ROTC Here to Stay ...For Now, at Least

by RAY SHERMAN

As a result of recent and past controversy over the status and future of the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps on the Lawrence campus, the LAWRENTERIAN spoke to both the Administration and the Lawrence Air Science staff recently.

The results of those conversations were as varied as the individuals to whom the questions were directed.

The final "official" statement came from Dr. Douglas L. Ye, Lawrence University's President. Ye said that the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps is here to stay, because: "It had seemed, however, that the future in the modern air combat is a homogeneous group.")

However, this policy, according to Ye, was only a superficial one. The Administration is ready to "take the problems of the future in the modern air combat into consideration.""

New Kiosk “Donated” By Forty Year Old Will

by BAKER

Last year, the subject of a considerable amount of conversation since the opening of school has been the Kiosk, a new addition to Lawrence campus. As a matter of fact, the use of the word “Kiosk” in this article is not as the right one, for the词 “Kiosk” is being used in many of the various types of discussion concerning the “Kiosk.” The word is, however, variously raised to be discussed.

As far as everybody everyone mentioned as a possible donor of $6,000 as long as she of Peabody House. The trust be set up for his only original location on S. "Love Is a Simple Thing"

by Carol Oelke

According to the latest statistics on the subject, there are 15 women on the Lawrence campus who own a fraternity pin or diamond ring, and a total of 15 men who own either pinned or engaged. Percentages-wise, about 10% of the Lawrence student body is "visibly attached," socially speaking.

Leaders on campus as far as giving away pins and rings is concerned are the Delta Tau Deltas, with a total of 15. Seven of the active members there are pinned or engaged to women on the campus. Five are pinned to Lawrence women, while six are pinned to non-Lawrence women. Two of the Delta Deltas are also pinned to women off campus.

The Delta Tau Deltas, with eight active members of the fraternity, are second in the "race." Five Deltas are pinned or engaged to women on campus while two left pins or rings off campus. Two of the Beta alums are pinned to women still at Lawrence.

Members of Sigma Phi Epsilon have the distinction of being third in the "race." Five Sig Eps are pinned to Lawrence women and four to non-Lawrence women. Four women still on campus hold Sigma Phi Epsilon pins and rings.

The Deltas, with eight of their number pinned or engaged, come next. Seven Delta Tau Deltas are pinned or engaged to 10 women on campus and one woman off campus. The Alpha Chi Omegas have the distinction of being the recipient of his gold square. Two Beta alums also pinned their pins to women still at Lawrence.

Three of the Phi Kappa Taus chapter are pinned or engaged—one to a woman off campus and two to women in Lawrence. Two women hold the pins of Phi Tau alums.

Just one Phi Gamma Delta no longer has his pin—a girl from off campus is its possessor.

"Tied for top receivers of pins and rings on the campus are the women of Kappa Alpha Theta and Phi Beta Phi sororities. Both have 11 members who are pinned or engaged. The Phi Pi has six active members and one pledge who are pinned or engaged to Lawrence men on campus, and the Phi Deltas and Phi Betas have the distinction of being the recipient of his gold square.

Rabbi to Speak on Relevance of Religion

Rabbi Dudley Weinberg, spiritual leader of Temple Emmanu-El First Jewish Temple in Milwaukee, will be the guest speaker at the religious convention on November 6. His speech, "The Relevance of Religion," will be part of a busy schedule beginning when he arrives on campus Wednesday.

The Rabbi will be the guest speaker at the dinner in Brokaw Hall that evening. Afterwards, at 7:30, he will be at "Balzac Hall" for an informal discussion hour which will be open to anyone interested in attending. After the Convocation on Thursday, the Rabbi will probably visit one or two classes.

Rabbi Weinberg received his B.A. degree, magna cum laude, from Carleton College and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. While he was an undergraduate there, he served as an instructor in the department of German. While on a leave of absence, he became a Rabbi at Hebrew Union College and received his M.H.L. degree. Before coming to Milwaukee, the Rabbi was the spiritual leader of synagogues in Brooklyn, Massena, and Memphis, Tennessee.

