Paganini Quartet to Give Program Here

Fourth Artist Series Program to be Given March 13 at Chapel

The Paganini Quartet presented the fourth in the series of Artist series programs for the 1952-53 school year at 8:30 Friday evening, March 13. The program will be held at the Memorial chapel. Members of the quartet are

- Henri Timisic, first violinist, Gustave Rosseels, second violinist,
- Charles Foidart, violist, and Adolph Frezin, violincellist.

The instruments played by these artists were all made by the famous Stradivarius more than 200 years ago.

The audience was one of the largest the music department has ever had. The competition for hearing all of the concerts and the desire to hear all of the famous quartets is evident. The group has been in so many United States and European cities for many years. It is an ensemble of the highest order.

The first appearance of the Paganini quartet was in London. The group has since played concerts in Paris. The members are: Georges Honegger, Alexandre Magun, Louis Lavoisier, and, representing the United States, William Schur and the University of Illinois, Russell Schriner.

The Paganini Quartet was formed in Belgium in 1946. It has since given concerts throughout Europe and the United States. It was given a signal honor of releasing three records of Nicolo Paganini, from whom the quartet takes its name.

The Paganini Quartet has been in this country for a year and a half in the Midwest conference schools, entertaining throughout Europe and the United States and has given sonatas by Beethoven's three Rasumofsky quartets, simultaneously. The group the signal honor of releasing three records of Nicolo Paganini, from whom the quartet takes its name.

Nothing-no nothing-beats better taste and LUCKIES

TASTE BETTER!

Cleaner, Fresher, Smoother!

Ask yourself this question: Why do I smoke?

You know, yourself, you smoke for enjoyment. And you get enjoyment only from the taste of a cigarette.

Luckies taste better—cleaner, fresher, smoother. Why? Luckies are made better to taste better. And, because they are Luckies, chances are you'll find little else that gives you as much satisfaction from one smoke as Luckies give from the first puff...to the last...for the better taste—the cleaner, fresher, smoother taste of Luckies.

Principle characters in William Shakespeare's world-famed tragedy "Othello" are pictured above as they appeared last evening in the first performance of the tragedy by the Lawrence college theater. The play will be repeated tonight and tomorrow night in the Memorial chapel with the curtain promptly at 8:15. Robert Sonkowski portrays the title role of the Moor of Venice, and is shown at left in the left photo with Roger Christian, as Iago. The two feminine principals in the right photo are Georgio Hester as Emelia and Los Tomas as Desdemona.

In a production as complex and extensive as "Othello" the production problems are necessarily multiplied. Special credit is due to those people who perform the many varied and difficult back stage duties essential to create and maintain the desired illusion for the audience.

Tom Roberts is stage manager for the production; Rosemary Freeman, assistant to the direct‑or and prompter; and Vickie Wenzel acts as call girl. Other committees and their heads are: Costumes, Robin McGraw; Properties, Barbara Baur; Lighting, Rick Zoelker; Sound, Sue Savelich and Betty Bauer; Make-up, Grace Parsen and Bobbie Rhon.

Swim Team Travels to Meet Carls, Defending Champions

Tom Warren and Dave Jones, members of the Lawrence College swimming team, will be the big hopes of the Lawrence college swimming team to-day when they go to Northfield, Minn., for the Midwest Conference meet. Both Warren and Jones are undefeated in their season's events at the individual medley and the breaststroke and Jones is favored in both of the free events.

Roger Styles and Sidney Nottier, as the diving team event, are the only hope of the Vikings. The diving team has no other divers.

The team's main man is Warren, who is a junior, and he has already beaten Bob Anderson of Carleton. In the breaststroke, the Vikings will carry the hopes of the team, as Anderson has a chance of winning.

Wrestling Team to Close Season's Meets at Ripon

Coach Bernie Heselton has announced that the Lawrence college wrestling team will meet St. Olaf, 18-13, and Kansas, 18-17, in the Midwest Conference meet this weekend for the final meet of the season. With 10-2) and Carleton (14-2), there is a good chance of his leading team taking third in the final meet.

Coach Chet McGraw has accepted the coaching position of the Carleton pool and the Lawrence team will be entered by seven of the nine men.

Pool depth is of particular interest to Carleton, as its pool is 20 yds long, while Carlow's is 150 yds.

The pieces in the exhibit seemed just a bit unorthodox: a piece of broken glass with skull frag­ments, a headless doll, and a pair of heavy gloves. But the pieces were well displayed and made for an intriguing experience. At the table of the editor in chief, I met "Man Breaking through the Sound Barrier," and a most prized and famous monkey sculpture done by a notorious artist. Along with pieces of wood from some obscure jungle in East Asia, I listened many exquisite objects remaining from an ancient tribe known as the Lawrentians. Pre-Pogolian Era. Portraits of esteemed citizens, a slab of wood, a pedicure, a snake, a girl in black and white, and a piece of abstract sculpture. Nothing like faience, a slab of wood, or an automobile engine was exhibited. An exhibit of such items is not a final one. Sandstone is still alive, and will continue to be made.
