Laurentian Receives 20,000 Big Ones

by Barry Jan, student Counsellor, Laurier

In a precedent-setting move earlier this week, LUCC allocated nearly $100,000 to The Laurentian. This amount will be matched by the President's Fund, providing a total package of nearly $200,000. The special session at which this decision was reached took place behind closed doors and details are unavailable, but departing Executive Editor David Eliot was seen leaving the meeting dancing about and clicking his heels in glee.

It seems that the Council was attempting to correct errors in past allocations which left the newspaper with less-than-desirable operational capabilities. Problems that have recently plagued The Laurentian include an archaic laser printer, excruciatingly dilatory computer systems, a defunct wax machine, and a contraband light board.

Maintaining a functional staff has also proven a challenge. In addition to long hours, stress, and periods of confinement in a very small room with several other individuals, a position on the newspaper typically included a lack of appreciation and frequent attacks. The latter two problems have ceased, however, since Eliot's stint in the Tom Zoellner Clinic for Abusive Newspaper Editors, and the current staff has rallied supportively around their leader. The new allocation will allow the complete revamping, upgrade, and expansion of the newspaper's equipment. Planned purchases include two complete Macintosh workstations with networking capabilities and a deluxe wax machine which will coat paper rather than the floor. A scanner and a desktop photocopier will also contribute greatly to publishing efficiency and eliminate late-night, panic-stricken calls to Campus Security from Laurentian staff members begging for access to the copier in the library or Memorial Union.

A $5,000 budget surplus is expected following the acquisition of this equipment. This surplus will adequately fund the much-debated proposed honorariums for Laurentian editors, as well as a week-long staff vacation in some exotic location to be announced at a later date. Comments on this from members of the current staff ranged from "That's right, Uh-Huh!!!!!!" to "Foop! eats meat!"

In another surprisingly generous move, President Rick Warch offered to finance pizza delivery service for the staff on publication nights, which often last into the wee hours of the morning. Bearing with pride for the leprous and bounds made by The Laurentian in the past year, Warch declared that he was willing to contribute in any way to "the continuing elevation of a quality paper."
The Laurentian wishes to thank LUCC, President Warch, and the campus at large for their new-found and unconditional support.

Honour Council Hit Squad (H.C.H.S.) enforces justice.

by Heath J. Moonbeam Brown

Tough times require tough measures.

On Monday, March 29, the Honor Council unanimously voted in favor of public execution by guillotine to apprehend a convicted violator of the Lawrence University Honor Code.

The student, Kristal Shandlair, was found guilty by the Honor Council of plagiarism in the first degree. Shandlair's professor, Shandalier Kler, brought Shandlair up to the Honor

Mental Masturbation at the Convocation

by Phil M'Crackin

The administration at Lawrence, it seems, is fed up with the poor attendance which plagues convocations. The scarcity of students at convocations has resulted in the passing of new legislation as well as several amendments to the Honor Code. These new legislation calls for mandatory attendance to all convos, while the Council on charges of plagiarism on March 18.

In his presentation to the Honor Council, Professor Kler charged that Shandlair's Freshman Studies paper was plagiarized from a copy of Cliff Notes. The paper was entitled "Good versus Evil in Joseph Conrad's The

Continued to Page 4

Continued to Page 4
Hi, Mom!

THE LARANUENCH

Are you dissatisfied with your current major? Or are you having trouble finding a major that suits your academic interests? If the answer to one of these questions is "Yes," then read on.

Many college students experience difficulty in choosing a major. Often, they discover the major they chose is not what they thought it would be, or it is just too damn hard. That is why the "General College Major" has been developed. This major will allow even the most intimidated student to get some kind of degree for his/her $70,000+ in tuition. Students in other majors may find many of these classes useful in everyday college life.

To fulfill the General College Degree requirements, the student must take at least six classes from the area and graduate with a GPA which contains a non-zero digit within three decimal places—a minimum of 0.001. Here, then, are the courses in the General College Major:

10 Introduction to Room Design
Focuses on proper poster selection and placement. Students will learn how to cover every square inch of wall space. For the final exam, each student will be rated on a scale of 1 to 30 in three categories: Originality, Elegance, and Tape Efficiency.

