a 15-day deadline, and since there are no provisions in the student government for the student president to break a tie at SEC meetings, so no tie occurred. The second requirement was that anyone who held the referendum would be held accountable for its results. President Nathan Pusey, Student Activities Council chairman, Anita Higgins, and others presented the recommendation that the referendum be held in the spring of next year. A revote, the student president is on his way.

Chivalry Is Not Dead!

Boys Pets Proves It

By GLASSER

Thanksgiving was a time for vacation. Our Lawrence is no exception. Many people had a nice vacation. Many did not. Some went home. Others are in a hurry to leave. Lawrence is built upon homes. Many of the students live at home. Many are not. We are all of us out of home. The weather has been a problem. The snow has been a problem. It is nice to be back at Lawrence. Many do not care. Many are not interested in the weather. They do not have a problem with it. When a boy goes home, that is news. There is no news value. Chivalry is not dead. Practice changing.

Summer Study in Foreign Countries

First Article of Travel Series Describes Study at U. of Mexico

By BARBARA OTH

There seems to be an ever-increasing interest right now in foreign travel and study. For those who think that there may be a trip to Mexico in their future, I should like to give a brief outline of the opportunities offered to students in Mexico.

You can live in Mexico for as little as $15.00 per month, and it is possible to get away from the over-publicized places that draw tourists, rent small rooms in the tropical region.

This is the first in a series of articles by Lawrenceans who have traveled and studied in foreign countries during the summer months. Miss Oth, a sophomore, spent the summer months in Mexico City, for which they pay anything up to five dollars a month. This sort of thing usually has a great appeal to writers, artists and those who prefer the regions which even Cook's has yet to discover.

However, most of you are probably more interested in living in one of the towns or cities, especially if you are planning on living in Mexico during the summer. I lived in Mexico City, which is a little more expensive than some of the very small towns which are less known to Americans.

But the prices are still unbelievably cheap. As you know the dollar is a strong currency in Mexico than it is in any other country in the world. The exchange is now 8.46 pesos for one American dollar, almost double what it was last year.

The first week I was there I lived with a dentist family which roomed me eight pesos a day for my room and board, and about 12 pesos a day for clothing. However, for the remainder of my stay, a friend and I were able to find a very nice apartment for less than a month each. The apartment consisted of a bedroom, kitchen, breakfast nook, bathroom, hot and cold running water, and maid service.

Food is probably the cheapest thing, comparatively speaking, and also one of the best features of Mexico. A first-class dinner with all the trimming costs from 30 cents on up, depending upon the restaurant, which you choose. If you seldom find a meal which costs under 35 cents.

An evening at El Patio, the Claroacnacno Club, usually costs about 30 pesos a meal, which includes dinner, wine, tax and tip. Of course, of you have any special dietary requirements, you can usually get everything from simple lunches and dinners, fast food, and the more expensive Mexican and foreign restaurants.

My primary reason for going to Mexico City was not to study the language and Spanish courses at the university.

Basketball now has the limelight in the world of sports. This year, as in previous years, there probably won't be more fans attending basketball games than any other sport. It is a great sport for the spectator featuring maximum excitement and visibility. Come on out and support YOUR team.

With three warmup games on the books, the Vikes now move into non-conference competition. The first of ten conference games will be played against Knox a week from tonight. Beloit, the defending champs, is favored to repeat in the conference this year.

The Bucs have announced a 27 game schedule. (Lawrence scheduled 18.) Some of the stronger contests this season, besides Knox, will be against Beloit, Illinois Wesleyan, and the Aviators.

Here are the most important rule changes for this season:

- No emergency substitutions, maximum five minutes between periods.
- Buzzer will be called when a closely guarded player makes a shot. The ball will be awarded to the free thrower's team.
- A team, on any foul, must substitute for the free thrower. The substitute may carry the ball and throw off. The ball will be awarded to the free thrower's team on a foul in mid-court by any player of the free thrower's team.
- The clock will not stop on free throws. The attempt must be made withoutstanding.
- A 20 second shot clock will be used with a 25 second minimum and no clock stoppage on free throws. The clock will stop only on normal fouls and technical fouls.

Johnny Sines' Lawrence basketball team will be put to a severe test when they encounter the high-flying five of Carroll college.

Claude is the best end I have ever coached or played against, and I'll match him against any college player I've ever seen for all around play.

In addition to football, Radtke is also a letterman in basketball and track. He is currently holding down the regular center position on the varsity team. Last year as a regular the big man was the third high scorer on the team.

In track he handles the javelin. This year and the last, and he played a big part in the Midwest conference meet last year when the Vikes annexed the first game in a series of 6-4-4 but still edged 6-6 over an unexpected second place.

Claude, who is majoring in education, is as yet undecided about entering pro ball. Both the Baltimore Colts and the Chicago Cardinals have extended "feelers," but no definite offers have been made. The consensus seems to be that several teams might do well to take a "reading" on his interest.

Vikes Encounter Lake Forest Five

There on Tuesday

The Viking basketball team will continue their series of away games when they take on Lake Forest Tuesday afternoon.

Since last night's big win, the Vikes have never looked better. Radtke, the defends champ, is favored to repeat in the conference.

This week Radtke is expected to serve in action for the Vikes. Jerry Dwyer (r o m lie  expected to make a total of seven Vikes on their all-opponent team.