Rabbi Weinberg comes to you under the auspices of the Jewish Chilulam Society, an organization which disseminates information on Judaism as part of an educational program. This Society, with offices in New York City, has provided Lawrence with literature on the subject of Judaism.

Larsen Chosen to Head Brokaw

The results of the second house officer elections at Brokaw Hall are: President, Ed Larsen; vice president, Jim Eastman; treasurer, Tom berth; and secretary Walter Gaieoff.

Eight members of the Class of 1959 have been awarded the highest academic honor attainable by a college undergraduate—the coveted Phi Beta Kappa key.

The members of this group, the largest to be initiated in Lawrence history, all have cumulative grade points of 2.5 or above (including gym and R.O.T.C.).

Named in yesterday's convocation were David Smith, Judith Walk, Nancy Rentner, Peter Saecher, Mrs. Wathness Molbrrery, Dorothy Blitchammer, Richard Bjornson and John Harris.

In announcing the selections, Prof. W. E. Haisley stated that the eight were picked on the basis of "scholarship and character; the ideals of the organization.

Haisley also awarded the Phi Beta Kappa Cup and Scholarship. The Cup, given to Ashley Haase, is awarded to the "sophomore man who attained the highest cumulative grade-point in his freshman year.

Don Niemi, the winner of the Scholarship, was judged to be "the person of junior rank who, in the opinion of the chapter, best represents the ideals of the organization.

The new initiates, along with the Cup and Scholarship winners, were feted at an initiation and tea in the Union Lounge yesterday afternoon, to which all students with an average of 2.25 were invited.

Dave Smith, Beta Theta Pi, is doing Honors in Psychology, is President of MacE honorary society, and won the Phi Beta Kappa Cup two years ago.

Judy Walsh, Delta Gamma, is doing Honors in English, is a member of Mortarboard, and has served as co-chairman of the new Student Work Committee.

Nancy Rentner, Kappa Delta, is doing Honors in Biology, and is a member of Mortarboard.

Peter Saecher is doing Honors in Mathematics, and is chairman of the Film Classics.

Wally Alden Molberrery, Pi Beta Phi, is majoring in psychology.

"Benny" Binhammer, Delta Gamma, is doing Honors in Biology, is President of L.W.A., a member of Mortarboard, and has served as S.E.C. Secretary.

Dick Bjornson, Beta Theta Pi President, is doing Honors in English, is a member of Mace, and co-captain of the swimming team.

John Harris, Phi Delta Theta, is doing Honors in Government.
It was apparent that the Lawrence football eleven, handicapped by injuries to key men, had little left to offer. As a result, the Ram offense had little trouble launching a sustained drive, their deepest penetration being good for a 2-pointer. The Lawrence team handled the Vike threat many times on the line of scrimmage.

Lawrence is still seeking its first win of the year and if they play like they did last week, they should have little trouble in handling the Siwashers who they killed last year on Dad's Day, 14-0.

Film Series Offers Valentino, Chaplin, “Great Train Robbery”

The Film Classic Series will take audiences back to the golden age of silent screen throughout October, with "The Great Train Robbery" with John Liebenstein, "Son of the Sheik" starring Rudolph Valentino, and an accompaniment by John Liebenstein.

Film Series Offers "The Great Train Robbery!"

With the unanimous "go ahead" from R.C.C. representatives, the Film Series has made arrangements for the appearance of Lawrence of Arabia, a last minute addition. Chaplin portraits a poor immigrant who gets a girl and, wanting to impress her, takes her to dinner with a wealthy business man. The meal is a disaster, and the girl’s father strips off his suit to hilarious complications which show the Chaplin style at its best.

A survey of the current Broadway hits is being sponsored by Alpha Delta Pi. November 5, Mary Agnes Truttschel, the speaker, will take the audience in and out of all the Broadway show business, giving a synopsis and excerpt from each play in her speech entitled "Up and Down Broadway."

The three silent films will be Friday and Sunday evenings at 8:30 and 8:35 p.m. in the Art Center. Admission is 10 cents.