14 College Music: Pink Floyd to Public Enemy
Instructs the student in what constitutes quality college music. Includes the Law of Volume Proportion—the louder the music is played, the better it sounds. Not recommended for students who enjoy the music of bands like Wings or The Who.

20 Introduction to Drinking Games
Explores the principles of various drinking games. Students will master such uncommon quenchers into glasses, sticking playing cards to their foreheads, and, of course, chugging. The final exam will consist of the assisted shogunning of a full can of beer by each lab.

22 Hurting Lab
This course explores all aspects of vomiting ranging from "How to tell if you're going to hurl" to "How to hide your vomit from your roommate." Also covers the "Dishonest Drunkard Syndrome"—the tendency of a drunken student to yell "I'M FINE!" moments before barfing. Each student will be required to purchase a $10 lab clean-up fee.

28 Grade Appreciation
This course teaches the student how to help their parents appreciate the grades they are receiving. Covers many different ideological approaches ranging from "It's Not Like High School" to "A C Here Is Like An A At a State School.
Includes the time-honored Wielenberg Principle: "I'll do better next term."

35 Pick-Up Lines: How to Use and/or Spot Them
A survey of hundreds of pick-up lines in current usage. Includes "Your pants are so clean I can see myself in them," and "Your father must be a thief—he stole the stars from the sky and put them into your eyes." Also includes clever comebacks such as "I wouldn't let you touch me if my legs were being slowly but surely chewed off from the ankles up by a pack of sweaty, slavering, rabid weasels and you were the only one who could save me."

40 Introduction to All Languages
A wide-ranging survey of all languages currently being spoken in the world. The students will learn three to four catch-phrases in each language, such as "Hello" and "Lu Propaganda: Plot to Cause Insanity
by Giusienne Gredski
Our great student body is being undermined by a secret fiction of faculty members who brainwash defenseless students and wield powerful red-marking devices on a daily basis. This group is known as the PROFS (Powerfully Relentless On Floundering Students) Through careful manipulation and clever legislative planning, the PROFS have made convocations mandatory. The effect of such repeated attendance has been confirmed by experts to result in insanity. It seems that the PROFS may finally achieve their goal. It is estimated that by the end of this academic year every student will become clinically insane. Of course, side effects will include inability to study for exams, vision impairment, extreme bodily discomfort, hysteria, and dependence on laxatives. We cannot let this happen.

Enforcement will involve an elaborate electric harness system which holds and counts the students attending the convocation. Each student will have a bar code electronically inscribed in the forehead region. When the master computer detects an absence, a small hovering robot called a C.A.T.C.H. (Computer Automated Tracking and Capturing Harassment) will be dispatched and the missing students will be collected for questioning. The speaker will have ultimate control over the student audience. A powerful yet simple control panel located in the podium will allow the speaker to stimulate applause, laughter, crying, and fright among the audience via electronic pulses. Similarly, the PROFS will be able to manipulate the audience using a master control panel with a voice modulator sequencing a diaphragmatic simulator. In effect, through powerful electric shocks the PROFS will be able to induce a standing response and quirkily bodied gestures and overturn their own orders. Professor Glick confirmed his suspicions about the effect of mandatory convocations this week when several of his students, after attending all of their classes, expressed untypical apathy and a temporary insanity.

If we allow the PROFS to do this to us, we will become slobbering masses of quivering flesh, slightly impinging upon our ability to fulfill our roles as students.

A Major Dilemma

The Lawrentian, USPS 306-680, is published bi-weekly, fifteen times a year while classes are in session, and is distributed free of charge to students, faculty, and staff on the Lawrentine University campus. Subscription is twenty dollars a year. Second-class postage paid at Appleton, Wisconsin. POSTMASTER: send address changes to PO Box 599, Appleton, WI 54912.

