Faculty Approves Revisions In College Honors Program

Changes Definition of Program

IN A VOTE taken on February 22, the faculty of Lawrence college endorsed the Committee on Honors’ recommendations for a revised Honors Program. The main changes in the present program, under evaluation by the committee since winter, center on the procedures for applying for honors based on individual projects and in the definition of an honors project itself.

To APPLY for honors on the basis of an honors project under the new regulations, a student having a recommendation from his advisor must submit a thesis to the Committee on Honors by a date set by that committee. The honors candidate will then be examined on his individual project by a group appointed by the Committee on Honors.

To correlate this procedural change, the all-college project, which a student may register only with the consent of the Committee on Honors, will be dropped. "Senior class," a course open to all seniors having the approval of the department of their major, will replace it.

The broader definition of an honors project itself, which it belongs." The=v. activity concerning "In Loco Parentis" conference, which will be held in Chicago April 3-4. Delegates to the NSA Regional conference will be selected by the council at the March 25 meeting. Those interested should contact Richard Goldsmith, Phi Tau house, Outstanding performances have been maintained, and several posters belonging to international honor societies were taken by unauthorized persons after the dance last Saturday night. Anyone involved should return them to the Student-Faculty Committee.

Student-Faculty Committee Discuss Campus Privacy

AT LAST Friday’s meeting of the Student-Faculty Committee, a tentative report of a study concerning the problem of privacy on the campus was discussed.

THE RESEARCH consisted of tabulations of questionnaire data collected from 86 students picked at random from the student body for the purpose of obtaining more specific questions and responses to the first questionnaire. The students involved in the survey were divided into five groups, moving from general feelings on the subject to more specific questions and finally to specific recommendations about an invitational open house policy.

Of the 75 students who re¬ turned the questionnaires, 79 per cent indicated by their responses to the first question that they felt that privacy was being threatened. Steverson announced that several posters belonging to International Honor Societies were taken by unauthorized individuals after the dance last Saturday night. Anyone involved should return them to the Student-Faculty Committee.

"Our audiences are mixed,” commented Producer de Rigo, "some of them come to see our plays are students, French or persona from campus life and by that". But whether or not they under¬ stand English, they seem to get the feeling of the play.

Rene Clermont will direct the Greuzean play, starring Nicole Denouant. Miss Denouant toured the 1866 production of Moliere’s class- ic “School for Wives.” Her dresses for the comedy were designed by the Paris couturier Pierre Cardin.

“Orphee,” which is di¬ rected by Jean Laurents and produced by Victor Tretau de Paris company, will be presented to the Committee on Student Affairs, the preliminary re¬ search was discussed and put into meaningful context.

To Present Two French Plays

Le Treport de Paris Company

To Present Two French Plays

TWO MODERN French plays will be given in their original language at 8:15 p.m., March 26 in the Lawrence college music drama center, when the company of Le Treport de Paris tours Wisconsin and beyond to Hawaii until April 5. In all, the company will perform 70 per¬ formances in 50 cities. "Our audiences are mixed," commented Producer de Rigo, "some of them come to see our plays are students, French or persona from campus life and by that". But whether or not they under¬ stand English, they seem to get the feeling of the play.

The meeting will be divided into five sessions: Student responsibility within the democratic university, and the moral responsibility of the administrator in disciplining students and preventing such misconduct.

The spring NSA Illinois-Wisconsin Congress will be held at the University of Wisconsin on April 3-4. Events will include an opening banquet, a business session and legislative sessions.

Topics for the discussion sessions will include the remaining Congress at the University of Chicago on April 3-4.

New officers of Interfraternal Council will be elected by a committee made up of members of each fraternity. They include Dennis Walsh, president, Seymour Freidman, secretary, and Donald Smart, treasurer.
Sigma Alpha Iota to Give Benefit Recital March 28

THREE CHILDREN'S anthems by Lawrence Conservatory Director LaVahn Maesch, sung by choirs conducted by the composer's wife, will highlight a benefit recital at 8:15 p.m., Friday, March 29, in Harper hall.

