Why the blue suit and the gold bars?

You're needed...just as your father and grandfather were. It's an obligation that all college men have to meet...that of serving your country when and where you are needed.

The Air Force needs college-trained men as officers. This is caused by the rapidly expanding technology that goes with hypersonic air and space flight. Your four years of college have equipped you to handle the complex jobs. You have the potential to profit from advanced training...then put it to work.

There are several ways to become an officer.

First there is Air Force R.O.T.C. Another program, relatively new, is Officer Training School. Here the Air Force commissions certain college graduates, both men and women, after three months training. The navigator training program enables you to win a college degree and a commission. And, of course, there's the Air Force Academy.

The Air Force offers a starting salary average of about what you could expect as a civilian. First officers' won't have pay. Then add on such things as tax free raises and quarters allowances, free medical and dental care, retirement provisions, perhaps flight pay, and 60 days vacation per year. You come to an attractive figure. One thing more. As an officer, you will become eligible for the Air Force Institute of Technology. While on active duty many officers will attain graduate degrees at Air Force expense.

Contact your local Air Force Recruiter, Or write to Office Career Information, Dept. N.C.S., Box 7600, Washington, D.C., if you want further information about the navigator training or Officer Training School programs.

Golfers Take Fifth in MWC; Good Second Day Comeback

The Viking golfers won a strong fifth in the Mid-

West Conference meet held last weekend. The Vikings, with a 632 stroke total, were only four strokes behind third. Jim Rasmussen led the Lawrence contingent with a 36 hole total of 158.

Carleton took the top spot, finishing second with a total of 154. Third place went to Ripon and Lawrence rounded out the rest division.

Coach Heiling was very pleased with the team’s performance as they came back strong after a poor showing on the first day of competition. At the end of the first day for the Vikings, John Rasmussen was third, but on the second day he finished fourth.

Eight members of the team made the cut for the conference meet.

At the conclusion of the season, both Rasmussen and Moore were named honorary captain of the 1971 Lawrence men’s golf team.

The Melting Pot

To the Editor:
The NEC meeting on May 12 highlighted an ambiguity in the constitution which, if allowed to remain, might become very troublesome within the next few years.

Article 4, Section C of the constitution states that "the Student Body, as a whole, shall be the single authority of the college, and the Student Senate, as the elected representatives of the Student Body, shall be the single authoritative body in the governance of the college." However, since the Senate is elected by the Student Body, it is not clear how the Senate can be the single authoritative body if it is not directly representative of the Student Body.

from your PRESIDENT

Just a few items before hibernating for finals. First, the all-school vote on RSA has been postponed until next year. Even though we are supposedly a representative student government, there is no way of preventing such a vote under the present constitution. Monday's action simply postponed the vote because the motion for a referendum was tabled. This procedure which now prevents the all-school vote for the all-school vote next fall.