Executive Editor: Snow Not So White
Assistant Editor: Rambo
News Editor: Buflify
Editorial Editor: Flirty
Feature Editor: Pukey
Sports Editor: Spacy
Entertainment Editor: Gooey
Layout Editors: Boosy
Copy Editor: Silly
Cartoon Editor: Dopey
Photography Editor: Noisy
Calendar Editor: Horsey
Advising Manager: Dizty
Business Manager: Gunby

The potential participants, 4- and 5-year-olds, were introduced to the Lawrentine campus this Tuesday morning. This pilot group, composed of alumni and community children, could be expanded within the next several years, depending upon success and additional outside support.

The two main goals of the First Start Program for Future Lawrentians, Lawrence Alumni and Admissions offices have joined forces in forming the First Start Program for Future Lawrentians. Lawrence Alumni and Admissions officers saw a need for such a program following the closing of the Kalkoska, MI school system due to its $1.5 million deficit. With the economy as unsteady as it still is, the LU officers deemed it a necessity to invest in the future.

The selection process for the First Start program (class of 2009) has already begun. The potential participants, 4- and 5-year-olds, were introduced to the Lawrentine campus this Tuesday morning. This pilot group, composed of alumni and community children, could be expanded within the next several years, depending upon success and additional outside support.

LU Propaganda: Plot to Cause Insanity

by Giusienne Gredski
In response to the low and dropping educational standard of some American schools, the Lawrence Alumni and Admissions offices have joined forces in forming the First Start Program for Future Lawrentians. Lawrence Alumni and Admissions officers saw a need for such a program following the closing of the Kalkoska, MI school system due to its $1.5 million deficit. With the economy as unsteady as it still is, the LU officers deemed it a necessity to invest in the future.

The selection process for the First Start program (class of 2009) has already begun. The potential participants, 4- and 5-year-olds, were introduced to the Lawrentine campus this Tuesday morning. This pilot group, composed of alumni and community children, could be expanded within the next several years, depending upon success and additional outside support.

The two main goals of the First Start Program for Future Lawrentians, or LUFS, are to insure that the high standard of academic excellence at Lawrence will be held into the next century and to assist parents in financing the ever-rising costs of the Lawrence Experience.

This program will require children to participate in a variety of programs designed to teach and gear them towards higher education. Included are: Main Hall forums, mandatory convocation attendance, participation in the summer programs at Bjorklunden, and perhaps other topical seminars for individuals. In addition, LU coaches will instruct potential athletes on the finesse of sport.

Continued to Page 4
April 1, 1993

Mr. So Big Lives

by Good-Boy, Marine of Logos

Those of you who read the October 28 issue of The Lawrenceian (Vol. CX, No. 3) may remember the front-page article "Demons Appear at Oakhills". Those of you who read the article may also have glanced at the photo above the story, showing Lawrence Freeman Jeremy Hutchinson shakins hands with then-Vice-President and current candidate Al Gore.

But this story isn't about Jeremy Hutchinson, or Al Gore. This story is about a man whose courage outweighs that of both Gore and Hutchinson, whos skills as a warrior exceed those of even Chuck Norris and Mike Oslin. This is a man who can be seen hovering behind Al Gore's right shoulder, in a photo, who has such control over such situations that he is able to lower his skin tone to that of a 95-year-old Jamaican, so that he will remain unseen and in the background, ready to pounce upon any who dare threaten the life of Al Gore. This man is Vito Papercini.

Vito Papercini was born on May 9, 1963 to a large family on the rocky island of Pantelleria, which is located about 90 miles Southwest of Sicily. His father ran a small bean plantation, and his mother ran an upscale restaurant filled with collectable spoons, which Mama Papercini adored.

Unfortunately, in 1975, Vito's father and 7 other brothers were gunned down in the streets of Sciacca by the brutal Papercini family, which was involved in the lentil export business (The Papercini family was angered by the Papercini family's success, due primarily to the trade imbalance between Sicily and Pantelleria, which was primarily caused by the Papercini's ability to produce cheap and reliable cars and stereo components.). Vito successfully evaded death by hiding beneath one of the newly-bought milk cows, which had been killed by Jorge Rodriguez Martinez "Pancho" Papercini's lentil crop was destroyed. When the Papercini's came to investigate, they found Vito, unharmed, and believed him to be the sole survivor of the massacre.

