One of the hardly personalities of the American musical scene bloomed amid the arctic air Sunday evening—the Lawrence concert band under the guiding cultivation of Fred G. Schroeder.

It was reported that Rafael Mendez, who is listed as the world's most travelled conductor, was in the audience, and perhaps the young musicians knew it, for they blew their horns clean and true in somebody's honor. Director Schroeder, a young man with young ambitions for his band, controlled the program and players in his usual fine style.

The program was ambitious and somewhat longer than usual. It began with a couple of German marches over a couple of centuries. First came J. S. Bach, whose voice, sounds, and warming chorales are a delight almost in any medium.

Two centuries later, but next on the program, came Wagner—"the boy Wagner," professorially speaking, for the Overture to Rienzi has a lot of youth and cavalry in it, compared to the daintiness of his Italian opera and grand opera.

An obbligato into the melodiously interior of Richard Strauss's mind took place in the Finale from "Death and Transfiguration," an attractive masque of delicate colors.

A fresh British feeling was inspired by Jacob's "An Original Suite." Although none were conscious quotations from folk music, there were peremptory rhythms, and the green, a quiet gate of horns and clarinets, an obbligato, the end which might hint at the White Man's Burden.

A little young lady, Jeanne Begalle, appeared after intermission with a golden saxophone hung around her neck, and proceeded to play an exquisitely competent version of Mozart's Concerto in B Flat. The saxophone is rarely heard in a legitimate orchestral instrument, and it is good to hear disassociation from its winning voice it assumes in a dance.

Miss Begalle, only a sophomore, whipped through the technical difficulties with veer-

Contemporary composition dominated the evening. There was Virgil Thomson's "A Soli-lon Music," a high, quiet, and intense music, which in itself is the memorial to Gertrude Stein, and there was a close-cropped nationalism in it keeping with her peculiar greatness.

A "Joyful Interlude," by Joseph Haydn, was a charming holiday, and William Schuman's picturesque impressions of the George Washington bridge finished the lively and satisfying evening.

Marillyn Warner To Give Recital

Marillyn Warner will present her junior organ recital at the Memorial Chapel, at 8:15 Sunday. She will be assisted by Glynn Rounds, soprano. Miss Warner, a junior, is from the studio of LaVahn Mensch while Miss Rounds, a sophomore, is from the studio of Isabelle Mechen. Accompanist for the program is Mary Kee.

The program for the sixth recital in the 1956-57 series will be as follows: Chorale Preludes J. S. Bach, Sleepers, Wake! A Voice Is Calling

Calling, Savior of the Heavens in Thee Is Gladness

Le Violette. . . . A. Scarlatti dancing on Waterfowl

Offer Scholarships For Fashion Study To Senior Women

Four fashion fellowships are being offered by the Tobe-Coburn School for Fashion Careers in New York City to senior women, according to announcements received today. All senior women graduating before August 31, 1956 are eligible to apply for the fellowships, offered for the year 1956-1957. A fellowship to Tobe-Coburn covers the full tuition of $1150. The number of fellowships, not to exceed four, will be determined by the merit of candidates who submit presentations. The well-known New York school offers these fellowships yearly to encourage able college graduates to enter the fashion field—a field which holds unusual advancement opportunities for well-trained young women. Graduates of the school hold jobs in buying, advertising, styling, as well as in magazine editorial work.

The students of the one year course have contact with the fashion industry through lectures by important fashion personalities, visits to manufacturers, department stores, fashion shows and museums. In addition they organize and participate in fashion shows and fashion exhibits at the school and have ten full weeks of working experience, with pay, in New York stores and other fashion organizations.

Now attending Tobe-Coburn as holders of the 1955-1956 fellowships are graduates of Boston University, Oberlin College and Purdue University.

Senior women may secure fashion fellowship registration blanks from the vocational Office of Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey; or from the Fashion Fellowship Secretary, Tobe-Coburn School for Fashion Careers, 40 Madison Avenue, New York 10, New York. Registration closes Jan. 31, 1957.

therefore I am anxious not to weaken that position or to support by giving it something definite to sustain.

The president believes that the law gives us a free school and a free college. It is not our intention to be the kind of college that purports to be.