We are probably in serious in this matter, insomuch as we haven't contacted all the Lawrentian deer hunters, but so far the only complaints we've heard from those white-tail hunters is Wally Robinson, Bill Gaff, Rolfe Strid and Elwood Holledy. Robertson and Belton paid for this legal tip, says buck and Gaff knocked down a doe.

Some hunters came back with the story of not even seeing a deer which is hard to believe in light of at least 150 pounds, and Don Brown, a senior at 125 pounds.

Other men reporting for the squad were juniors Bill Goren, Chuck Vande Zande, Ken Loso, Dick Lechin and Don Hoelgen.

Climax to Groth

A better climax couldn't have been contrived for Ralph J. Watt's final year of service as business manager of Lawrence college. The man who was promoted last week by the board of trustees in the position of vice-president in charge of long range expansion had a great deal to do with expansion here in the past few decades.

Concurrent with the announcement that he is leaving the business managership, it was revealed that the student union will be constructed next summer along with several minor construction projects. All of this comes while the Wrecker art center is emerging into reality.

The material and physical gain made in his tenure here, however, cannot be considered as significant as the personal devotion and faith which were his gifts to Lawrence. And that is one big reason why Lawrence continues to grow in other domains.

Violent Response

If one of our many campus activities can best reflect what we are striving to accomplish as a community, it will be the presentation of the Messiah Sunday evening.

As fine an organization as our college choir is, for the purpose of reflecting Lawrence, the Messiah group is even an improvement over the choir striving to accomplish as a community, it will be the presentation of this event.

Some time after word goes around that Massa-chusetts State was out in the red with the little guy. We'll see if some Lawrenceians are willing to volunteer time and expense in support of this event.

Writing a column is rough — but writing a column when you've just found a job in advertising, talking to your old roommate that was his old job, and you're trying to put a Camel ad in this space instead. There are those who would say it wasn't magic that brought it out of the red. It was being a buffer between the ivory tower and the hard world.

Big money offers came in to the little guy but he stuck with his alma mater until an SNSD arrived from another small college in trouble and the little guy, who took the position of arts and sciences for a year and then assumed the tasks of business manager with the same enthusiasm he brought to his previous assignments.

This time he piloted a school through history's worst depression, the greatest Depression of all. He was active in student council Operations as an officer, editor of the Lawrence student's management committee, and quietly, confidentially.

Being a buffer between the ivory tower and the hard cold is probably one of the world's worst assignments... Nice going, little guy — you've made your team.

Protest Greek Editorializing by Glasner

The little guy was out about athletes... but he was a little guy physically, so he quietly attended classes, got good grades and joined the fraternity at the original college in which he was enrolled. After he was not for the school newspaper, his might have been the story of an other college. He never was the type of a mild-mannered, even-tempered "taxi" guy that goes over big on campus.

Like the school newspaper staff, he worked up an operation... it was his baby. But baby was sick. This particular newspaper, the newspaper that had been planned and finally published, never went beyond the publication break even or abashed it. It didn't. It failed to be a free student voice on campus... maybe that's why he stepped forward when the campus newspaper fizzle forward on the line. Anyway, he stepped forward and he did one year later the newspaper not only was out of the red but he donated a PRIVATELY "taxi" guy because to manage the newspaper.

After the graduates of that college's administration remembered the little guy. They had bad reason, too. The books of the white editor were showing a deficit. Once more the question, "Can we continue"? began to arise... and then it was called upon. Could he do with the college what he had done with the newspaper? The little guy believed he could.

Sometimes later when word got around that Massa-chusetts State was out in the red with the little guy. We'll see if some Lawrenceians are willing to volunteer time and expense in support of this event.

This Petition Arrived, Too

To the editor:

In order to attain what we feel will be an improved Greek system column, we, the undersigned members of the Lawrence college, have banded ourselves together. We feel that the articles now written by Jack B. Glasner are critical of the Greek system, and are intended by each group, due to the editing.

AIMS: The editor of the Greek system column feels that we may be a tendency to regard our Greek system as a "sign of the times." We do not believe in that manner. In this atmosphere, we do not believe in that manner. We believe in the need of good organization.

(Contrary to apparent likely held by many Greeks, the fraternity-sorority "current" situation governed by The Lawrentian is not the Greek column. It's an article which appears in more of an essay style than a news story. We recognize the need of news stories. We recognize the need of news stories. We recognize the need of news stories.

To increase readership to a maximum for every issue of the Lawrentian, we propose features which examine the Greek system in all these activities. We would like to feature material wherever possible. This means that the columns will be "enlightened" by the use of unique styles of writing. The name must be received, therefore, to the question, "Is gone are the days of the hilly editor's style subjective opinions?"

If we are to replace the Lawrentian with a new Greek system column, one of a qualified feature, we feel that students interested may sign their names to a sheet. We propose a petition to the Lawrentian office. Qualifications for signatures on the petition are of short.

If no one volunteers, we would also be very willing to disseminate the column, and one which we believe that the students would put up with. We would come up with a solution to a problem, which is the news stories, the news stories, the news stories, the news stories, the news stories.

Nor are we the only ones who feel that the Lawrentian is the only voice for the Greek system. No one really wants to dig to find any stories, any stories, any stories, any stories.
