Students, Faculty, Guests Begin Encampment in North Wisconsin

The annual encampment was launched this afternoon at 2:30 when approximately 75 students, faculty and guests took off for Gardner Dam in northern Wisconsin. The counselors then began opening at 7:30 this evening.

Saturday's activities will be initiated with breakfast at 8:15. Two one-and-one-half hour discussions will begin at 9:00 a.m. and 11:00 a.m. After the noon meal, the fourth session will run from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. Saturday evening will be devoted to a hot dog roast and entertainment.

Although a few campers expect to attend church Sunday morning, a program will be extended for the fifth session which will begin at 2:00 a.m. A final meeting and group reports will be held at 8:00 a.m. after the noon dinner. The group will then leave, return to Lawrence at 4:00 p.m.

The encampment steering, under its chief Tom Picken, has prepared four major areas of topic discussion.

Topic one, "Historical Background," will include a discussion of the liberal arts college and the liberal arts student. The present social concern is to be encouraged to students to the world. The historical background is of the particular situations which the world will involve.

Topic two, "Goals," will include a discussion of the liberal arts college and the liberal arts student. The present social concern is to be encouraged to students to the world. The historical background is of the particular situations which the world will involve.

Topic three, "English," will include a discussion of the liberal arts college and the liberal arts student. The present social concern is to be encouraged to students to the world. The historical background is of the particular situations which the world will involve.

Topic four, "Values," will include a discussion of the liberal arts college and the liberal arts student. The present social concern is to be encouraged to students to the world. The historical background is of the particular situations which the world will involve.

Mr. Ralph Richard Keithan entertained as well as instructor of the session. As a young man he was able to attend the encampment in the fall of 1953. He returned to the Lawrence campus this year as an instructor of the session. As a young man he was able to attend the encampment in the fall of 1953. The Indian necessary attendance of the number of Chicago and Columbia students who have spent his life working directly with the people of India in various capacities.

India's Positive Values

As the title implies, the session was an attempt to discuss the great positive values which have been a part of the culture of India and to try to understand the various aspects of this culture through the historical background, cultural information, economic, political, and social problems.

Keithan emphasized the importance of understanding both the Orient and the Occident as "cultures" which have been present in the world for many years. He also presented the positive values which have been a part of the culture of India and to try to understand the various aspects of this culture through the historical background, cultural information, economic, political, and social problems.

People who maintain a positive and responsible responsibility to society feel this is a great value. India is an example of this, and one of the reasons is that every group age has a certain significance; young people grow up primarily to do as they are told to do in society, have only limited choices, and therefore are subject to the influence of the media and the private school.

Keithan observed the Vedanta idea which stressed upon all truth instead of fighting spiritual differences. Today, freedom is necessary for political freedom, we are able to find the cause of the Land Tenure Plan which is at present endangered by the events in India by way of the European idea of education, or non-violence.

"Mother of the Kitchen"

India was called the "Mother of the Kitchen" nation. For just a few hundred years the women have cooked the food. Until now all the women are the same, and India has been a part of the world because of its women.

"What are your plans for the future?"

The majority of the poetry of its power is based upon the light mood and a form of the "punch-line" style. He concluded the evening with a somewhat longer piece entitled "The Self Made Man." The "punch" enlightened the audience about his inspiration for such poems, as he tried to combine the biographical issues with the larger social issues. The reviewer would recommend certain of Mr. Whittaker's works for all practice.

Seclusion of Saloon

The decorations, which centered around the western motif, turned the Terrace Room into a saloon reminiscent of the old western movies with walls made of wood, mirrors along the railing and a stage depicting the Old West beginning from the center. Chairs of the different colors were arranged in the traditional pollta groove.

SEC Changes Term of Office For Treasurer

By RICK YOUNG

In a close vote Monday night, SEC voted to accept a motion to change the treasurer's term of office from a calendar year to an academic year.

Under the proposed system, the SEC treasurer will be elected in the spring with the vice-president, but will not take office until the following fall. Immediately after his election, he will serve as assistant treasurer until he takes office.

The present treasurer, Chuck Voss, said Monday that it would lead to better financial organization of SEC. Objections were raised that only freshmen and sophomores could run for treasurer, and that a sophomore would be disqualified from the SEC presidency due to the length of his term.

Knobloch further stated the office of treasurer should not be thought of as merely a possible prelude to the presidency. He said the co-president was more than a SEC "training post."