As he sees it, the rule has a three-fold purpose behind it. Our college community doesn’t exist to make it possible. Cars would change Lawrence into another college one that does not foster the united community. To have cars on the campus would be to encourage the false competition, personnel and importance that a symbol of this kind can give. Certainly another impetus is a consideration behind the rule in the maintenance to sustain that the ears would create.

Schedule Medical School Tests May 5

Candidates for admission to medical school in the fall of 1957 are advised to take the medical college admission test in May. It was announced today by Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the test for the Association of American Medical Colleges.

These tests, required of applicants by almost every medical college throughout the country, will be given twice during the current calendar year. Candidates taking the May test, however, will be able to furnish scores to institutions in early fall, when many medical colleges begin the selection of their next entering class.

Candidates may take the MCAT Saturday, May 5, 1956, or Tuesday, Oct. 30, 1956, at administration centers to be held at more than 300 local centers in all parts of the country. The Association of American Medical Colleges recommends that candidates for admission to classes starting in the fall of 1957 take the May test.

The MCAT consists of tests of general scholastic ability, a test on understanding of modern society, and an achievement test in science. According to ETS, no special preparation other than a review of science subjects is necessary. All questions are of the objective type.

Application forms and a Bulletin of Information, which gives details of registration and administration, as well as sample questions, are available from pre-medical advisors or directly from Educational Testing Service, 20 Nassau Street, Princeton, N.J. Completed applications must reach the ETS office by April 21 and Oct. 16, respectively, for the May and Oct. 30 administrations.

SEC to Include Positions On Alum Advisory Unit

Two additional positions will be open to student applications on the roster of SEC committees in March.

The student executive council passed a motion to add the positions of two permanent delegates to the Alumni Advisory Board at the board's request. It was also decided that the SEC vice president would automatically become the third representative.

The Alumni Board felt that there was a need for a permanent means of communication and mediation between it and the student body. The new set up is designed to lead to a better correlation between alumni plans and the student awareness to them. - The old basement had dirt floors, dirt-encrusted walls, and plenty of cobwebs. The basement resembled an old fruit cellar. As of this week, the basement has a cement floor instead of bare earth. The stone walls which were plastered with mud have been scraped clean and painted hospital white.

- The only additions needed now for the basement headquarters are desks, typewriters, files, book cases, a rag and easy chairs.

- It will be several months before the cadet headquarters will be finished, but when the plans are carried out, the cadets will be adequately equipped with comfortable working quarters to make their tasks more enjoyable.

Vikes Bow to Cornell’s Height, Fine Shooting in 82-61 Loss

BY WOODY AND TINY

Last Friday, Coach Krause and his cagers took off for Mount Vernon, Iowa, to play the last conference basketball game of the current semester with Cornell Rams. While they dropped this decision, 82-41, the Vikes seemed to be a much improved club showing some definite flashes of team work.

The Rams were paced by Don Carlson and Ernie Gabber. The 6’8” Carlson was last year’s conference scoring title holder and is one of the finest rebounders in small college circles. Gabber, a 6’4” forward, ran off with the individual scoring honors of the night by dumping in 23 points worth.

This game marked a turning point in Vike play for this season as the cagers turned in a respectable shooting average. You may remember the all-time low at Grinnell when the Lawrence men sank two shots of 29 attempts for a dizzying 5 percent average. In this contest the Vike quartet dumped in 23 shots out of 56 attempts which tallied for a 41 percent average.

With a newly modified offensive pattern and a more tightly knit defensive system, Lawrence stayed right with the Rams for three quarters. However, Cornell’s exceptional point pin shooting and tremendous height finally took its toll.

Two seniors paced the Vike attack, forward Hal Homann and guard Dick Brien. Homann hit for 7 field goals and 6 free throws to tally 20 points. “Handy” also came through with some timely rebounding and for the first time this season left the ball game without committing a personal foul. Brien also did an outstanding job on defense and contributed 13 points to the Lawrence total.

The first conference scrimmage in the new semester will be against Ripon Feb. 4, and the next game will be against St. Olaf on Feb. 10.

Fellow Tankmen Nickname Captain Dehmel ‘Goose’

The old saw “she’s no water like a duck” has a new twist here at Lawrence. On the campus it is “he takes to the water like a goose”—for the last is the nickname of the Vike swimming captain Rolf Dehmel, known as “Goose” to the boys in the locker room, looks like a basketball player at six feet four inches, but he is one of the best Vike tankmen in recent years.