MRS. MAESCH and the Carol Choirs of First Congregational church will be assisted by flutist Patricia Mann, a conservatory instructor in music.

The benefit program is given annually by the Lawrence chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, women's national music society.

Maeesch's third work, "All Things Bright and Beautiful," will feature the three choirs in joint performance. A new setting of the "Kyrie" and "Agnus Dei" from the Mass by G. F. Handel is also included.

"Birds are Singing," was composed for the church's three youth choirs on earlier occasions. In this case, they form part of an all-scholastic choir program.

"Awake to Love and Work," written for the church's three Pilgrim choirs, composed of fifth and sixth graders and made up of second through seventh graders in the program annually by the Lawrence conservatory chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, is also featured. It includes "Passacaglia and Fugue in B minor," J. S. Bach, "Rhythmic Trumpet," Handel, "Fantasia" on "Aria della Sua Pace," Mozart, "Oboe Concerto," Mozart, "Intrada," Arthur Honegger, and "Fantasia" on "Dalla sua pace," Mozart.

Students participating in the program are Judy Lindquist Lewandowski, Ruth Dahlke, Patricia Sayre, Edward Hoffmann, David Jeurs, Gerald DeYoung, Donald Yeom, Guy Pearson, Ann Uber, Eileen Neau, Pam Berger and John Hebblethwaite.

Miss Dohr, president; Mrs. Uhrenreich, vice president; Kaffie Pickens, secretary; Marjorie Wilt, treasurer.

"A Smart Smock" — A Breezy Beachcomber

"A One-Act Tonight Is 'The Zoo Story'" A student-directed, one-act play, Edward Albee's "The Zoo Story," will be presented at 7:30 p.m. in Stansbury hall. The play, which will be directed by Sabine Kremer, depicts the terrors of the class struggle.

The event is open to the public without charge.

Pledges Plan Supper

The Delta Gamma pledge committee is composed of Miss Dehr, Miss Gilbert, Mr. Harold Schneider, Miss Morton and Mrs. Backlund. This term three women students will be added, probably two seniors and a junior.

Registrar Announces Exam Plans for Non-Signers

THE COLLEGE administrative office recently announced final exam arrangements for those students who have not signed the honor pledge. Students who have not signed the pledge will be given in Science hall and Main hall on the indicated dates and times.

ON WEDNESDAY, March 13, a.m., final exams, for those who have not signed the honor pledge, will be given in Science hall 106, while in the afternoon of March 13, the testing room will be Main hall 29.

Main hall 29 will also be the location for all finals on the morning of Thursday, March 14, on Thursday afternoon in the testing room will be Main hall 30.

Friday morning March 15 tests will be administered in Main hall 400, and on Friday afternoon in Main hall 415. On the last morning of testing, Saturday March 16, the testing room will be Main hall 39.

ACCORDING to Miss Dorothy Theobald, Registrar, students who have not signed the pledge will receive copies of this exam schedule in their mailboxes this week.

The exams have been chosen because of their size and the time they are being given during times.

The examinations for students who have not signed the honor pledge will be proctored by the faculty in accordance with the faculty decision, based on the recommendation of the Commit­tee on Administration, that students who have not signed the pledge will have proctoring for all final examinations.

On the last day of final exams for non-signers, a reminder will result in some difficulties encountered last term. Standby theatre was originally chosen as the testing room for the only place large enough to accommodate all students who had not signed the pledge.

Public Schools Will Exhibit Art

An exhibit of art work from the public schools will fill the galleries of the Lawrence College Worcester art center during the month of March. The show will include works done by students from kindergarten through high school in the wide range of mediums used in the schools, both two and three-dimensional.

Preliminary selection of student work was done by the art teachers at the elementary, junior, and senior high school level. The final choice of works to be exhibited has been made by Lawrence art faculty: Chairman Thomas N. Dietrich and Michael Brandt.

Academic Pressure Subject of Letter

Freshman women's counselors recently sent a letter to Dean Chandler Brown discussing the problem of what they considered the excessive academic pressures on the freshmen girls. In commenting on the letter, Dean Brown said that he had been very much impressed with it and was appreciative of the concerns involved.