In a roll call vote, eight voted for the proposal and six voted against. The six securities and the independent women voted for the proposal. The Phi Delt representative was the lone sophomore to vote against the proposal.

Baseballers Lose Three Games

Baseball may be our national pastime, but at Lawrence this past week, none had more meaning or less disputable. The baseballers took to the field on three occasions during this period, and on all three, met the dictates of defeat.

The runs were few, the hits were fewer and the errors much too numerous at Beloit, Carleton and St. Olaf each humbled the Vikes. Seholdt’s single ended the game against St. Olaf as the Vikes scored only one run in the three games, while Lawrence mustered but 12. It was a bad week.

Trackmen Nipped by Quarter-point Margin

Lawrence College's track team lost a heartbreaking quarter-point decision to the Ripon Phoenix in a triangular meet on Saturday in the Lawrence County Sports Arena. The Phoenix scored 108 points to the Vikings 107, while Oshkosh State scored 120 points to put the Vikings in third place. The Vikings' Willy Pickert, who was unable to make the trip, with Pickert's marks would have added points in the mile event. Lawrence would have come out as the meet's top performer. He ran the 880 in 1:56 to break the two-year-old record of 1:58, and he broke his own 880 record of 1:57 set the year before, raising the event in 1:56. Along with Willy, Brad Reznak was also a double winner.

Viking Golf Squad Second at Beloit

In their first match of the year the Lawrence golf squad took a second place in a triangular meet at Beloit last Saturday. The host Buccaneers took first, defeating Knox 20-0 and Lawrence 17-3. The Vikings won the close one from Knox, 11-9. Since the competition was conducted on a match basis, individual scores meant little. However, the Vikes Neil Collins had the third lowest round of the day, touring the course in a fine 77. Jim Rasmussen was next low for the Vikings with 83. Dick Lindvedt, Jim Adley, and Scott Sherman were the other members of the team carried along for the match. However, the team berths are far from settled and these last three especially will have to defend their positions.

Look for the CHECKERBOARD— It's MURPHY'S
Impression...commendation

The editorial board would like to commend Dr. Whaly for his excellent speech in convocation yesterday. This is Dr. Whaly’s second visit to the Lawrence campus and we look forward to having him with us again soon.

Students also enjoyed his informal talk held at the Union, Thursday afternoon. Both his comments on existentialism and his answers to students’ questions were worthy of his scholastic attainments.

Petrosions Due

Petitions for the All-College Judicial Board and the President’s Committee will be due Wednesday, May 6. They may be turned in to Dick Cusic at the President's Committee.

This past week has again, as usual, been one of considerable activity. The point is that the reactions and observations of the Artist Series, or any other reporter to the speech as was the case with this particular article. It may be argued that the use of a by-line frees the writer from the conventional rules governing news articles and it seems to me that this is true. Particularly in the case of a major address of this sort, appears elsewhere in the paper. I do not, of course, mean to question the right of Eric Hansen or any other reporter to express his views on such a speech, but I am convinced that such views should not be a substitute for straight reporting. This point can be carried out in the usual editorial page or in a special column reserved for Mr. Hansen. Above all, for the newspaper readers. It is assumed that the boycott of this Thursday’s drill was impossible to carry out. After all, we might lose a credit toward graduation. We must do it in such a manner that will not hurt no one.

And then the important point is, “How can anyone get hurt by it?” But now, even this rally will probably be recorded because President Knight does not approve. Even though the editor does not approve, it is the freest period of their lives. They are afraid to fight against something in which they do not believe.

TOMAS BAER

E DEAR EDITOR:

Are Lawrence freshmen representing this generation in America? For the sake of this country, I hope not. Apathy, unquestioned acceptance of authority, and a quest for a higher grade point seem to be the goal. The general rationalization is that there is something to be learned in this course. Yet our thoughtful and security-minded men do not find it. Perhaps it is because the admissions of the Artist Series, or perhaps not, it is not to go at all. Plays and unrequited lectures are poorly attended. Is there also something to be learned from these?

Quite obviously that is not the question. The point is that the value gained from these performances will not appear on tests.

An example of this subservience to security is the present arrangement of an AFROTC program. The program is generally discounted, and most officers is it to be a waste of time. But because of apathy and the security-mindedness, it is obvious that the boycott of this Thursday’s drill was impossible to carry out. “After all, we might lose a credit toward graduation. We must do it in such a manner that will not hurt no one.”