Despite his loss, however, Vito refused to give up hope. He converted the Papercini family bean farm into a locust farm, where he grew and bred locusts. In 1985, he returned to Sicily, and released his locusts into the Papercini plantation. Within hours, the Papercini's lentil crop was destroyed. When the Papercini's came to investigate, they found Vito, unharmed, and believed him to be the sole survivor of the massacre.

The Papercini massacre (later known as the "Lentil/Locust/Collectable Spoon Massacre of 1983") was a turning point in Vito's life. After the massacre, Vito evaded the Sicilian police and fled to the island of Lagosta. While Lagosta belonged to Sicily, it was too close to Yugoslavia for the Sicilians to effectively patrol. Vito sold the family boat and bought a one-way ticket to the United States. He arrived in the U.S. in 1985.

Upon his arrival in the United States, Vito was captured by the CIA. He was captured in conjunction with the Franklin Mint (the company that produces the Pewter Civil War chess set and all high quality collectable spoons). Vito was then dealt a deal with the CIA, stipulating that he would not be extradited to Sicily. In exchange, Vito would become the first Pantellerian ever to join the ranks of the CIA.

In 1988, Vito received the Platinum Cross for saving the life of presidential candidate Michael Dukakis. Unfortunately, he killed six CIA agents in the process, all of whom had been ordered to assassinate Dukakis. Vito became disenchanted with the CIA for a while and traveled to Zimbabwe to fight as a mercenary in the Zululand civil war (Vito left a sort of kinship to the Zimbabwean peasants, who are some of the most successful bean farmers in the world). In 1992, Vito was called back into service in the U.S. as Al Gore's personal bodyguard.

All of Vito's best traits can be seen in The Lawrenceian photo, taken on October 27. Vito is, at all times, calm and cool, dressed in a conservative suit that says "I may be a Democrat, but that doesn't mean I have to dress like a silly liberal." Vito continuously blends into whatever environment he is in, increasing his ability to remain unseen during official functions. Vito Papercini, a man with an incredible ability to kill with only collectable spoons.

Vito would have been seen in The Lawrenceian photo, taken on October 27. Vito is, at all times, calm and cool, dressed in a conservative suit that says "I may be a Democrat, but that doesn't mean I have to dress like a silly liberal." Vito continuously blends into whatever environment he is in, increasing his ability to remain unseen during official functions. Vito Papercini, a man with an incredible ability to kill with only collectable spoons.

The Papercini massacre (later known as the "Lentil/Locust/Collectable Spoon Massacre of 1983") was a turning point in Vito's life. After the massacre, Vito evaded the Sicilian police and fled to the island of Lagosta. While Lagosta belonged to Sicily, it was too close to Yugoslavia for the Sicilians to effectively patrol. Vito sold the family boat and bought a one-way ticket to the United States. He arrived in the U.S. in 1985.

Upon his arrival in the United States, Vito was captured by the CIA. He was captured in conjunction with the Franklin Mint (the company that produces the Pewter Civil War chess set and all high quality collectable spoons). Vito was then dealt a deal with the CIA, stipulating that he would not be extradited to Sicily. In exchange, Vito would become the first Pantellerian ever to join the ranks of the CIA.

In 1988, Vito received the Platinum Cross for saving the life of presidential candidate Michael Dukakis. Unfortunately, he killed six CIA agents in the process, all of whom had been ordered to assassinate Dukakis. Vito became disenchanted with the CIA for a while and traveled to Zimbabwe to fight as a mercenary in the Zululand civil war (Vito left a sort of kinship to the Zimbabwean peasants, who are some of the most successful bean farmers in the world). In 1992, Vito was called back into service in the U.S. as Al Gore's personal bodyguard.

All of Vito's best traits can be seen in The Lawrenceian photo, taken on October 27. Vito is, at all times, calm and cool, dressed in a conservative suit that says "I may be a Democrat, but that doesn't mean I have to dress like a silly liberal." Vito continuously blends into whatever environment he is in, increasing his ability to remain unseen during official functions. Vito Papercini, a man with an incredible ability to kill with only collectable spoons.