He has sent a note to President Knight, who is chairman of the Committee on Instruction, and said that that committee will discuss the various suggestions. He also mentioned some suggestions already being considered for next year's program.

Since most freshmen take a foreign language and a laboratory science, they spend more hours in class than do most upperclassmen. A system whereby beginning languages could be dropped, and not all lab sciences would begin first term is under consideration.

Dean Brown said that the freshman Studies course will probably be offered next year.

An Evaluation

Barely has a topic been so consistently and heatedly discussed as the inception of the 3-3 plan at Lawrence. Up to this point we have compared it to the two semester plan that they have known; freshman can only wonder if past students felt as pressed for time as they do this year. Most lawrentians have felt tremendous pressures, especially this past week.

The most important factor is the length of the term. Ten weeks does not provide much time to study, but should it be 1)8 a large portion of time which must be spent in studying. A more comprehensive catalog of interest is nearly impossible.

Interest in student activities outside the classroom has been less in the past years, and at least part of this is due to the student’s time spent in his studying for even two or three days and extensive reading in a particular field of interest is nearly impossible.

Lawrence has not been greatly upset by any issue this year, with the exception of N.S.A. The reason is not a lack of issues, but of interest—and perhaps even more, of time. Each student is most involved with himself and getting through tomorrow’s test and next week’s examination.

In reviewing the first two terms of this year, numerous questions as to the nature and purpose of a liberal education have been partially answered by two semesters of much more than classroom learning and students should have been encouraged especially to pursue outside interests without sacrificing their studies, exactly what does a "college education" consist of? What kind of experiences and situations comprise a degree?

This situation which must be ironed out before the 3-3 plan can reach perfection.

International Weekend

A special congratulations is in order for successful International Weekend coordinators Judy Jacobs and Tony Valukas and their competent and hardworking committee. Speakers, both at the keynote speech and the International dinner, were excellent and the international students from other colleges added much to the discussions and atmosphere of the smoothly run weekend.

Hoolenanny

By Dusty Rhodes

A number of folk music books are currently on the market, most are valuable in some respects, a few are not. Among those good ones are two in particular which I have found most useful in the past few years.

Folk Song, edited by Herbert Haufrecht is published by Hal Leonard Music Inc., New York, and sells for $2. This 152-page paperback was first published in 1939 and presents a diversified sampling of American songs.

The usual categorical areas (work songs, cowboy songs, love songs, sea chanties, spirituals, cayptains, patriotic songs, etc.) are included. There are an amazing number of songs in this book that have been recently popular. Either many of the folk people use this book for material, or Mr. Haufrecht has a remarkable sense of what becomes popular in folk music.

Chords, music and words are given on each number, but no history. The book is presented in an easy to follow style and is particularly for beginners, although more advance folk folk would find it equally valuable.

A more comprehensive collection is Alan Losens’s The Folk Songs of North America published by Doubleday and Co., New York (1930) and sells for $7.50. Losen's divides the book into four geographical sections: The North, Southern Mountains and Trench woods, The West and The Negro South.

A smattering of history or local color is given for the songs, each of which is presented in the same clear, understandable style as Folks Song. Here too, a number of recently or currently popular folk songs are included in this 628 page hard covered folk study.

An added attraction here is a section at the end giving guitar and banjo chords and the major and minor keys.

Workmen Busy on New Dorm; Facilities to House 175 Men

By ELISE WALTH

Back behind Alsted house a big hole was dug, a big hole which what pounding can be heard coming from this vicinity. If a lawrentian should happen to feel an overwhelming curiosity to know the source of these noises and have a spare moment from his research papers, studying for tests and doing his regular assignments, a short walk behind Alsted house will reveal the reason for these noises.

We will find not only the mad but a huge, four-storied building is going to be built and men will be busy pounding beams into place. Out of this massive structure will come Lawrence’s new men’s dorm which will house about 175 men starting next September.

The Lawrentian printed the artist’s conception of the new dorm in its October 29th issue. Its interior layout is very similar to that of Plants, however, with the lounge situated differently. The outside will be of red brick instead of the traditional yellow brick of Plants, Colman and Ornus by.

