Winter Weekend Trip To Sturgeon Bay Set

Deposit Balance Due At Business Office

The balance of the deposit for the WRA sponsored Winter Weekend trip to Sturgeon Bay is due at the Business Office by 4:30 Monday, Jan. 20. Students who have paid the deposit will be picked up at Luttmoser Hall at 8:30 a.m. on January 29. The bus trip will depart at 9:00 a.m. and return to Lawrence at 5:30 p.m.

The trip includes a visit to the Sturgeon Bay Fish Hatchery, the Door County Maritime Museum, and a tour of the Sturgeon Bay Shipyard. Lunch will be at the Door County Fish Grill, and dinner will be at a local restaurant.

Dr. Trower to Speak At Alumni Meeting

The Alumni of Lawrence College will gather Thursday, January 29, in the terrace room of the Memorial Union for an informal discussion. Dr. H. D. Trower will speak on the history of Lawrence College and the role of alumni in the College's future.

Spiegelberg Gets Rockefeller Phenomenology Study Grant

The Rockefeller foundation has given a grant to Lawrence College which will enable Dr. Herbert Spiegelberg to take the 1953-54 year off. Dr. Spiegelberg will be working on a project that aims to develop a phenomenological movement for the study of religion.

Sunset Players To Hear Theodore Clock Tell About Cincinnati Trip

Sunset will hold a meeting to hear Theodore Clock tell about his trip to Cincinnati this Christmas vacation. Mr. Clock will speak on his trip to Cincinnati from Christmas Day, when he attended the National Theater Conference.

The conference was the second national one to be held. It served as a consultation body for American National Theater and Academy. Mr. Clock will speak on Thursday, February 11, at 4:30 p.m.

Spiegelberg's book, "Religion - Refuge or Resource," was first published in 1949, and his latest book, "The Study in Perspective," was published in 1962. Dr. Spiegelberg's work has been widely read in philosophy.

Lawrence Student's Short Story Accepted

William Groeninger, a junior, has had his short story accepted for publication in the winter issue of Epoche, a literary magazine published by the Cornell University press.

The story is "In the Archives," and it will appear in the winter issue of Epoche, which will be published in late March.

The Reverend Roy K. Kiley of the First Presbyterian church of Wausau will lead the meditation at the Thursday evening worship service on February 12. He will be the speaker at the conference on Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m.

Although the interviews will be conducted until 4:30 p.m., students will have ample opportunity to sign up for them several days prior to the interviews.

The conference will be held in the Byrd room of the Memorial Union, and all interviews will be conducted in the Byrd room.

Class Conducts Music Project In Pre-Bach

To Feature Recital Jan. 26; Exhibit Now on Display

The Pre-Bach class, taught by LeJohn Maesch, is conducting a project on Pre-Bach music. Included in the project are a recital and an exhibit. The exhibit, which is now displayed in the Conservatory, consists of pictures of primitive instruments which are not available for viewing. Keyboard instruments are being stressed because of the harpsichord concert given by Dorothy Lane last Sunday.

The recital will be held at 8:15 on the evening of Jan. 26, in Peabody hall. All 25 students in the Pre-Bach and several others will perform. The music for this program has been selected from the Gothic and Renaissance periods; early music of chivalry. A master of ceremonies will tell something about the composer and the form of the music during this project on Pre-Bach music.

15 Speakers Announced for Religion in Life

Holbrook Is Main Speaker; Will Be Discussion Groups

Religion in Life conference went into its final stages this week when the 15 speakers and discussion leaders were completed by members of the Steering committee. Dr. Clyde A. Holbrook, professor of religion and chairman of the department of religion at Alverno college, had previously been selected as the main speaker, but fifteen other speakers and discussion leaders had not definitely been picked at that time. Following are the following new, complete speakers:

Lutheran church, Winona, Minn.; The Reverend Frank M. L. Schluetter, Emmanuel Evangelical United Brethren church, Appleton, Wis.; The Reverend A. Keister, St. Pauls Episcopal college, Madison, Wis.; Mr. Harold Helmes, secretary; Mr. Elmer Buchanan, assistant to the secretary; Mr. Robert Allard, the Chicago Theological Seminary, Chicago, Ill.; Dr. E. Graham Waring, assistant professor of religion and Dr. Orin R. Smith, professor of philosophy.

The first issue of the Contributor will be distributed at the close of the semester. The Contributor is a magazine which is entirely written and illustrated by Lawrence students.

The conference steering committee, which began preparations in early October, is headed by James Blanster as chairman and Margarette Hoyer, vice chairman. Members of the committee and the groups

Polling Committee results of the Easter vacation poll proved that agitation for a change in the Easter vacation was campus wide with marked concentrations of similar opinion in various fraternity houses.

Though both men and women favored an Easter vacation from April 4-April 13, it was interesting to note that for the most part it was the women who were willing to leave the vacation as is.

It was the women who were willing to leave the vacation as is.

The results were to have the vacation as it stood: 134 votes; to move vacation forward to March 29-April 6, 80 votes; and to move vacation forward to run from April 4-April 13, 331 votes.

The results were: To leave the vacation as it is 134 votes; To move vacation forward to March 29-April 6, 80 votes; And to move vacation forward to run from April 4-April 13, 331 votes.

Obviously the total number of people polled doesn't equal actual student's decision. But the fact that line enrollment, and the polling committee regrets its failure to include all students on every question. It hopes, however, that this doesn't mean the committee's results represent a valid sample of student opinion.