The Papercini massacre (later known as the "Lentil/Locust/Collectable Spoon Massacre of 1983") was a turning point in Vito's life. After the massacre, Vito evaded the Sicilian police and fled to the island of Lagosta. While Lagosta belonged to Sicily, it was too close to Yugoslavia for the Sicilians to effectively patrol. Vito sold the family boat and bought a one-way ticket to the United States. He arrived in the U.S. in 1985.

Upon his arrival in the United States, Vito was captured by the CIA. He was captured in conjunction with the Franklin Mint (the company that produces the Pewter Civil War chess set and all high quality collectable spoons). Vito was then dealt a deal with the CIA, stipulating that he would not be extradited to Sicily. In exchange, Vito would become the first Pantellerian ever to join the ranks of the CIA.

In 1988, Vito received the Platinum Cross for saving the life of presidential candidate Michael Dukakis. Unfortunately, he killed six CIA agents in the process, all of whom had been ordered to assassinate Dukakis. Vito became disenchanted with the CIA for a while and traveled to Zimbabwe to fight as a mercenary in the Zululand civil war (Vito left a sort of kinship to the Zimbabwean peasants, who are some of the most successful bean farmers in the world). In 1992, Vito was called back into service in the U.S. as Al Gore's personal bodyguard.

All of Vito's best traits can be seen in The Lawrenceian photo, taken on October 27. Vito is, at all times, calm and cool, dressed in a conservative suit that says "I may be a Democrat, but that doesn't mean I have to dress like a silly liberal." Vito continuously blends into whatever environment he is in, increasing his ability to remain unseen during official functions. Vito Papercini, a man with an incredible ability to kill with only collectable spoons.
Masturbation

Continued from Page 1

beneath the surface of the mighty Fox River. The third offense crosses the fine line into grossness. The deviant is forced to oil up (still naked, of course) by rubbing Downer food on his or herself and play Twister with the dean of their choice. The fourth absence warrants the imposition of sexually explicit paper cuts. Physical pain does not even stand up to the mental anguish of the most severe action. Although it may be considered tendentious and participation, the offender will be subjected to the perpetual overload in his or her schedule of Freshman Studies.

When asked about the severity of the punishments, student Hugh G. Reaction expressed his concern with the fourth punishment saying that it was "quantitatively and proportionally biased." Another student, Albert Coholic, worried that the 11:10 convocation time was much too early and argued that Tuesdays and Thursdays should be isolated for the sole purpose of studying and quiet recovery. Lastly, a student on the board expressed his concern with the fourth punishment saying that it was too harsh a punishment for plagiarism. The Honor Council was relieved that the no-handed punishment was taken verbatim from the Cliffe notes. The entirety of her paper was plagiarized from pages 40 through 50 of the Cliffe Notes study manual.

Kleer brought his discovery to the Honor Council, with the hopes that the council would be able to effectively discipline Shandalier. The council found her guilty on all charges of plagiarism.

Kristal Shandalier's reputation was shattered by the verdict. Many of her former friends and classmates expressed disappointment in Shandalier. The council found her guilty on all charges of plagiarism.

Masturbation

Continued from Page 1

Shandalier was put to death by firing squad on Tuesday, March 30. When asked for a statement in her defense, Shandalier only uttered "The horror, the horror!"

"Most schools would have opted for a hanging or lethal injection when dealing with these types of executions," says another member of the Honor Council. "But we felt that gunfire was the only effective method."

Chalk another one up to the Lawrence Difference.
HI ART AT LO ART PRICES!

Whine and Cheese!
Numero Unosius

Andrew Perry Robbins
AKEM!
GREETINGS, STRANGER!
WE HAVE QUITE A BIT
TO DISCUSS.....
I DON'T MEAN TO SOUND
RUDE

But I'd like to convince you to kill yourself
this afternoon.
I M S P R I N G

WHAT MAKES YOU THINK THAT LIFE IS WORTH LIVING ??!!!??

