Dr. Howard Thurman to Address
Religion-in-Life Conference

by Barbara Gourley

Dr. Thurman, who will be the principal speaker at the Religion in Life conference here, is minister of an interfaith, interdenominational church in San Francisco. He visited the Fellowship of St. Peter in December. Dr. Thurman was formerly the Dean of the Chapel and Professor of Religion at Morehouse College in Atlanta and earned his A.B. degree from the University of Chicago and his Ph.D. degree from Cambridge University in England.

Dr. Thurman graduated from Morehouse College and has received honorary degrees from a number of institutions.

Morehouse College and the Fellowship of St. Peter in Atlanta are invited to participate in the Religion-in-Life Conference here, and in November won the Municipal Art League prize in the 31st annual exhibition by the Artist Associations of the World. The picture was purchased through the Chicago Charities Association, of which Worchester is a vice-president and a trustee.

The Lowrenton Club will discuss the problems of India as related to the problems of the world at 5:30 this afternoon in the Riverview lounge of the Memorial Union.

C. Worchester Give
Lawrence Westcliff
By John E. Phillips

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Worchester, donors of the Worchester art center, have made another gift to the college in the form of a painting by John E. Phillips titled "Westcliff.

It is a Colorado mountain landscape painted last year on location, which was the annual exhibition by the Artist Associations of the World. The picture was purchased through the Chicago Charities Association, of which Worchester is a vice-president and a trustee.

The Lowrenton Club will discuss the problems of India as related to the problems of the world at 5:30 this afternoon in the Riverview lounge of the Memorial Union.

Krishan Talwar, Lawrence alumnus whose home is in India, will participate in the informal discussion to which all members of the college are invited.

The evening committee for the Fellowship of St. Peter has announced that more students are needed to form various sub-committees. All students who are interested are requested to contact the chairman of the committee on which they would prefer to work.

These chairmen are: Barbara Holmes, preview committee; Millicent Cramer, retreat; J. E. A. Reynolds, interviews; D. L. B. Holmes, luncheons and dinners; Sylvia Vipper, social hour; Joan Wray, vespers; Ted Ryne, forums; Kenneth Kondor and Anne Reynolds, discussions; Nancy Nash meeting places; Bob Skowronek and Carolyn Sue Peterson, golden Ralph Hurting, local churches; Bob Tuttle, sermons; Cynthia Parker, publicity; Jim Salmon, finance, and John Rutt, book exhibit.

The will of God as an invitation from without, he conceived of it as writing up from within us.

"The will of God is native to my soul. It is the fundamental character of me. It is the foundation of my mental, physical and spiritual structure. It is what I find when I am myself. It is what I find when I get down to the deepest things in me. It is what is revealed when I see the superfluous things stripped off and I find essentially here."

The central dedication necessary to the successful conduct of his work, Dr. Thurman says, "To have a sense of what is vital, a sense of humility in 'Deep Is the Hunger.'" Yet there is a pervasive sense of humility in "Deep Is the Hunger." The fact that a man can always be in error in reference to the things that he thinks he understands most clearly in an ever present reminder of human frailty.

Thurman is convinced that in his moments of greatest triumph, a sensitive man is most aware of the chasm between "what he is and what he would be." He makes the poignant observation that we are no better than we are because we don't really care to be. "In the last analysis we do to do the things that we really want to do, not dedication must provide 'not so essential.'"

In "Deep Is the Hunger." Dr. Thurman talks about the need of the individual to dedicate himself to some cause or purpose greater than his own life. "This power of dedication gives "some radical test for all that is highest and best," he said in a paper at the annual meeting of the International Relations Club.

We know you had a tough vacation, but we will not see what effect, if any, shaking would have on the ground. Preparing plugins was restricted to proper snow conditions.

And as we go well into the week we are looking forward to the New Year's Eve party. We've seen it enter with holiday good cheer.

Now we're getting to the fun and joys are through.