A lot of varsity athletes have mothers cheering for them on the sidelines, but Rolf actually learned his sport at his mother’s knee, for a way she taught him to swim.

Rolf now, a student from Wauwatosa high school, a personal friend of the varsity swimming, where he received those varsity letters. He placed second and fifth in backstroke events in suburban and state meets. During last vacation Rolf attended the Fort Lauderdale Winter Games in Florida. A teammate of Rolf’s was a fraternity man, spotted Rolf, now captain of the tank squad at the University of Wisconsin.

As a freshman at Lawrence, Rolf competed against Cornell, placing second in the backstroke, a specialty, and second in the 100 yard breast stroke. As a sophomore on the varsity, he again placed second in the breast stroke and ranked second in conference in the backstroke. He was also a member of the Ripon Vikes varsity swimming team, Jan. 20-

Sig Eps Take Lead in Supremacy Cup Race

As inter-fraternity basketball goes into its final round, and bowling, and ping-pong reach their final mark, speculation on the attainment of the supremacy cup has begun to rise.

The present standings, (exclusive of the sports now being played) show the Sig Eps in the lead with 450 points. They are followed by the Betas and Phi Dels, each with 400 points. The Dels come in fourth with 250, and the Tau's bring up the rear.

At the early part of the season, upon the completion of football, the Phi Dels jumped into the lead with 300 points. However, their lead was relinquished when they managed only to amass a total of 100 points in the swimming meet, and during the volleyball season. The Betas accumulated 250 points in these two events, and the Sig Eps, 400.

In basketball, at the present time, it looks as if the Sig Eps have a good chance to advance their lead over the second place Betas, and the attractive possibility of Tau's bringing up the rear.

The present standings, (exclusive of the sports now being played) show the Sig Eps in the lead with 450 points. They are followed by the Betas and Phi Dels, each with 400 points. The Dels come in fourth with 250, and the Tau's bring up the rear.

The Sig Eps are presently third in place with a 3-3 record, and are tied with the Phi Dels. Consequently, it appears as if the Sig Eps might come on top in bowling also, though there is a strong possibility of the Tau's surpassing them.

In ping pong, the Phi Dels are presently in the lead, with a total of 6 points. They are followed by the Sig Eps with 5, the Betas with 5, and the Tau's with 2. The ping pong season, having just gotten under way, is not far enough along for these standings to be of much value in predicting final results.

If the Sig Eps come out on top in these three sports which are presently in season, they will be hard to beat for the cup. With only basketball, tennis, and golf coming in the spring, the Betas, Phi Dels, or anyone else will have to win at least two of them to do any good. This is supposing also that the Sig Eps come in as one of the last two houses engaged in these sports.

The Betas, making a weak showing in the present sports, will have a put a good team in the remaining fields if they want to continue to group the hope of overtaking the Sig Eps. The Phi Dels will have some hope, but it is rapidly diminishing, as they are presently among the last two houses in the present sports.

The Dels are in the same situation as the Phi Dels, however, they are doing better in basketball and bowling than the Phi's. The Tau's, who finally broke into the standings as a result of their victories in bowling show no serious threat to the league leaders.

As it appears now, the Sig Eps will take the cup, with either Beta or Delta coming in second, the other undoubtedly in third, the Phi Dels in fourth, and the luckless Tau's in last.

by Bobbie and Mar

We reckon it looks as if semester exams are thundering down on AAGs and GAAs alike. The campus is still. The tension is tremendous. The air in full of verb conjugations, English kings (in chronological order of course) Platonic comparisons and... clutched heavy wearers. Never to be undone by any fault, we have attempted to set down our own final exams... one which all good GAAs will indubitably pass.