VALUE IS A MAN-MADE ENTITY! IT DOESN'T REALLY EXIST!

You don't believe it? Look at what people are willing to pay for an original Keith Haring painting!

Also did not have as many HARD CORE FOLLOWERS.

I won't wait around for four pan to turn me into a boy.

And you stop waiting for the Good Lord to grant you everlasting life, really.

It's a pretty selfish rationalization in the first place!

As if you deserve everlasting life any more than the 40 - 70 years you're working on right now!

And there seem to be only a couple of differences between the Bible and a Disney flick.

The story of Christ is a fairy tale... Hmm!

First...

While...

...The brothers Grimm left out who the turtle was sleeping with, at the time.

AND SECOND

SO, NO AFTERLIFE, NOW WHAT HAVE YOU GOT TO LOOK FORWARD TO? SITUATION COMEDY?

Or perhaps you're egotistical enough to think that you're different. You're special.

Sorry, but I sort of doubt it; sniff.

Chances are you could be replaced by any of five thousandorrhces in your set.
NEED I MENTION THE RIDICULOUS AMOUNT OF PEOPLE WHO HAVE BEEN EXACTLY LIKE YOU OVER THE COURSE OF HISTORY?

THINK ABOUT YOUR GRANDPARENTS. NOW NAME SIX OF THEIR PALS... I NOW NAME ANY OF YOUR GREAT GRANDPARENTS, OR PERHAPS SIX OF THEIR FRIENDS: NOW NAME SIX CELEBRITIES FROM THE 1930'S.

WHAT IS IT THESE PEOPLE DID THAT IS WORTH REMEMBERING?

WHY IS IT WORTH REMEMBERING?

Perhaps you do things for yourself. After all, you are selfish enough to believe that you've earned eternal paradise.

AHEM, this is sort of a touchy question, but...

...AHEM...

You think I could have your stereo?

AFTER YOU ARE DEAD, THESE THINGS WON'T MATTER ANY MORE, NO ONE WILL CARE. SO WHY DO THEY AT ALL? WHY WALT TO DIE? WHY NOT JUST DIE RIGHT NOW?

IS IT POSSIBLE THAT OFFERING YOURSELF IS SO MUCH TROUBLE? WHAT A quick hop into traffic?

ARE YOU SERIOUS? THE WORK THAT YOU DO IN A YEAR OR A MONTH OR A WEEK IS LESS TROUBLE THAN A QUICK HOP INTO TRAFFIC?

I know you'd see it my way.

OHHHH, GOD!

It's so TRUE!

Life is so MEANINGLESS!
From now on I'm not going to care about anything at all!

Life is glamorous.

Maybe yours is! Hah!

Hem hem hem.

So anyways, then we took the rest of the Milk and poured it in his gas tank!

I hate my house!

You're not gonna believe what my parents did today!

God, my parents...

Wait, I'm not finished so the light changes and I get to the pancake house and the cars are in the parking lot! And they've been waiting for a parking spot to open up as I pull in this other dude backs out of his space and I take it before the cops do.

Once we get inside, the cops have to wait ten extra minutes for a smoking booth to open up!

Oh, then finally when I leave I notice the two cops have parked in a handicap parking space! Probably just so they can beat me in.

Gosh! Were you guys those the time we were hanging around in Donut donuts with this ferret, and it was drinking all the non-dairy creamer, and all of a sudden this guy walks in and yells "What happened to all the non-dairy creamer?"

Yeah! And they were.

Goin' like 75 in a 45. I caught up to em at a traffic light. I sorta smiled at 'em, right? Just to acknowledge the fact that no matter how fast they had been driving, we still had to wait at the same light. So anyways, they notice I'm cocking 'em and they flip on their lights and peel off.
JEEZ! Calm down. What's a matter?
Nobody listens to me. We need to get out.

Let's talk. Like raising your hand?
Sorry, but don't blame me. Just because you don't speak up.
I never have to raise my hand.

Hey, is there a problem over there, kids?