Trees and landscaping have been added, the dorm will be only upperclass men who should lose its massive character and blend in better with the residential section it belongs to.

All these plans are to be completed by next September for the beginning of the new school year. The dorm will be of red brick instead of the traditional yellow brick of Plants, Colman and Ornus by.

FACILITIES: - In all rooms — beds for the major and minor keys. - In the dorm will house the men who intend to enter graduate school in the social sciences, and of course desks for the major and minor keys. - The new dorm is not being built to accommodate an expanding Lawrence student body, for the college plans to stay at an enrollment of 1200 which will mean admitting just a few more students in the next few years.

The dorm will house the men who are living in the temporary frame house dorms such as G a t a house, Brook anne house, and Fawcett house.

As now planned, there will be only upperclass men living in the dorm. The freshman men will stay at Bru kaw and Plants.

The new dorm will not have kitchen facilities, so bogs will be converted to a room dining hall for upperclass men.

With the men vacating the frame house dorms, these houses will be used as women’s quarters (until a more permanent women’s dorm is built), for administration offices, and rented for faculty use.

An Open Letter To Mr. Fomerantz
Dear Sir:

It seems to us that anyone who has been associated with Lawrence as you seem to be would be well advised to turn a little of this concern into ACTION. Your criticism of the school seems to us to be the most vitriolic ever directed to anything in Lawrence history. We feel, quite unjust.

We should like to see a more thorough analysis of Lawrence's administration. Your work seems to us to be the most fantastic example of the worst criticism possible.

WLFM, Sincerely yours,

General Criticism

This is addressed to the general student body rather than to Mr. William A. Fomerantz, specifically, because he was asked personally, in response to his article this week, for constructive suggestions as to what sort of help we could give him. Usually, however, people write us that they are having the same problem, so we felt compelled to give the reply.

Mr. Fomerantz, what you are experiencing is not unique, is not new. If you had investigated Lawrence thoroughly, you would have found that Lawrence is the most expensive school for the money you are paying for it. People have said the same thing for the last sixty years.

You say you have been to college for only one year. You have not, I believe, seen Lawrence from the other end.

Sincerely yours,

Charles Hoffman, WLFM Staff Writer

Student Defends Grade Point

To the Editors:

Just about every week The Lawrence manages to print a letter which cuts up Lawrence college with keen-edged and devastating wit. The general out­ come is that Lawrence needs a "renaissance of life," and it seems that this renaissance depends greatly upon participat­ing in worthwhile activities.

One of the villains which interferes with these activities is that "false deity," the Grade Point.

I maintain, upon risk of being called a "stupid son of a gun," that the situation should rightly be reversed. I consider the grade point of great importance, worth all the effort expended upon it. Therefore, of only secondary importance is the simple rule that on a grade point represents acquired knowledge.

No matter how much the students themselves (or the faculty) learn only what appeals to them (which is often very in­ complete, because of "desert grade" and "no grade" which stand by themselves in the books) cannot create a "renaissance." The hard fact remains that people who study learn. They learn to be sure, much more forgotten facts, but they are ideas which otherwise we would have known.

And I have yet to meet a student who was qualified to decide what was important to learn and what was not. No college student can voluntarily march to whole avenues of knowledge, in the belief that there are only two. They need to know the same things about the same things.

For a Lawrence student this means that he owes it to himself to learn as much as he can from whatever courses he is taking. A day during a week does not pass in vain. The knowledge itself is not ultimately important, although it is a terrible waste of your time and effort. It is not possible to turn your years of effort into their own private domain. The raise in beverage prices was done to discourage those who still have the intention of making "The Campus" another private beer bar. The Campus was established for everyone. Lawrence students will soon be having of their own. When you return, the beverage prices will be back to normal and "The Campus" will be a restaurant of which everyone will be proud.