1. Whom did Mrs. Bateman kick out of the Oct. 20 hockey scramble due to illegal use of the eyes?

2. Why is it that every time Carol Stevens and Barb Sanborn hit a hockey ball there are no slips within 15 yds.

3. What propels Ginny Schwinden in a bathtime game? So she has wings, all ready.

4. What ingredients compose the Pi Phi's to make them such a weak, sneaky, unathletically inclined group?

5. Who is noted for saying "It was a grand pannahty!"

ESSAY

1. Write a thirty minute essay on the evils of a referee's whistle with too shrill a tone.

2. Its 'ear drum' influence on the players.

3. Explain briefly the underlying causes for the lack of good actors at Frosh-Soph Day.

4. Discuss the assets which are likely in winning your book or being a smart fellow in the Dramas.

5. Examine briefly the effects of football on campus and its influence on the eyes.

Theres No Question that Luckyies taste better - they're made of fine tobacco that's TOASTED to taste better. There's no question in the Droodle above, either (in case you were thinking it looked like a question mark). Its titled: Captain Hook reaching for a better-tasting Lucky. If you'd like to get your hands on the best-tasting cigarette you ever smoked, light up a Lucky yourself. It's jolly, Roger!

Books, chapters and pages have been resolved into five sheets of heavily creased, tattered paper. The text has become a personal enemy and occupies a corner of the room. It is almost a plague symbol; a horror.

The appeal of the Religion in Life Conference is a permanent appeal, an attempt to help us find solutions to the great problems that rush into our life. It is time to emphasize the permanent instead of the temporal. Give yourself the privilege of three days of concentrated opportunity for spiritual aid and illumination.

a point well-taken

Miss Ruth Draper helped us to prove a point last week. Convocation attendance was excellent; attention was magnificent; knitting needles did not roll; papers did not rattish; heads did not nod; and, lastly, the supreme triumph of the day was that the program ended.

What is our point? Merely that the student attitude toward convocations will improve when the convocations themselves improve.

the boy who calls 'fire'

The boy who called "wolf" only lost a flock of sheep, and the boy who is calling "fire" is endangering the lives of many.

Each fire alarm turned in calls out two pumpers, the apparatus and a minimum of manpower on the air force, three fourths of the manpower on the force, and two false alarms have been turned in during the past week. Calling the department to the Lawrence college campus. The first came Sunday, Jan. 15, a false alarm that only cost the department and three fourths of the manpower on the force, $10.50, payable at the business office immediately.

To Whom It May Concern:

Because the Editorial Board has come under scrutiny and fire, I should like to shed some light on the situation concerning its purposes and methods of operation. The first point I wish to evaluate this organization, I think that the most realistic approach to this problem, but out with it, is the legal, emotional, ground without precedent, has been founded on misconception, but with the fact.

I have two qualifications which I believe enable me to approach this subject with some minimum of confusion and a maximum of truth. I have served for one full year as a member of the Board; and, secondly, I am no longer a group which means that I have joined the "muzzle" and am on the outside looking in.

Prior to dealing with the specific problem, I should like to state my personal belief regarding man's relationship to discipline within society. For the maximum crime and welfare of the minimum number of people creates and enforces specified laws and restrictions unnecessarily, punitive measures for violations. Thus society is governed by certain rules and regulations. The members have three alternatives for violation of these rules and abide by the laws; they can, if dissatisfied with the laws, or they can reject and violate them; or if they violate the laws, then he must be man enough to accept the punishment dealt to him!

The reasons ars, should be to decide on the punishment to be performed and be accepted. In summary, the judicial take into consideration many mitigating circumstances, and the difference in the degree of the violation). Last week's correspondent states quite right, that he agrees that there must be some measure of punishment and minimum penalty. It is up to us, through the proper sources, to have rule which will include the maximum and minimum penalty for each offense.

Exception to this might occur in the realm of moral or drinking issues, etc., that have no precedent and cannot be anticipated during the meeting. In summary, we must remember that we elected the Board members and we respect and believe in them, and, because we respect and believe in them, we trust them to reach such a decision as is honorable to society.

The limitation regarding security can determine the tenure of the individual. All we ask is that it be explicitly stated.

Clumsily a door is opened and feet guided by raw sense of duty step through the opening. I am not one of those who are going your way, and plan to be devilish, nakedness, towards the distant octagonal building.

The appeal of the Religion in Life Conference is a permanent appeal, an attempt to help us find solutions to the great problems that rush into our life. It is time to emphasize the permanent instead of the temporal. Give yourself the privilege of three days of concentrated opportunity for spiritual aid and illumination.