What do these results mean? First, they mean a petition will be submitted to the committees of any one group or few students.

Thirdly, these results indicate students readily change their minds. Last year they were displeased when vacation plans meant they wouldn't be home for Easter or Good Friday, so would have to travel on Easter. The administration has listened to the students' complaint and made vacation plans this year which would allow them to be home on those special days.

Finally, these results don't necessarily mean the vacation will be changed. The SEC will do all it can to cooperate with the administration asking that the vacation be changed.

In Ted Hill's basement heritage, I found the great mountain climbing in a group of zooms last call on the importance of Air Force security. Roommate David was sitting in a corner noting the reactions of the attentive audience in an effort to substantiate Freud's empirical data.

Moving up to the first floor, found Sauter, standing on top of his desk, rearranging the Semter on the Mount to the more pious residue of that floor. That was all. Religion Survey

The Religion in Life survey was taken during the week of January 5, 1953. All students living on campus (668) were given a question sheet; a total of 547 or 82% were returned.

Approximately an equal number of men and women were represented. Complete results are tabulated below.

Results from the recent Religion in Life survey are tabulated below with all answers being given in percentages. Each percentage is the percentage of "Yea" answers and it may be assumed that all others were "No" answers.

Several questions are subject to qualifications however. In questions 8, 9 and 10 a blank marked "somewhat", in addition to the two above answers was tabulated as a "yes" for means of convenience. Music majors were included among the "Religious" whereas, as far as possible, and as much the religious and philosophy majors also had to be grouped together, allowing for easier tabulation.

In question one for example, 18% of the men and 5% of the women answered "yes" to the statement: "I can make sense out of the world without thinking of any Mind higher than man's."

Vikas to Play Stevens
Point Before Exams

To Meet Ripon Team
Here on February 14

Lawrence's up and down basketball team will attempt to keep its non-conference slate intact by playing its arch rival, Stevens Point, again until Feb 14 when they play host to its arch rival, Ripon. Monday night when it visits Stevens Point to renew the Wisconsin State basketball rivalry.

It will be the last game before semester examinations for the Viking basketball team. Stevens Point will come again, even until Feb 14 when they play host to its arch rival, Ripon.

Three First Places

The Lawrence Viking swimmers took their third straight win last Saturday. The meet which took place at the Alexander gymnasium was the last of a four-meet series against the Milwaukee State Teachers aggregation.

At the end of the day the Vikings had only one loss and a 60 to 25 defeat in their unseasonable slumber.

Next Saturday, January 30, Lawrence should be outclass by the women's swimming team of the University of Wisconsin. The Milwaukee State Teachers aggregation will be able to give the Vikings some competition. The meet has promised an upset of an upset by the women's team against the Lawrence swimmers.

Applications for the position of editor-in-chief of the Ariel will be received by the present editors until February 15, it was announced today. Cynthia Purber and Martin White, co-editors of the book in progress, welcome letters of application for a single editorship or a co-editorship, as the applicants prefer. Both may be addressed to Russell Sage hall. Letters should include a statement of the candidate's qualifications, interests, extra-curricular activities, and an opinion on the purposes and standards he thinks a paid position...

NOW...Scientific Evidence on Effects of Smoking!

the things that are God's

The dots are February 10, 11, and 12, three days dedicated to our spiritual strengthening. This year, the theme for the Conference was, ‘The things that are God’s obligation, other than to themselves, and attended every meeting.

The catbird seat

This is dedicated to the fresh- men. Not so much to make aJot of fun, and certainly not with too much reason. One is a freshman himself, but with a special purpose. He himself would not buy a five cent book, but he would buy a five cent cigar, and a fifty cent book.

I'm not sure why I have faith. Possibly it is the only thing that can be known. But that's the thing that makes me go on struggling and doing odious things I like writing for the Lawrentian when the facts are false and the face.

At any rate, since it's my last column, I'll give you the poem from the group of Christians in this issue. To the freshman class here

the loved ones

One of the aims of our college education is the development of a more mature sense of criticism. All too often, however, our criticism merely means attacking the bad and mediocre while ignoring the good. An example is the indifferent attitude toward the IFC Convention committee. Yet this semester's conventions have been more interesting and stimulating than any of the past few years.

Several have been outstanding. We might mention the Homecoming banquet demonstrations, the speeches of Dr. Troyer and Kooschen, and, of course, the choir concert. We lost that George and his committee deserves our congratulations for the summer and our confidence and support during the next.

Letters to the editor

every day. The Lawrentian

Abrahamson andcrown growths

We have a suggestion. Why not shorten the Lawrentian to a single column and combine all Greek gossip if we must use the eight lines into one column. A large box can be as accurate as a small one with any appreciation of liter- ature which in each secretly and eventually would not spring from their respective chapters, in accordance with our apparatus.

Lester and Mrs. Homer Abrahamson became the proud parents of Lainie G. P, on January 16, 1924. The increment reports that he has been born normal and big and can't mind because of a change.

The truth about the catbird seat

Colleges is something which is not only interested or accepted indiscrimi- nationally. It is an experience which is easier than it looks, but more difficult than it looks.

When we come to college we are immediately advised, in the face of our choice, what subjects we should take. After perusing our college catalog, we are told that the permanent—give yourself the privilege of three days of con-

dumbing pot

The unique thing that gives wings to all students is the practical side of things. Any student who attempts to minimize the practical side of things will be a failure.
