Advise Sororities of Hostile Movie

Sororities on campuses across the nation have been receiving letters from their national organizations telling the girls on how to treat an "anti-communist" motion picture soon to be released by Twentieth Century Fox. The name of the movie is "Take Care of My Little Girl." The letter tells the girls that it is inadvisable and in some cases considered unwise to do so because it is in order to be able to answer questions raised by the film. The chairman of the Intersorority Research and Advisory Council had already labelled the film "Communist propaganda." And declared it would give, according to the enemies of our country." He demanded that production of the film be dropped.

Student President Campaign, Apr. 26

The campaign for student body president will begin on April 26 and continue through May 1. The three main candidates for president are Paul Richards, Jack Barlow, and Martin Taylor. The meeting will be held on Tuesday, May 1.

Cancel Courses of Non-Students

At the University of California, the Daily Californian reports that, for at least 28 courses and sections, originally scheduled for the semester, have been cancelled because the faculty members in charge of them were suspended for failure to sign the Regents' non-Communist declaration. Here, in part, is the statement which these faculty members refused to sign: "I am not a member of the Communist party or any other organization which advocates the overthrow of the United States government by force or violence, and . . . I have no commitments in conflict with my responsibilities with respect to partial scholarship and free press of the truth."

The non-signing professors were originally cleared of Communist party membership by a faculty committee, only to be fired last August by the Regents.

The Greeks Again And Their Doings

4 The Lawrentian
Friday, March 16, 1951

And we're off — into the last week before spring vacation, and it is going to be a busy one. Working at the union and getting past nine weeks of final examinations, the other week is really worthwhile activities going on. Tonight the Delts have a party and tomorrow is the last dance at the Annex. Tuesday afternoon, Madame Einer and Mary Hoffman give their Junior recital, and Monday the Delts give a concert. These are things that happen among the charming young lady who appeared to be interested in publicity for the forthcoming Turning Point show, and she has just mentioned that a little publicity would be appreciated. So — here it is — let’s back this show, it’s a good cause — all the profits go to the union fund — so watch for announcements concerning it.

That little fellow with the bow and arrows really got back into high gear this week, and we are happy. Besides giving us copy, it seems as if any object is as on the way. (To be continued.)

Curtain Rinkels will be married to Miss Mary Alice Green, Mary Alice being the daughter of Professor and Mrs. Green, and they will be on their honeymoon the first of next month, according to our trusted informant.

The club in charge of the entertainment was the little Dutch club, the Dutch Club. They have a policy of entertaining at that house, and they are known as the people who really put out for a good time.

The show had to go on, so the local medical authorities organized a platform ten feet behind the rest of the choir for the quarantined members and strict isolation between groups.

Although the author of the play is unknown it is thought to have been written by William Stevenson. It was produced at Christ's college al Cambridge in 1590. "Gam- men's Glee Club's Needle" follows the form of Terence, the Latin comic playwright and in its present form, cut and in a somewhat expur- gated version. The original was quite vulgar, while at the same time very moral, but which was quite possible in the Renaissance period. The people shown in this play are typi- cal of their time. It is an out and out farce, with no punches pulled.

The plot is built around the search for a lost needle, which, while seeming a little pointless in our day and age, was very serious matter for the Renaissance audience. Needles were virtually impossible to obtain, and the loss of one of these precious objects was as much a matter for general concern as was the loss of life. remarkably alike, and promptly gave the whole class a lie detector test.

It came in a pair of relay events.

Bill Fieurte, Don Holgerson and Bud Ingals finished third in the distance medley relay and Fieurte, contemporary philosophical dilemma the need for a middle ground

beyond the ivory tower
by harry m. clew

it has long been an irritation to me that a review of any book which has not been approved by this board of editors is not subject to the same scrutiny as one which has been approved. fact, there are those who feel that i was derisive and the author simply didn't know what he was talking about. this, i believe, is true. therefore, in my efforts to be more scientific and humanly to make my ignorance apparent even non-technical readers interested in the work of the psychiatrist have been disturbed and are pressured by our standards of criticism.

the necessities of last week's annual meeting required a middle-ground between two-worlds, which i spoke of. for want of better terminology we shall call it the relations of the normative-philosopher. the middle-ground individual takes ethical action within the range of what he is capable and what he believes is right. he is not constrained by the provision of values or judgment, but he is not immune to the guidance of the world outside. he is, in short, the meditator who, in the cabinet, is able to analyze his own actions and values, but who is also able to live in the world and take part in the actions of the world.

the implications of his action will only be evaluated in this manner will the psychiatrist consider the philosophy of his ideals. (this fact that the psychiatrist must look upon his own thinking with relations in ethics, the desirability and surrender of all or any of the values of the past is not, as some might think, a rejection of the past, but an investigation of the past in order to determine the viability of those actions which stand in the world of the past.)

columnists' statements aren't necessarily editorial board's in order to avoid future misunderstandings among readers, i would like to point out that the opinions of columnists which appear in this paper are not necessarily those of the editorial board. columnists are in no way regulated either by the board or by the editor. the board and the editor reserve the right to decide upon any topic or issue that is of particular concern to us. in the case of this particular article, the editorial board felt that it was important to present a different perspective on the issue at hand.

defend coach of beloit team in open letter

this writer would also like to send an "open letter to beloit" in defense of the beloit coach, delph staley.

i believe that the editorial board has made a mistake in giving the number of the team in its commentary on the situation. the team is not the only one that is under pressure. for example, the team's fans are under pressure to do well, and the players are under pressure to perform to the best of their abilities. however, the editorial board has not taken into consideration the fact that the team is also under pressure to do well. the team's fans and players are not the only ones that are being judged. the team is also being judged on the basis of its performance.