Sincerely yours,

George A. Kattler, Production Manager

STUDENT WORK-STUDY GROUP

Group To Go to Biloxi, Mississippi

by M. C. VANDER WAL

DURING the Lawrence college spring vacation a group of 21 students together with Professor and Mrs. Richard Zaehlik and the Rev. and Mrs. William Har­ land of the First Congregational church, will engage in a work-study project at the Back Bay Mission, Biloxi, Mississippi.

THE MISSION, part of the United Church of Christ, is concerned with providing education, social and spiritual services to Negro and white persons of the area. As part of its program the mission supports a Youth Shop, a Credit union, and a teenage program which en­ rolls more than 1,000 youth, providing recreational and counseling activities.

The basic purpose of the student work-study project is to gain an understanding of this particular religious and social-economic enterprise through personal experience.

The group participating will do about approximately 30 hours of manual labor at the mission and to private homes, working with Negroes and fishermen in the area.

In addition to this manual labor two evenings will be scheduled with citi­ zens of Biloxi who represent divergent local sentiments on race relations.

Following their stay at the mission, the group plans to visit New Orleans and Tou­ lousine college which is a pro­ minently Negro private Cong­ regational affiliated college outside of Jackson, Missis­ sippi.

SALUTE: JERRY JOHNSON

Recently, Northwestern Bell promoted Jerry Johnson (B.S.E.E., 1960) to District Equipment Engineer in Omaha. On this new job, Jerry supervises a staff of eleven engineers and four clerks. Quite an achievement for an engineer with the company only two years.

Jerry showed exceptional ability from his first assignment as an Outside Plant Engineer. There he gained attention for his capable handling of a special cable project. This led to a promotion to Service Transmission Engineer, the job that preceded his most recent step up.

Jerry Johnson and other young engineers like him in Bell Telephone Companies throughout the country have kept the promise of the company to the homes and businesses of a growing America.

Students Have Opportunity To Vie for English Prizes

Each year six prizes in English are awarded for original student compositions: the Hicks prize in Fiction for the best short story; the Hicks prize in poetry for the best poem; the Alexander Field prize for the best essay; the Wood prize for the best essay; the Tichener prize for the best critical essay written by any student enrolled in an English literature course.

The Hicks, Reid, Wood and Cusic prizes are open to all students of the college; the Tichener prize is restricted to students taking one or more courses in English, whether or not they are majoring in it.

Students are encouraged to consult members of the department concerning material which they may wish to submit. The poems, sketches, and essays may be of any length. There is no limit to the number of entries that any one contestant may submit. (Only three essays will be accepted from any student in the Tichener competition.) All manuscripts must be placed in the box marked "English Prizes," Mrs. Lesley's office (Main Hall 246), not later than 4 p.m. on Monday, April 1, 1963.

None of the contest prizes and only one Tichener prize is to be judged should any student submit more than one manuscript.

All works will be judged by faculty members from another college.

It has been customary for the winning papers to be published each year in The Contributor. Contestants wishing to have their entries considered for publication should indicate it on the first page of each manuscript. All manuscripts must be in typewritten form. It is not the usual decorations.

Cagers Falls Again; Finish in 9th Place

IT'S ALL OVER! The long and grueling basketball season ended on a note of frustration last weekend as the Vikings dropped their final two contests to sink into ninth place in the annual Midwest Conference. The two Viking competitors, each avenging a previous loss to Lawrence college, failed to have their wishes granted.

But the season was not as dismal as it appeared, for Lawrence was only the last year and boasts the second top scorer in the league in Joel Ungrodt.

Besides this, only one starter will be lost for next season, and the team seems to be on the rise. The Vikings were one of the brightening Lawrence teams this year, and Ungrodt was voted one of the most potential players for next year by the end of the season. He had tells the squash team at the beginning of the season by soaring into first place.

The wrestling team, which captured their first MWC championship last year had a squad of only four men and has two MWC records to its credit—freshman marks and has two MWC records to his credit.

The University of Chicago, which competes in various MWC events throughout the year, capped second place by scoring high in the relay events.

The University of Chicago, which competes in various MWC events throughout the year, capped second place by scoring high in the relay events.