Alfords are near to make us feel the New Year is coming and we all take off and have some fun.

So grab those books and study hard and we'll meet cha in the New Year car.

And last, but by no means least — the New Year, 1952, was a stroke of twelve. Merry Belle Kercher and Fred Bickle, Jr. are inspired to a spark for a speed date with not so much of a sensation. It was tremendously simple and a great thing.

Complete Allison Aircraft Engine Adds New Touch to Science Hall

by Ray Nelson

Something new and different in the way of an aid to instruction has been added to the Lawrence campus. It is a complete 12 cylinder Allison aircraft engine which will be used to increase the technical efficiency of the Air Force ROTC unit here at Lawrence. According to Major Roy Nelson, Lawrence College is extremely fortunate to have been able to obtain this engine. It is a very rare one as the AF ROTC unit in a college of this size has such an opportunity made available to them. These motors are usually allocated to those colleges which offer courses in engineering.

The engine is not a model but an actual aircraft engine of the type used in the P-38 Lightnings and the F-10 Lightning. It is rated at 1000 H.P. and because of its size (it weighs 1300 pounds without the platform) it must be kept in the basement of Science Hall. Part of the cylinder walls of the engine have been cut away so as to enable the student to view the motor in actual operation. The power used to run this engine for demonstration purposes is supplied by a 1/2 H.P. electric motor. Even though this motor is an in-line, liquid cooled engine, it will be possible to use it to study the principles of all types of reciprocating propulsion engines.

The unit here at Lawrence will be used in a course in aerodynamics. This is a 10 hour course in Air Science II and will be taught this coming semester. It will also be used to instruct a class of Flight Operations in Air Science III and IV in the junior and senior years.

Cagers Start Out New Year With 76-60 Win

The Lawrence college cagers opened the new year with a 76-60 victory over Northern Michigan College at the Alten-amer gymnastin last Friday night. It was the Vikings seventh win in nine starts and their fifth straight on their home floor with out a defeat this season.

Leading for the Vikings were Ostrom and College in each of the first three periods, but two out of three against the Vikings reserves in the final period. Lawrence broke a 9-to-5 lead at the end of the first period, and held a 16-to-5 lead at the end of the second period. In the third period, they are unable to escape the deficit. After encouraging the number of the student body to participate in interfraternity athletics in the 1951-52 school year, it is interesting to note just what effort this proposal has brought about on the part of the Lawrence college students. Lawrence college students.

63% Pass Selective Service Test; March 10 Next Exam Deadline

Sixty-three per cent of the 230,000 students who took the Selective Service College Qualification Test last Spring and Summer made a score of 70 or better. Major General Lewis V. Hershey, Director of Selective Service, reported today. He said a further breakdown of the results taken at initial testing sites would be available within a short time.

A new series of tests will be given Tuesday, March 8. After having been given previously Thursday, December 13, by the Educational Testing Service of Princeton, New Jersey, given at more than 1,000 different centers throughout the United States and its territories, the blanks for the April 26 test may be obtained by registrants at any local board office. The test is intended to apply to virtually all students taking the test, and indicated that those who do not have test scores results in their cover sheets may have a "very difficult time indeed" in convincing their local boards that they should be deferred or excluded.

Applications for the April 26, 1952, test must be postmarked not later than midnight, March 10, 1952.

Approach Deadlines

To be eligible to apply for the test, General Hershey pointed out, students:

1. Intend to request deferment as a college student;
2. Be satisfied with their achievement in their full-time college course;
3. Take the Selective Service College Qualification Test.

The Congress, in the 1951 Amendments to the Universal Military Training and Service Act, declared that adequate provision for national security requires maximum effort in the fields of scientific research and development and the fullest possible utilization of the Nation's intellectual resources; it authorized and required the President to provide for the maintenance of the national health, safety or interest. The draft of any or all categories of personnel of these activities is found to be necessary to the maintenance of the national health, safety or interest.