Those are the same pigs I was talking about. What kind of justice is this???

We get bored by the policy. For actions—sensitive in a parking lot, ma'am?
A S H O L E S

S E N S I T I V E?

S E N S I T I V E?

ASSHOLES?

I N E V E R GET A CHANCE TO TALK!
EVERY TIME I START TO SAY SOMEBODY CUT
ME OFF!

Y E S ! A S S H O L E S !
NOW GET IN THE CAR YOU A S S H O L E S !

Y E S , Y O U D O !
IT ALWAYS HAPPENS
WITH GUYS! I'M PRETTY SURE IT
HAS SOMETHING TO DO WITH YOUR...

I N W I S S E N G U Y S , I'M GETTING SICK OF DRIVING.....
LET'S FIGURE OUT
SOMETHING TO DO.

W E L L , A S L O N G
AS THE POLICE WANT
LET US HANG AROUND
PEACEFULLY, I SAY
WE GO OUT AND GET WASTED!!!

Y E A H !
...AND
F R E N C H A N T

H A R H A H A
H A H A H A
H A R H A
So whatever life isn’t our life is a garbage life?

I didn’t say that.

What did you say then?

Har Har Har Har

If she doesn’t see it now, she’s just going to turn out to be naive. People are going to take advantage of her.

It’ll be your fault.

Har

Because I wouldn’t let her watch television?

I want you to turn off this garbage! I don’t want it in this house.

I don’t want your sister to see it.

Give her a better credit; she’s responsible for her own actions.
She was exhausted

I dunno...

Watching television in an interactive manner improves my condition! I can use the same process even while watching a tennis match, or going to church!

He said.

So you think that bad situations provoke positive thoughts, huh?

Exactly!

Hmmm...

Fine, then you can start going to church instead of watching television! Ha ha!

I think that when I see people doing things that I disagree with, it forces me to decide why I disagree. Got it?

I just think that... y’wanna know what I think.

I’m kidding! She is too young to be watching this, but I’m not I am selective about what I absorb from TV. I don’t allow it to desensitize me!

What?

As you think that bad situations provoke positive thoughts, huh?
NO CABLE T.V.!
I SAID IT BEFORE,
I'LL SAY IT AGAIN,
I DON'T WANT THAT GARbage IN THIS HOUSE.

GARBAGE STINKS, AND THAT'S WHY
WE KEEP IT OUTSIDE!

OK "MR SELECTIVE."
I CERTAINLY DIDN'T TEACH
YOU THAT WORD!

WELL, I'M SURE THE GOOD LORD WOULD BE PROUD TO HEAR YOU USING THAT WORD!

NEVER MIND!

HE! I FORGOT TO ASK EARLIER, CAN
I HAVE YOUR TV
SET TOO?

GARBAGE IS GOOD FOR YOU!

I'LL BET!

YEAH!
WHATEVER!
April Fool's!

Pet Rocks

Rob Korthell

AHEM

I KNOW THIS MAY BE A TOUCHY
SUBJECT
BUT
I'D LIKE TO CONVINCE
YOU TO LOSE YOUR HAIR!

WHAT LAURENTIAN CARTOONIST OR REGULAR ADVERTISING CLIENT.

HONEST, ROX-93

a Lawrentian Insider

L.U. Prof reveals:

"HAIR DYE WAS AN IMPORTANT PART OF MY YOUTH"

Pressed for answers about the Sex Pistols, a distinguished member of the Lawrence faculty tells all.

Continued on page 13

by Jeff Ekel

Sam Anderson to Green Eggs and Ham...

WONDERING IF SHE STILL HAS THAT SAM

AVERSIS.

DOIN'-THINGS

CAUTION:

HANG-UP! HANG-UP!

CAP'N TEETH
A BUNCH MORE...
AND FINDING A HIDEOUT
FOR HIM IS TOUGH

OVER SPRING BREAK THE DONUT
GREEN SHOE MORE AND ARE MORE...

THE MIRACLE

ENTER:
Contractor Squirrel

Build Build Build

WHO CAN STOP THEM
NOW?!