The Viking team battled closely with every team in the league except Cornell. If it were not for the home-court calls against us, Flom would have gained a victory over the two MWC teams that could only garner enough points to tie with Monmouth. With a quick start these cagers threw a scare into the front-running squads at the beginning of the season by soaring into first place.

The most credit must be given to two seniors, Fred Roth and A1 Blomgren, Chris Isely, Jack Robertson and Bill Reeves. A1 Blomgren, Chris Isely, Jack Robertson and Bill Reeves. In the book, the author, a physiologist, of distinction, is present an abridgment of the work that Lawrence was doing at research stations in various parts of the world. When Mrs. Gilbert's book originally appeared in 1938, it was condemned in the Readin's Digest and was the subject of a libel action by Dr. Gilbert. Swimmers Take 3rd Place; Carleton Wins MWC Meet

Foster Triumphs in Diving Event; Snyder Victorious in Breaststroke

THE LAWRENCE swimmers surged into 3rd place in the conference meet swim meet by totaling 59 points. Lawrence's star breaststroker, Dick Snyder, set a conference record during the preliminaries (2:52.4) for his event, and followed up this time with a first place win in the finals.

DAN FOSTER was also a gold medal winner for Lawrence. He won the diving, finishing ahead of Beloit's Mann by 7 of a point.

THE MWC meet was full of surprises. Carleton failed to capture certain events that it was expected to win, and Beloit produced surprising strength in many places. One of the biggest surprises was the performance of Grinnell. Lawrence had beaten the Crusaders in dual meets in both the 200-yard butterfly and breaststroke, and Grinnell showed higher point totals than West's other strong individuals.

HOWER, one of Grinnell's swimmers was disqualified during the 400-yard medley relay and both of his other events were also disallowed by Grinnell. Beloit had two swimmers disqualified and had double first place wins. Bill Putnam won the 400-yard medley relay and the 100-yard freestyle.

In an attempt to catch the Carleton team, breaking freestyle relay team, Putnam swam the first leg. This time, Von Stynke won the 200-yard individual medley (2:13.5), tying his own conference record.

Lawrence Junior Set to Crack All Existing Basketball Records

JOEL UNGRODT, Lawrence's 5'11" guard and captain of the basketball team, is on his way to cracking every Lawrence college basketball record in existence.

Ungrodt already holds the record of 61 points, a mark he established in the Carleton game and which he did not equal in his second time high school basketball scoring record.

Joel is a DEADLY jump shot artist and still maintains the state high school record of 100 free throws with 446 points in 22 games.

Jim Street should greatly aid Ungrodt in the coming season, having averaged just less than 20 markers a game.

Another record this smooth playing guard is shooting for is Rasmussen's record for a three-year span. In the 1953-55 period Rasmussen amassed 1187 points. Ungrodt could easily break this mark if he could come up with 486 points in 22 games. Reports state that Ungrodt has decided to return for another year, which would have meant higher scoring.

Records and honors are not new for this amazing, popular senior. Ungrodt was one of the few high school basketball players ever to appear in the state tournament with two different teams.

As a junior he took the Madison trip with Green Bay West. In his senior year he was an instrumental factor in Wagner's state championship.

His senior year in high school was his state-wide publicity. He was selected on the first all-state basketball team in Lawrence's history, the all-state tournament team, the Madison Press-Citizen's second team all-state.

The basketball is not the only sport for the bespectacled Ungrodt. During his high school days he won three let-

Spring Sports To Begin Soon

With the winter sports concluded for another year, the spring athletics have come onto the Lawrence sports scene. Currently athletics vary on positions for the baseball, golf, tennis and track teams are getting into shape through unorganized practice sessions at Alexander Field.

Any Lawrence student who is interested in going out for a spring sport and who has not, contacted the Lawrence athletic department should get in touch with either Coach David Jim Street, for baseball; Coach Dave Carey for tennis or Coach Bob Sundell for track before Monday, March 19.

There are still chances for starting positions on all of these squads and the Lawrence athletic department encourages all who are interested in a spring sport to contact them.

Regular practice sessions start for all sports on Monday, March 18. The track season has already competed in one meet while the other sports will open their seasons in the second week in April.
